From the Editor's Keyboard

By Beverly Browne, Managing Editor

February is a dreary month and most people need a pick-me-up. The bright spot is Valentine's Day, so this month the Voice is devoted to the chubby little cherub with the wings and the bow and arrow. We consider the topic of love in its several forms.

One form of love is romantic love. Sometimes it comes on like a ton of bricks, so called "love at first sight." Reports about the phenomenon are generally consistent with the following: "I loved him at first sight. And the very first time in my life I ever felt passionately was the moment I saw him. It was a feeling so loving, so tender, so wild, so overwhelming and breath-taking, and all-involving, a feeling I did not know before." William Shakespeare said, "Whoever loves, loves at first sight," in Twelfth Night.

However, detractors say that instant reactions to a person simply falling prey to the "attractiveness halo," is an assumption that what is beautiful is also good. Doubters stress the importance of getting to know the person to whom one is attracted. For real love to exist they state, one must know about the person's character. Is he or she kind, honest, smart, reliable, and so on? Without that, they say, love will not last. After reading the accounts of first meetings and reflecting on your past, you may have your own thoughts on this topic

There are other kinds of love. One can love things as well as people. We have included an article about love of cars, in this case a Porsche. There are those among you who may share that passion. People also are enamored of activities, such as reading. The article on little libraries may strike a cord with you. Of course, our regular contributors in the arts and those associated with maritime and other pursuits express love too, as do those who focus on improving our community. They love their causes sufficiently to spend time, effort, and sometimes money to ensure that the cause is carried forward. It is hard to deny the inclusion of these passions under the heading of love.

As always, we hope you enjoy this issue of the Voice and that it makes a dreary February brighter.

The comments in this article reflect the opinions of the author. Comments may be sent to the editor at bbrowne@plvoice.org. They will be posted on the Port Ludlow Voice website.

First Meetings, Long Relationships

Compiled by Beverly Browne, Managing Editor

Is there love at first sight? Some authorities say there is. Others are doubters. The Voice looked at some first meetings. You may make up your mind if they qualify for thunder-struck, head over heels love.

"I was with a friend cruising in the Caribbean. We were drinking piña coladas on the deck, looking at the sunset in St. Thomas. She said, 'I know a guy who has a house here; he would be great for you.' To which I replied, 'I don't do blind dates.' Two years later she invited me to a party, Bill was there; we didn't click. Enter another year and another party, this time a BBQ. I made baked beans with Italian sausage for the event and placed a crock pot gently in my car. The first time I drove around a corner, the baked beans went flying, all over the car. I tried to beg off, but my friend convinced me to change my mind, so I remade the darn beans. Bill was the only guy at the party whom I had met before. A few more piña coladas, and the rest is history."

"I met my future husband in the college student union in 1965 after mentioning to a new friend that he caught my eye, and I found him very good-looking. The friend arranged an introduction. We met properly, archaic though it may seem. He asked me out later that day, on a double date to the "Whiskey a Go-Go" Discotheque in San Francisco, when it was open to minors on Sunday nights. The following Sunday, we drove to San Francisco with another couple. The Go-Go dancers danced in suspended cages, and the bar was open to those of legal age. All four of us were impressed when we saw Clint Eastwood sitting at the bar, flirting with a cute Asian Go-Go dancer who was standing nearby. Fast forward to 2017 – we will celebrate our fiftieth wedding anniversary in four months."

"I was blackmailed. Returning to Seattle from overseas, I phoned an old boyfriend who invited me to a New Year's party. The catch was I had to go with a blind date. My blind date and I had dinner with another couple at his apartment (big 1960s steaks), and I learned he was going to climb Mount Baker on snow shoes early the next morning with another girl. After dinner, we collected Christmas trees from behind the frat houses at U.W. We went to the party on snowshoes (rented for the climb), dragging the Christmas trees. The party was great and lasted until 3:00 a.m., but snowshoes and high heeled shoes don't work together very well. We have been married 53 years."

“Bob and I met at Fort Hood, Texas, by way of Iowa and Nebraska. In June of 1962, my sister and I drove from Iowa to Fort Hood where her husband was stationed. Bob and my brother-in-law were in the same Army unit, and that’s how this girl from Iowa met that guy from Nebraska.”

“Ken, a transfer from San Francisco, and I met at work in Wilmington, CA. We worked at a shipping agency which handled all aspects of foreign lines while they were in US ports. He thought I wore funny-looking glasses and said so all the time. He was a bachelor, never around kids, ten years older than me; I was 25 and newly divorced with three kids under six. We occasionally had “liquid lunches” together when we worked Saturdays. No one guessed we were seeing each other until we came back from Las Vegas newly married. They said it’d never last. We were married 40 years, until he died.”

“I was working in L.A. for Rose Marie Reid as a swimsuit stylist. Part of my job was to travel the country to stores selling the line, to do “in-store” trainings with staff and customers. When I got to Little Rock, AK, there was the salesman Mason Rothenborg waiting to take me to the stores. We hit it off and were married for 58 years!”

A Driving Love Story

by Glen Alberts, Contributing Writer

Traffic was snarled. Car horns were blaring. It didn’t take long for the police to arrive—and I was right in the thick of it. In fact, I was the cause of it. My new love and I stuck in the middle of a busy intersection.

Two days earlier with my new wife, I had my eye out for a new love. I looked at a wide range of candidates, but I couldn’t find just the right one. I had all but decided to give up my search when destiny intervened. I was in Seattle doing some shopping when I happened to spot the perfect candidate for making me feel as giddy as a teenager. Beautiful can’t begin to describe the object of my desire. The smooth curves, the agility of a gazelle, yet the power of a panther—it was all there in one perfect package. It was love at first sight.

Some things are just meant to be. It turned out that the Porsche Boxster that had captured my heart had just been traded in for an SUV. After doing a lot of research, including an extended test drive, carefully reviewing the CarFax, and poring over the car’s meticulous service history, I made an offer. To my surprise, it was accepted, with haggling of course. Two days later, I picked up the car and was driving home when I found myself stuck in the middle of the intersection with the steering wheel locked and the car as dead as a doornail. What had I done? Had I fallen in love with the wrong car?

In what can only be described as miraculous, the salesman who sold me the car arrived within minutes after I called him. His first guess (battery failure) was not the case. I needed to turn the ignition key all the way to the left and then re-start the car. I felt like such an idiot. Even the policeman who was directing traffic around me couldn’t help but chuckle. I didn’t care. I was in love.

As I was driving home, all of my worries melted away. In the beginning, you think, “I can’t believe I’m doing this, and maybe this isn’t such a good idea.” But with every mile came a feeling of euphoria, and I started to let go and trust that I had made the right decision.

How long will this feeling last until I’m once again brought down to earth? I don’t know. But as the legendary King Arthur tells the young boy at the end of Lerner and Loewe’s Camelot,

“Don’t let it be forgot
That once there was a spot
For one brief shining moment that was known As Camelot.”

Ken’s Gardening Corner

by Ken Taylor, Contributing writer, photographer

In a month, spring arrives and it is time to compile that list of to-dos. Foremost on our list is prepping the beds. Till one-fourth inch of compost into the top 6 inches of the soil of vegetable and flower beds. Rake up the last of the winter leaf piles and cut down any of the remaining perennial stems, taking care not to cut any emerging shoots.

Clip ornamental grasses before new stems appear. Here is a handy tip when cutting large clumps of grasses. Bind stems together using a bungee cord, then cut below the cord using an electric or gas powered hedge trimmer. No mess, no fuss. Late winter offers that window of opportunity to prune roses, fruit trees, and shrubs as well.

Spray ornamental plants with dormant spray before they begin to leaf out. This is probably the most important spray of the year to control insect problems. Many diseases and insects (or their eggs) winterover on plants or in leaf litter in beds. Spraying while plants are dormant allows use of a stronger blend of lime-sulfur and horticultural oil, which will kill eggs, insects, and disease spores. Follow label instructions carefully. In general, spray on a warm day (above 40 degrees F) with no precipitation

or freezing temperatures predicted for eight hours after application. Apply horticultural oil and lime-sulfur in separate sprays, spaced at least two weeks apart.

Begin planting annuals (calendula, poppies, pansies, and English daisies) from seed. If you want to plant bare-root fruit trees, shrubs, roses, berries, and grapes, it is better to wait until air and soil temperatures are above freezing. And finally, start seeds indoors for cool-season edibles, such as Brussels sprouts, broccoli, lettuces, and onions. Use fluorescent lights to improve seedling growth. Provide as much light as possible, keeping grow lights just an inch or two above the plants. They need gentle, constant moisture but not too much, or they'll get damping-off disease. Running a fan in the room helps. Plant veggie seeds three to six weeks before moving them into the garden. Be healthy, and happy gardening.

Little Free Libraries

by Mary Jane McCulloch, Contributing Writer

In this modern era of incessant reading on Kindles and iPads, an interesting grass roots phenomenon has sprung up. It's the Little Free Library movement. It was started in 2009 by a man in Wisconsin as a tribute to his mother's love of books and has spread worldwide.

Here's how it works. Build (or buy) a little book box and mount it on a sturdy post. Put up a sign announcing "Little Free Library - Take a Book, Leave a Book," Throw in a few books and you're done. Now sit back and see what happens. Books magically disappear and others appear to take their place.

You can get really fancy and make accoutrements for your little free library such as a hook for a dog leash or a separate space for a seed and recipe exchange. You can also be very creative with your book box, and make it in the shape of a schoolhouse like the original one, a castle, a Victorian house, a cottage, or whatever you like.

The Little Free Library Movement is now a non-profit organization that supports the worldwide movement that promotes literacy and community by offering free books housed in small containers to members of the local neighborhood. There are over 50,000 Little Free Libraries in existence today and those are just the ones officially registered. Seattle has over 300, Bainbridge Island over 100, and there are ones in Paradise Bay, Port Hadlock, Port Townsend, and even Port Ludlow. And, actually, even though it's indoors and bigger in size, the library at the Bay Club captures the same spirit.

I ran into my first one in Sacramento in 2010 and just recently bumped into another in a neighborhood near San Diego. That's one of the best things about Little Free Libraries – how delightfully unexpected they are. Check out the website littlefreelibraries.org and don't be surprised if you run into one on your rambles soon.

Prune Wisteria to Encourage Blooming

by Eline Lybarger, Guest Writer

We all love them for their lace-like leaves and hanging clusters of blue, white or pink spring blossoms. They are hardy, woody vines that can be grown as vines, trees, shrubs, or even ground cover on a bank, depending on how they are pruned. Purchase grafted plants because seedlings can take more than three years to bloom. Wisteria does not need rich soil, but it does need to be well drained with a moderate amount of sunlight. In fact, if your plant is not blooming, try withholding fertilizer, particularly nitrogen, for one full year.

Pruning is important for shape and blooming. Prune at least twice a year: Once in the winter, January and February, and once after it has bloomed, July or August. Prune too much and you will have long tendrils that don't bloom. Do not prune more than 25 percent of the plant in any one season. No pruning results in suckers taking over.

Decide if you want single or multiple trunks, then remove stems that interfere with the framework. For single trunk plants remove buds from the trunk. For multiple trunk plants select two to five of the strongest stems that are not crossing. If you have a single trunk and want a multiple trunk plant, nip the end of the single tendril.

After a few years, you may need to remove sections of the old framework that has become too crowded. Winter is best for this pruning because you can see the shape. In the summer try tying tendrils to expand the framework. Of course, if your shape is established, tendrils can be cut back part way or all the way to the trunk. Now get out and prune.

Timber Practices Agreement between PLA and County Reached

The following statement was received from the County regarding the results of the mediation between the County and Port Ludlow Associates.

Jefferson County has negotiated a Settlement Agreement with Port Ludlow Associates (PLA) resolving a dispute over PLA's timber harvests in 2015, and providing clarity for future timber harvests by PLA within the Port Ludlow Master Planned Resort (MPR) for the duration of its existing development agreement with the County. The Jefferson County Board of Commissioners approved the Settlement Agreement during their regular meeting on Monday, December 19, 2016. Diana Smeland, PLA's President, also has signed the Settlement.

Some key provisions of the Settlement include:

- Protections against future timber harvests within all 368 acres of designated Open Space Reserve.
- Requirement that harvests within 442 acres of other undeveloped lands owned by PLA be limited to conversion for development, golf course expansion, or other limited purposes.
- Within 277 acres of land that is already developed or approved for subdivision, future tree cutting is allowed for development, improvements, maintenance/operations, but not commercial forestry.
- Maintenance of timber by PLA is allowed within 50 feet of the active portions of the golf course on neighboring PLA parcels consistent with past golf course maintenance practices.
- PLA will give the County 30 days' advance notice prior to any large harvests, as defined in the Settlement. If the County believes a timber cut by PLA is not consistent with the Settlement Agreement and the County notifies PLA, the cutting must stop immediately. Cutting would not resume unless mutually agreed by the County and PLA, or until ordered by binding arbitration or court order.

The timber dispute arose out of differing interpretations of how the Development Agreement and state law applied to two timber harvests by PLA within the Master Planned Resort in early 2015.

With the Settlement, both parties have compromised to now agree on rules governing future timber management activities under the Development Agreement. In recognition of resolving the conflict, the County has withdrawn an enforcement letter that the County had issued on May 7, 2015.

For its part, PLA has offered its willingness to consult with any property owner adjoining the 2015 harvests who has concerns about impacts from that harvest, and PLA will consider whether it will offer any voluntary actions in response to those concerns.

To reach the Settlement Agreement, PLA and the County participated in mediation, led by mediator Phyllis Macleod, on January 27 and May 20, 2016, followed by extensive further negotiation. The County was assisted in the negotiations by land use attorney Patrick Schneider of Foster Pepper PLLC in Seattle, and PLA was assisted by Marco de Sa e Silva of Davis Wright Tremaine LLP, also of Seattle. Port Ludlow resident Bill Dean observed both mediation sessions on behalf of the Port Ludlow Village Council. Together with Dave Jurca of South Bay Community Association and Dave McDermid of Ludlow Maintenance Commission, the three residents provided ongoing community input to the County over the past year.

The Settlement Agreement is intended to resolve all disagreements of the parties regarding the 2015 Timber Harvests and to address the manner in which PLA may cut trees within the MPR during the term of its Development Agreement with the County.

Board of County Commissioners Chair Kathleen Kler stated, "after more than a year and a half of effort, the County is thankful that this issue has been mutually settled. We are pleased that both parties have come to an agreement about what kind of timber management PLA may undertake in Port Ludlow during the remaining years of our Development Agreement."

Port Ludlow Village Council president, Bill Dean added that the challenge to the community now is to make sure the agreement is followed.

Timber Harvest Committee Responds to Final Agreement

In early January, the members of the timber harvest committee, Bill Dean, Dave Jurca, and Dave McDermid, sent a response to the County regarding the final agreement on Timber Harvesting in the MPR (Master Planned Resort). In it, they thanked the County Commissioners and Administrator Morley for their efforts to arrive at a negotiated settlement and their willingness to listen to inputs, recommendations, and concerns regarding timber

harvesting within the MPR. The following is an excerpt of comments.

They said, “It is the nature of negotiated settlements that both parties feel they have made concessions, and that the resulting agreement is a compromise; not entirely what either party wanted. We certainly view it as such, noting that while some of our recommendations were implemented, others were not, and some issues are not addressed.” The recommendation of the committee was that the County and Port Ludlow Associates meet with the community at their earliest convenience to discuss the agreement and address remaining concerns.

The committee feels that the agreement addresses the overarching concern that there be appropriate restrictions on future timber harvesting within the MPR. They noted that the spirit of the agreement eliminates commercial tree harvesting in the MPR for the sake of profit, and provides protections of the Open Space Reserves (OSR) and non-OSR parcels while allowing responsible cutting in support of the completion of the MPR’s development.

Dean went on to say that the County has assumed a burden of reviews under the agreement. Due to the sensitivities surrounding the issue, community watchfulness is expected. The members express hope that the termination of mediation would be the start of a much-needed healing within the community.

Trails Committee Needs Stewards

by Beth Ely, Trails Committee

Being a trail steward is an opportunity for hikers, walkers, and strollers. If you are already enjoying Port Ludlow’s beautiful trails system, or if you would like to begin enjoying it, how about joining our great group of trail stewards?

Port Ludlow has nearly 25 miles of trails ranging from easy strolls around the bay to more challenging forested trails. These trails were created by a group of hardy souls who make up the Trails Committee. After the design and building of a trail, the ongoing job is maintenance and repairs. We enlist the help of the folks who use the trails to do this.

The entire system is divided into much smaller units with a steward assigned to each trail. The steward’s responsibility is simply to walk their assigned section occasionally and report maintenance problems such as downed trees, overgrowth, or drainage issues to the trails committee. And, if a steward were to clip back errant ferns or blackberries that would earn “brownie points.”

Chimacum School Levy Ballots Due

Chimacum School District asks voters to approve the replacement maintenance and operations levy on the February 14 ballot. According to Superintendent Rick Thompson, the levy will preserve jobs, provide learning tools, and preserve the physical status of the school. The Chimacum School Board estimates that the levy will cost voters $1.82 per $1,000 of assessed value in 2018. It will rise to $2.08 by the fourth year. It represents 22 percent of the district’s funding.

Levies require 50 percent voter approval for passage. Historically they have been well supported in Jefferson County. All ballots must be physically returned by 8:00 p.m. or postmarked by February 14 if mailed.

Port Ludlow Yacht Club Launches New Year

by Elizabeth Healy, PLYC Communications Assistant

The Port Ludlow Yacht Club (PLYC) celebrates its 45th anniversary this year.

We’ve just ended 2016 with our Change of Watch gala evening where new officers were installed for the coming year, and several members were honored for their outstanding service to the club and community. Our Commodore for 2017, Anne Burrell-Smith, looks forward to another exciting year full of fun events and adventurous club cruises.

PLYC is known for being a cruising club. Each year we organize at least eight cruises traveling by sail or power to destinations around the Salish Sea. We’re also known for being a terrific social club with our Wreck Room located adjacent to the marina, open Wednesday and Saturday evenings year-round.

PLYC, through its Women’s Group, has been a generous contributor to local schools and charities since its inception in 2006. Through annual fund-raising events, the group has contributed over $25,000 in cash or in-kind to local organizations serving women, children, and families.

PLYC loves to welcome new members with or without boats. If you’d like to learn more about a great cruising and socializing club, please email Commodore Anne Burrell-Smith at commodore360@plyc.us or visit our website at plyc.us.

Jefferson County Environmental Health has announced that Port Ludlow Dentistry qualified for the EnviroStars program, coming in at the 4-star level. They join Port Ludlow Marina, both an EnviroStar and a Clean Marina Washington.

Dr. Stephen Porter, D.M.D., and his staff at Port Ludlow Dentistry have successfully developed systems to make their office at 9522 Oak Bay Road a clean and green business. Dr. Porter and his staff use state-of-the-art dentistry in a friendly and caring environment. To qualify at the 4-Star level, they needed to have a number of systems in place to effectively manage hazardous waste. They recapture and recycle mercury in office wastewater through the use of an amalgam separator. The practice also uses a cutting edge fixer recovery system to prevent hazardous metals from reaching Port Ludlow Bay.

In their commitment to use environmentally friendly products, the practice changed a number of products as part of their EnviroStar certification. They now use a steam cleaner for their floors with a microfiber mop head to remove fine particles. It is cleanable and reusable, uses no soaps, and produces spotless, sanitary floors. Other measures include steam autoclave (instead of a system that requires chemicals) and employee task sheets for handling amalgam waste, recycling x-ray waste, vacuum trap replacement, and proper disposal of fluorescent light bulbs that contain mercury.

Jefferson County Environmental Health has been part of the EnviroStars Cooperative for 15 years. EnviroStars provides assistance and incentives for smaller businesses to reduce hazardous materials and waste in order to protect public health, municipal systems, and the environment. It provides support for businesses in exemplary hazardous waste management and dedication to environmental stewardship.

Alert: Housebreakers in Ludlow

Residents in Port Ludlow should take special precautions to secure their property. There have been some recent attempts at breaking and entering. In late December, one attempt was reported in the Teal Lake Village neighborhood. The residents said that during the night or early morning someone very professionally cut a hole in the roof of a Volkswagon convertible parked in the driveway, ostensibly to try to get a garage door opener. Fortunately, something startled them so they did not get into the garage. The Sheriff's Department was alerted and promptly responded to the call.

Gammill Family Foundation Provides Grant to PLFR

Port Ludlow Fire & Rescue (PLFR) received a check for $10,000 from Shawna Gammill Matthews and her family’s foundation just before Christmas. This is the seventh year the Gammill Family Foundation has gifted the fire department with a generous donation, according to Fire Chief Brad Martin.

Past donations have provided funds for the purchase of updated portable radios, hydrant markers, smoke detectors, and a video-equipped laryngoscope, a tool used to place a breathing tube in a patient. The donations have also assisted in funding the “File of Life” hand-outs for community members, programs to include the Community Emergency Response Training (C.E.R.T.), a disaster preparedness course for local citizens, and the purchase of a highly technical heart monitor.

The Gammill Family Foundation donations have all been deposited in the fire district’s own foundation fund and used to purchase items that benefit services the district provides to the community and maintain the safety of the first responders.

Ms. Matthews father, Kennoth Gammill, created the first long-arm quilting machine in the late 1970s. “The family are strong believers in giving back to the community,” Matthews said. A longtime resident of Port Ludlow, Matthews said the services provided by Port Ludlow Fire are vitally important to the entire community.

“The Gammill Family’s Foundation has provided the necessary funds to get needed equipment much sooner than we otherwise could have without their help,” Martin said. “We are most grateful for their generosity.”

Port Ludlow Fire & Rescue’s foundation is an IRS Code 501(c)(3) tax deductible organization and anyone interested can make donations to “Port Ludlow Fire Foundation.” Drop them off or mail them to our main fire station located at 7650 Oak Bay Rd., Port Ludlow WA 98365.

IPads for Chimacum Schools Special Ed

by Tom Belding, Guest Writer

Kim Pratt and Sarah McNulty receive grant from PLDL for iPads for their Special Ed program at Chimacum School.

Since 2009 the Port Ludlow DigitalLife (PLDL) computer user group, as a community service, has provided an annual cash grant to Chimacum School. This year's grant of $1,000 was used to purchase two full-size iPads and a mini iPad for use by Special Ed students in the classroom. These are in addition to 15 plus iPads purchased using previous years' grants. Students using these devices, loaded with software specially designed for Special Ed classrooms, have had significant opportunities to learn skills that would have been impossible without them.

Chimacum School District's Occupational Therapist Sarah McNulty and Speech Language Pathologist Kim Pratt, along with several of their students, attended last year's PLDL Christmas social and demonstrated some of the great examples of what has been accomplished using these devices. It was amazing and moving to see the positive impact on the students and their parents, not to mention on Sarah and Kim. As they pointed out, the ongoing educational benefit will continue for the kids who have benefited in past years as well as those who will benefit in years to come. The grant funds come from member dues and contributions from the community.

The PLDL, in another aspect of its community service, provides refurbished PCs to all the new Habitat for Humanity homes in the area when they are delivered to their new owners. This is accomplished completely with donated PCs and volunteer refurbishing time.

PLDL continues providing activities for people who are interested in staying abreast of developments that affect the usage of their computers, cameras, editing software, phones, or any other kind of digital device you can think of. For more schedule information, see our website, pldigitallife.org.

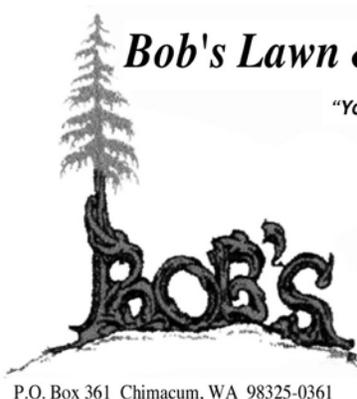

New Book Club Celebrates Southern Writers

The Front Porch Book Club is looking for adult readers who want to celebrate the works of southern writers, traditional and contemporary. What better place to start than with Miss Harper Lee's classic To Kill a Mockingbird?

Maybe you haven't read it in a while or ever, but let's kick off The Front Porch Book Club with a visit to Maycomb County, Alabama, and see what happened with Atticus, Boo, and Scout. A little secret: this new club's moderator was born and raised about 25 miles from Harper Lee's home town and final resting place, Monroeville, Alabama.

Jefferson County Library in Port Hadlock has provided a book club kit for this book. We will hand out copies to library patrons at the first organizing meeting which will be on Thursday, February 2, 6:30 p.m. (Ground Hog Day). Meet in the small conference room at the Jefferson County Library. Please, send an email of interest now to the moderator at mhundley500@gmail.com to get on the club email list for updates and information.

The first meeting will be a meet and greet focused on setting ground rules and a time and place for meeting. We will also talk about selecting future books and provide an overview of Southern authors. Jefferson County Library will distribute reserved copies of To Kill a Mocking Bird.

March Dine & Discover

by Steve Frenzl

Join us Monday, March 6, at the Bay Club to see a person who has shot literally hundreds of people... and still isn't in jail. In fact, he's so good that he's won national awards!

Presidents Johnson and Nixon.

His targets include the likes of Dwight Eisenhower, Muhammad Ali, Truman Capote, Louis Armstrong, Robin Williams, Richard Nixon, LBJ, Jimmy Carter, Bill Clinton, Barack Obama, the Apollo 11 astronauts Gale Sayers and John Glenn, Evel Knievel, The Beatles, and many more. That's not to mention shooting the 1960s Chicago Riots and Summer of Love, plus an assortment of Port Ludlow denizens including cute critters.

Just who is this guy? You'll be relieved to learn that our March presenter shoots with a camera...and his name is Gary Settle, a Port Ludlow resident since 2004.

Gary grew up in Kansas, starting in high school with photos of jalopy races for his hometown newspaper. Fifteen years later – after studying architecture and journalism at University of Kansas, and Kansas State University, he joined The Chicago Daily News where he was named the national Newspaper Photographer of the Year by the National Press Photographers Association.

Gary became The New York Times first national staff photographer assigned to its Chicago office. His camera captured life and times in thirty states, and his photojournalism skills earned him Newspaper Photographer of the Year for a second time! Gary's career concluded after twenty years with the Seattle Times, where he served as Assistant Managing Editor/Graphics and as Photography Coach. However, you'll still see him "working" in Port Ludlow as the official photographer for Port Ludlow Performing Arts and other events.

At Dine & Discover, Gary will show many of his photographs that have documented slices of American history. He'll share anecdotes and thoughts behind making good photographs. You definitely won't want to miss this opportunity to enjoy time with "one of our own" and his extraordinary picture stories.

Make your reservations at the Bay Club starting Tuesday, February 7. Sign up to bring an appetizer, entrée, salad, or dessert for ten people. If possible, please prepare a card that notes the ingredients in your dish for the benefit of people with food allergies. And remember to bring your table settings of dishes, glasses, utensils, and favorite beverages. $2 per person will be collected at the door. Doors open at 5:30 p.m.

Questions? Call Milt Lum at 360-437-5143 or Don Folsom at 360-437-9251.

Stamping and Paper Arts

Would you like to learn how to add just the right touch to your handmade cards and other art pieces? Join us on Wednesday, February 15, at the Bay Club from 10:00 a.m. to noon to see how it's done.

Jeanne Mitchell will inspire us with another of her presentations on finishing touches, this one being: "Everything Washi." Washi tape can be used for borders, designs, or covering other shapes. Those attending are encouraged to bring in any pieces they feel might be enhanced by something of which they are not yet aware; perhaps Washi tape is the answer. Jeanne will be showing different techniques for using the tape and then you get to play at making your own creations. There will be Washi tape available, so just bring your basic stamping supplies, plus cardstock and any other paper you might want to use as a background or highlighting in designing and creating your own masterpiece.

As always, there will be a Show ‘n Tell segment to share all those newly received handmade cards and paper art items. There will also be time to look at members’ stamps and other supplies they may wish to donate or sell at a reduced price.

The Big Shot and Die Cut machine meeting will be held on Wednesday, February 22, at the Port Ludlow Fire Hall from 10:00 a.m. to noon. Everyone interested in this creative, fun, and friendly activity are welcome to join.

Martha’s Book Club

Join us at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 14, at the Bay Club to discuss A Thread of Grace by Mary Doria Russell, an extraordinary and complex historical novel that chronicles the Italian resistance to the Germans during the last two years of World War II.

A little-known story of a group of Italian citizens that sheltered more than 40,000 Jews from grueling work camp executions, the rich fictional narrative is woven through the factual military maneuvers and political games. Rather than the bleak and hopeless feeling that might be expected, the novel has the opposite effect; it reminds us that just as there will always be war, crime, and death, so too will there be good people who selflessly sacrifice themselves to ease the suffering of others.

The action moves swiftly, with impressive authority, jostling dialogue, vibrant personalities, and meticulous, unexpected historical detail. The intensity and intimacy of Russell’s storytelling, her sharp character writing, and fierce sense of humor bring fresh immediacy to this riveting WWII saga.

The book selection for March is Being Mortal: Medicine and What Matters in the End by Atul Gawande. Everyone is welcome. Questions? Contact plweb@plvoice.org.

Robertson and Bermudez Perform in Duetto

by Peggy Welker, Port Ludlow Performing Arts (PLPA) Publicist

Duetto, Bernardo Bermudez and Victoria Robertson.

Provided photo.

Get your tickets without delay to see PLPA's "Duetto" on Saturday, February 25, 7:30 p.m., at the Bay Club. The lush baritone voice of Bernardo Bermudez combined with Victoria Robertson's vibrant soprano tones make for a full warm spectrum of sound demonstrating the beauty and power of the human voice. "Duetto" is a show of beautiful duets that showcases their favorite pieces of music from theater, to classical crossover, popular tunes, and opera. The show has toured California and now, due to popular demand, will tour the United States accompanied by pianist Vernon Snyder.

Victoria Robertson is a talented, multidimensional artist, with a broad repertoire of classical, musical theater, and crossover music. She has performed for several symphony orchestras, starred in over 25 operas, and has a long list of stage credits. In addition, she was awarded the title of Miss USO, San Diego in 2000 for her performance work for the U.S. Military. Her original singer/songwriter albums, On My Mind (2004), and Say New You (2007), were nominated for San Diego Music Awards "Best New Artist" (2005) and "Best Local Recording" (2007) and Los Angeles Music Awards "Best Record of the Year" (2006).

Venezuelan baritone Bernardo Bermudez started his musical education at the age of seven at The Conservatory of Music Juan Manuel Olivares in Caracas. After relocating to the United States at the age of twelve, he participated in productions of The Music Man, Oklahoma, and Beauty and the Beast. His operatic roles are numerous, and most recently he participated as a voice fellow at the prestigious Summer Festivals at The Music Academy of the West, and Opera North. His credits include winning singing and operatic competitions, receiving the Anne and Michael Towbes Scholarship in Voice in 2011, and being an Opera Buffs Grant recipient.

Dr. Vernon Snyder, a talented pianist, has an interesting and varied career in the field of music education. He currently is on faculty at Cal Poly Pomona as a lecturer in the keyboard area, and is Music Director at the Claremont School of Theology.

We are very fortunate to have this talented group participate in PLPA's outreach program. They will spend Friday before the concert coaching the Chimacum High School choir groups, concluding the day with a concert for the entire school. In addition, on Sunday, following the "Duetto" concert, they will be presenting "The Enchanted Tail," PLPA's first ever children's concert!

A generous donation from John and Beth Weaver and Michael Chamberlin, has enabled us to bring "Duetto" to Port Ludlow. Tickets may be obtained directly from the Bay Club, and are available for purchase online from the Port Ludlow Performing Arts website, portludlow-performingarts.com. Bay Club doors open at 6:15 p.m. for subscribers and benefactors to preselect seats; general admission ticket holders will be welcomed at 6:30 p.m. The concert begins at 7:30 p.m.

While sipping beverages from the no-host bar, we invite you to enjoy the photography of Rick McKenzie. Rick says, "Since I moved to the Great Northwest and developed the website Pixturyou.com, I've had one photographic adventure after the next. The love of the outdoors and photography in landscape, nature, and wildlife has evolved into a passion to share my experiences with others through my pictures." Please, join us to warm your hearts and hands during this evening of exceptional music and art.

Children's Concert Features a Princess and a Fox

by Peggy Welker, PLPA Publicist

The time has finally arrived, and just in time for all those kids who are feeling housebound from the cold! Port Ludlow Performing Art's first ever children's concert, The Enchanted Tail, will be presented on Sunday, February 26, at 3:00 p.m. at the Bay Club, 120 Spinnaker Place in Port Ludlow. Singers Victoria Robertson, Bernardo Bermudez, and pianist Vernon Snyder, have produced and will star in this delightful production.

The program will be presented in the form of a joyful musical story filled with fun and interactive songs that tell the story of a mischievous fox and an enchanted princess. Children will be encouraged to participate in this exciting adventure. There will be sing-a-longs, jokes and lively dancing to fill the stage and entertain kids and those who are kids at heart.

Highlights of the concert include a fantastic stage setting providing a backdrop for photo ops at the end of the concert with the princess and the fox and free refreshments of cookies and juice. Children are invited to attend in costumes of their favorite characters.

Sponsors for the concert include Coldwell Banker Best Homes, Crossroads Music, Whistle Stop Toys and Seams To Last. Some of the sponsors will have tables at the concert, selling items of special interest to young concertgoers.

Tickets are $10 per adult. Children under 12 will be admitted free. There is no limit on how many children can accompany each adult, but all children must have an adult chaperone and will need a "free ticket." The show will begin at 3:00 p.m. Doors will open one hour before the concert. Tickets can be purchased in person at the Bay Club or online at PortLudlowPerformingArts.com.

LVP Casts Spring Play

Ludlow Village Players is announcing the cast of Nude with Violin, by Noel Coward, to be presented at the Bay Club, April 6 - 9. Rehearsals are underway; and behind the scenes the crew is working feverishly to give you a quality production. Ticket information will be in the March issue.

Mike Derrenberger leads a cast of fourteen which includes newcomers Gary Baird, Paul Moreau, and Olivia Schmitt, and veterans Janet Christensen, Shirley Davies-Owens, Becky Eastgard, Beth Ely, Nicole Frenzl, Jim Gormly, Doug Hubbard, and Allison Roberts.

There are two roles as yet uncast: a Jamaican preacher who sings gospel at the top of his lungs, but never speaks (any age); and a younger handsome Parisian man who is the companion of a former showgirl. Both require very little rehearsal. If you are interested, or know someone who might be, please let us know. We have a great production crew, but can always use more help especially at performances. You may contact Director Val at rkd@olypen.com or 360-437-2861.

Orchestra Presents Winter Concert

The Port Townsend Community Orchestra (PTCO) presents Mozart and More on Sunday, February 26, 2:00 p.m., at Chimacum High School auditorium. The concert is free, but donations are accepted.

Wolfgang Mozart's Solemn Vespers forms the core of the concert and brings repeat engagements from Soprano Cynthia Webster, Alto Vicki Helwick, Tenor Robin Reed, and Bass Ray Chirayath. The Peninsula Singers will join the orchestra for Randall Thompson's Frostiana. Rounding out the concert are the Karelia Suite by Jean Sibelius and An Outdoor Adventure by Aaron Copeland.

Robin Reed brought the house down when he performed with the Orchestra this past October. His career has spanned decades as lead performer for the Stadt Theater, Bremerhaven Opera Company in Germany, Arizona Opera, Virginia Opera, and Los Angeles Opera Company.

Cynthia Webster and Ray Chirayath last sang with the PTCO in December 2015. Cynthia was the featured soloist for the Detroit Concert Choir and led award-winning performances with them in Wales, Austria, and Spain. Ray has been the leading actor for the musicals Cats, Starlight Express, and Joseph and the Technicolor Dreamcoat in his native India. He has also performed with the Bangalore Academy Chorale and the Moscow (Russia) Oratorio. Vicki Helwick last appeared as singer and narrator with PTCO in April 2015.

Guest conductor Dr. Gil Seeley studied at Oberlin Conservatory of Music and went on to earn his Masters and Doctorate in Music Conducting from USC. He was Instructor and Assistant Professor at UC Santa Cruz; Director, Oregon Repertory Singers; and, for 35 years, a Professor and Director at Lewis and Clark College in Portland. He received the Aaron Copland Award for performing American music in 2002, and the Oregon Governor's Arts Award in 2007.

Solemn Vespers was Mozart's last completed religious work and it foreshadowed his unfinished Great Mass in C minor and his Requiem. These were some of his last works composed in Salzburg before moving to Vienna.

Sibelius' Karelia Suite consists of three movements taken from Karelia Tableau that Sibelius wrote to support education near Viborg in the Karelia region of Finland. In the work Frostiana, Randall Thompson sets seven of Robert Frost's poems to music including The Road Not Taken, Choose Something Like a Star, and Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening.

Copeland's An Outdoor Overture will round out the program. This is a work composed during the time when Copeland was moving to simplify his music and incorporate folk tunes. Conductor Alexander Richter requested this as part of a program "American Music for American Youth."

The orchestra's 2016-2017 season is dedicated to the memory of Dewey Ehling, beloved conductor and artistic director for more than two decades. Gil Seeley is a finalist in the Orchestra's search for a new Music Director. He will present a pre-concert talk at 1:15 p.m.

Northwind Reading Series Presents

On Thursday, February 9, Northwind Reading Series presents S. Erin Batiste and Julia Hands. The series starts at 7:00 p.m. in Northwind Arts Center, 701 Water Street, Port Townsend.

Batiste is an alumnus of Soul Mountain Poetry Retreat, Voices of Our Nations Arts (VONA), Renaissance House, and the Key West Literary Seminar. Her writing has appeared in Experimental Candy, Falling Star, Poetic Diversity, and the 24th Street Irregular Press "Poems for All" series. She is working on her first novel and lives in Los Angeles, California.

Julia Hands is a recent graduate from Western Washington University's Master of Fine Arts (MFA) program. While completing her MFA, Julia served as the Assistant Managing Editor of Bellingham Review. For the past four years, she has also worked as the Assistant Program Manager of the Centrum Port Townsend Writers' Conference. Her short story But She Still Loves Him appeared in 5x5 Literary Magazine, and her plays have been performed on Western's Brit Tour in 2015, as well as at the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival in Washington in 2014.

On Thursday, February 23, the Series presents Afrose Fatima Ahmed and Shane Knode at 7:00 p.m. at the Art Center.

Afrose Fatima Ahmed is a hybrid Texan-Washingtonian who writes on city streets and at the tops of evergreens. She holds a Master of Arts in Asian Studies from the University of Texas, and is a VONA alumna. She released her first poetry chapbook, he won't dance with me, in December 2013, and recently released two poetry chapbooks, BODY OF WATER, and 70,000 Veils, in October 2016. She is currently working on her next collection of poems entitled blood gold and honey, which are a few of her favorite things, and takes the shape of a fictional tarot deck.

Shane Knode is a longtime Northwest poet. Originally from Sitka, Alaska, and raised on boats, he is steeply rooted into the landscape of the Northwest Passage; from there he began competing in Seattle poetry slams and getting deeply involved in the Puget Sound's rich letterpress print and publishing communities. Along the way, he taught workshops for youth-at-risk on the topic of poiesis, or living poetics, and toured with a live band performing improv spoken word with crowd participation. His latest project has been traveling around the west with a mid-century typewriter, typing up poems for people on the streets.

Port Gamble Theater's Seventh Season

By Bev Rothenborg, Arts & Entertainment Editor

The new season for the Port Gamble Theater begins in February with a performance of Oh Coward! which celebrates one of theater's greatest entertainers, Noel Coward. I have been attending shows at this theater company regularly since Director Scott Snively assisted by his wife Glenna began showcasing plays in this historic setting. I love old buildings and the history and legends lurk everywhere; the plays have gotten consistently more fun and professional over those seven seasons!

Built in 1906 for $12,000, this former community center originally housed a post office (still there), telegraph office, dentist, doctor, barber (also still there), and seamstress. Since there was little going on in Port Gamble besides a lot of mill work, the employees and their families came here to see vaudeville, a silent film, attend a dance, or hold a meeting. The last film was shown in 1956, and left hanging in the projection booth's projector was a clip of Fred MacMurray urging viewers to buy war bonds.

Oh Coward! weaves together songs and literary delights. Coward's effervescent music and charming quips combine for some of the most memorable tunes. His urbane dialog has always fascinated me, and I've often wished I could speak like his characters! During this musical, you may enjoy a catered meal on Saturdays beginning at 6:00 p.m. On Fridays, the curtain rises at 7:00 p.m., while on Sundays performances are at 2:00 p.m.

Other plays during the season include Little Women from July 7 - 23; Alice in Wonderland being performed from September 15 - October 1; and Charlie and the Chocolate Factory from December 1 - 17. I'll be taking my grand-kids to this one as we enjoyed last December's visit to Narnia immensely.

A new addition last season was the complimentary opening night receptions. There is a cash beverage bar. A drawing during each performance for handmade table runners helps the theater raise money for their Capital Fund to improve the theater.

Ticket prices are reasonable and information about purchasing may be found at portgambletheater.com or at brownpapertickets.com. My friends and I enjoy a dinner out before performances at one of Port Gamble's dining establishments—the Café next to the General Store or The Butcher & Baker. A new Bistro is scheduled to open soon.

Mightier than the Sword

by Judy Danberg, Guest Writer

Port Ludlow Artists' League presents its February Show, "Mightier than the Sword: A Study in Pen, Pencil & Graphite." The artwork featured ranges from the stark beauty of black and white to shaded colors and colorful markers; all with everyday writing instruments that we tend to take for granted.

According to the history books, graphite came into widespread use when a large graphite deposit was discovered in Borrowdale, England, in 1564. The idea of putting a sliver of graphite into a hollowed-out wooden stick came in 1565 in Nuremberg, Germany, mass-producing them in 1662. The first "erasers" were staples like soft bread or whatever didn't make too much of a mess. Erasers as we know them came about in 1770 by way of an English engineer and inventor, Edward Naime, who found that a natural rubber made from plants could be used as an eraser.

League artists Fran Bodman, Jeanne Joseph, and Marti Mathis have taken these humble utensils to create visual stories that are minimalist in design and embody simplicity through the use of black strokes on white; scenes done with colored pencils show a range of subtle shades, adding a soft and gentle quality to the exhibit. Expanding the collection's variety are pictures done in pens and markers, giving the viewer a burst of color and a sense of fun to lighten even the winter's darkened mood.

All are welcome to the League's Second Wednesday Reception on February 8 to meet these artists and enjoy their artwork in the Lobby of Sound Community Bank from 4:00 - 5:00 p.m. Next door, the League Gallery is open from 4:00 - 6:00 p.m. where you can enjoy some light nibbles, fantastic art and lively conversation. The Bank and the Gallery are located at the corner of Oak Bay Road and Osprey Ridge Drive. More information can be obtained by contacting League President, Claudia Wicks, at 206-351-2414 or email at claudiawicks@msn.com.

Artists' League Presents Printmaking Workshop

The Port Ludlow Artists' League welcomes painter, sculptor, and educator Barbara De Pirro for a lecture and demonstration on printmaking with acrylic paints on Wednesday, February 15, 1:00 p.m. The program will provide an overview of techniques for stress-free printmaking without the need for a printing press. Attendees leave with new creative possibilities and ideas for small prints, greeting cards, journaling, fabric applications, and techniques for larger professional applications. As a bonus, attendees will receive information packets and free Golden product samples.

Call for Artists

The Artist Showcase at Northwind Arts Center, 701 Water Street, in Port Townsend, calls on artists to submit 2 and 3 dimensional artwork for the third year of one of Northwind Arts Center's most successful programs.

The Artist Showcase encourages excellence in the arts by providing an ongoing professional exhibit space in Northwind Arts Center, an alternative to a cooperative gallery setting. Artists are juried for acceptance into the Showcase for a period of nine months. The artist's work is presented in a curated show, hung by Northwind and rotated monthly; the artist is not required to staff the exhibit space; and the artist takes away 70 percent of the sale price of their art. Northwind receives a monthly fee of $50 from artists that are accepted. In return, it provides trained volunteer staffing, as well as, a prime downtown location with professional lighting.

The application deadline is February 15. A panel of one outside juror and one Northwind curatorial staff person will determine which artists, who submit to the Artist Showcase, are accepted annually. Our juror for 2017 is Martha Jordan, Director of the Winslow Art Center on Bainbridge Island. For an online application go to: northwindarts.org/news/artists-showcase/showcase-procedures/. For more information, call Jinx Bryant at 360-912-4030, or email showcase@northwindarts.org.

Art Walks and Craft Shows

by Linda Karp, A&E Assistant Editor

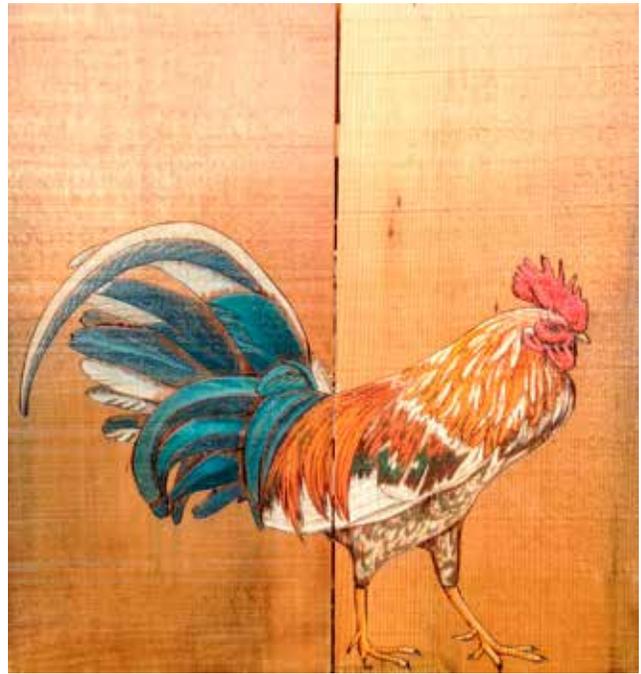

February 2 – 26: Northwind Arts presents Fiber Fusion. This Washington State Surface Design Association traveling exhibition showcases the depth and breadth of surface designers' work in Washington State. The exhibition contains original, innovative artwork which is technically of high quality using a wide range of techniques, revealing the vast creativity in the emerging art of surface design.

The concept of "Fiber Fusion" was left up to the interpretation of the artist. Surface design refers to any process that gives structure, pattern, or color to fiber. Fibers used could include handmade felt, paper, fabric, clothing or basket-making materials, among others. To these, surface designers may enhance or embellish. More than the methods, surface designers are interested in the unlimited options for experimenting with color, texture, and design.

February 2 - 11:30 a.m., the exhibit opens. February 4 - 5:30 – 8:00 p.m., Opening Reception and Art Walk. February 12 - 1:00 p.m., Art Talk. February 26 - 5:30 p.m., exhibit closes.

Port Ludlow Village Council

Village Council (PLVC) Report

by Doug Huber, PLVC Secretary

President Bill Dean called the Port Ludlow Village Council (PLVC) meeting to order at 3:00 p.m. at the Beach Club. Secretary Huber declared a quorum of the board with Directors Bill Dean, Doug Huber, Tam McDermid, Larry Nobles, Mark Nilssen, Caleb Summerfeldt, and SBCA president Skinner present. Attendees were informed that the meeting was being recorded. The agenda was adopted with no substantive changes.

Citizen Comments

Beverly Browne, Managing Editor of the Port Ludlow Voice, requested the opportunity of making an announcement. She introduced Glen Alberts and indicated that she would be turning over the position of Managing Editor to him in the summer. Her intent, she said, was to ensure a smooth transition.

Glen Alberts spoke as well. He and his wife moved to Port Ludlow six months ago, to pursue retirement. His background includes being an English teacher and working with Hewlett-Packard as the head of the Documentation Department. His desire is to ensure that the Port Ludlow Voice remains a quality publication.

Community Reports

Port Ludlow Associates (PLA): Cliff O'Brien gave the report for PLA. The company met with Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on January 4. DNR determined that a Forest Practices Act (FPA) determination was not required for the work on Olympic Terrace II (OTII). PLA will start clearing lots 22 - 26, and 32 - 41. Port Ludlow Cottages are 50 percent sold with a new house going up presently.

Mr. O'Brien cautioned visitors to OTII to be careful while clearing is progressing and when building starts. PLA will fence off areas during the clearing process. Debris from clearing will be piled and then transported off-site. It will be burned, but not on site.

Jefferson Board of County Commissioners (BOCC): Commissioner David Sullivan was scheduled to speak, but could not make it to the meeting. Commissioner Kler will return to being the BOCC representative this year.

Council Business

Tree Harvest Settlement: President Bill Dean said that Jefferson County and PLA signed a Settlement Agreement on December 19, 2016. Copies of the County's press release and the actual document were sent out to the community through PLVC, Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC), and South Bay Community Associations (SBCA) e-blasts, and published in the Port Ludlow Voice.

An informational meeting for the County and PLA to explain the agreement, scheduled for January 4 has been rescheduled, due to a death in County Administrator Philip Morley's family. Announcements of the future date will be communicated to the public as soon as they are known. (Subsequently the meeting has been re-scheduled and announced. The meeting will be held in the Bay Club Auditorium.)

Dean said that "It is the nature of negotiated settlements that both parties feel they have made concession, and that the resulting agreement is a compromise; not entirely what either part wanted. It is a framework the County, PLA, and the residents can use to go forward." The informational meeting is a step in that process.

Mr. Dean then made a motion that PLVC host the meeting. Ms. McDermid seconded the motion and it subsequently passed. No other committees reported.

Association Reports: Ron Racki was not present for the LMC. SBCA President, Gil Skinner, indicated that exterior repair of the Bay Club is on schedule and the siding project is nearly complete. No interior work has been completed as part of the exterior project. It is yet to be scheduled.

Secretary's Report: The December 2016 Board of Directors meeting minutes were approved with a clarification. The clarification requested by McDermid was a rewording of item XI.d.iii to read "that the next community welcome event will" to clarify the meaning of the sentence. Clarification was incorporated into Final Minutes. Motion to approve made by Umbreit and seconded by Skinner. Approved.

Treasurer’s Report: In December PLVC’s total assets include a beginning bank balance of $35,526.68. Income was $1,860.00. Expenses totaled $825. The ending balance was $36,561.68. These figures are unaudited, as an unknown error has caused a need for a reconciliation to be conducted. A reconciled Treasurer’s Report will be available at the February directors’ meeting.

The Council also discussed the funding of the holiday lights. Tam McDearmid thanked the Holiday Lights Committee for the work they did in the past and this year. Terry Umbreit gave a rough account of funding received, provided a general history of the lighting project, and described plans for the future. Umbreit suggested building a reserve for the lights. Further discussion was tabled in favor of exploring the subject at the workshop.

A small amount of money ($3,600) remains in the Iron Mountain Quarry (IMQ) fund checking account. It was proposed that those funds be placed in a CD where they would generate interest. A discussion ensued as to what can be done with the funds given that unspent moneys were to be returned to the donors. It was noted that identifying all contributors and finding them is a problem. Further, it is unclear if PLVC can use any of the funds for general use. The immediate decision was to do more research into what can be legally done and consider the topic again at the workshop. The treasurer’s report was formally accepted by the council.

Correspondence: In December, 19 articles were received in the Post Box. Thirteen were donations totaling $1,310. Also received was one report from the bank on the CD, one from the Secretary of State about a Change of Address for Registered Agent, and two for address redirection/moved back. Two were bills totaling $250.

Committee Reports

Roadway Safety: Chair, Steve Frenzl read a synopsis of his PLVC report. He said the Roadway Safety committee shall meet to begin developing ten top issues to propose to Jefferson County Public Works based on inputs of 125 Port Ludlow residents. The communication would identify top safety concerns along Oak Bay Road and Paradise Bay Road. A draft proposal (with collaboration by representatives of Jefferson County Public Works and Sheriff’s Department) will be presented back to residents via public forums for final inputs, then PLVC approval. The final proposal will be presented to the Jefferson County Public Works Director for acceptance and implementation. Estimated final proposal date is April 2017. There was discussion on having PLVC hire a sheriff deputy on part time basis. Skinner made motion to have committee talk to sheriff about a part time deputy and report back at Workshop. Steve took notes on all suggestions.

School District Maintenance and Operations Levy: Larry Nobles noted that approval of the levy requires 50 percent plus one vote. The levy accounts for about one fourth of the Chimacum School District’s budget. The election will be held on February 14, 2017.

Trails: Larry Scott announced that, since the annual meeting in October 2016, the contractor removed uplifted asphalt from 4-way stop to Ebb Tide Ct. along and around the Bay Trail, and replaced with 3-inch rolled/compacted ¼ minus granite. Paid-Bid was $5,002.01. They completed OTII access to all DNR trails and added directional and informational signage within the DNR.

The 2017 budget has been prepared and letters of request for 2017 contributions from traditional sponsors have been submitted. Approximately one-third to half of pioneer work on Osprey Trail (reflagged some portions) is complete. Walkers will now be able to access the trail from/to the pickleball court on Rainier. Directional issues associated with reroute of Timberton Loop have been resolved. The quasi hiatus during December holidays may extend into frozen January. Larry explained that trails are built to standards that take into account in what season they are built.

Announcements and Adjournment:

The meeting adjourned at approximately 4:30 p.m. The schedule of future meetings is boxed at the beginning of this report. All residents are welcome to attend the Village Council meetings.

Fear of Fining

by Sally Orsborn, LMC Secretary

Recently, a Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) subcommittee was formed for the purpose of developing a Draft Fine Schedule for potential inclusion in the proposed Regulations. That draft is now finished. During the process, a number of LMC members expressed concern about the ramifications of fining and preferred continuing only with Board sanctions that suspended use of association amenities or legal action for continued infractions. There was concern that the community would become one of watchdogs and overbearing volunteers interfering with personal property. Some concerned members favored the respectful use of property approach, more of the “do unto others” neighborly attitude, long appreciated by North Bay owners.

In answer to those concerns, the Board of Trustees wants to let members know that things really shouldn't change all that much. The LMC regulatory committees responsible for overseeing private property and common property Regulations are the Architectural Control Committee (ACC), Operations Committee, and the Greenbelt Committee. All committees use letters and personal contact with members as the means of communicating violations. All three committees attempt to work with owners to achieve compliance with the Regulations. With regard to private property, violations observations are made from a street-view perspective and committee members don't go onto private property without permission from owners. This will continue. Only in cases where non-compliance continues despite notification has the Board taken action.

Members who have never received a notice of violation or, if so, have immediately corrected the situation would have no worries. The community should be the same friendly place. The streets will still entice buyers and please those of us who bought into this homeowner association for pleasant well-maintained homes and yards.

Nominations for the Big John Award

by Ron Racki, LMC President

The late John Van Zonneveld was a man who often volunteered in our community and was a very noticeable presence with his energy, size, and ideas. John was quick to meet people and share his thoughts, concerns and ideas. John began volunteering at a young age in Holland during World War II, and part of his family and several friends were involved with Dutch resistance efforts. John continued volunteering for the rest of his life.

Following John's death, former LMC Trustee Jim Boyer suggested a Big John Award be presented each year to a member of our community who exemplified the spirit of volunteerism. The LMC Board of Trustees agreed with Trustee Boyer's idea and the Big John Award was established.

The first Big John Award was presented to LMC member Peggy Schafran in 2010. Since then Ian Feltham, Diane Campo, Larry Scott, Jeanne Joseph, Sally Orsborn, and Sue Milner have been recipients.

In conjunction with the Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) Annual Member Meeting in April 2017, the Board of Trustees will be presenting the Big John award for exceptional volunteerism in service to the community.

This award commemorates John’s commitment to the Port Ludlow community and recognizes those who share that value. Nominations are open to North Bay residents and should be delivered to the LMC Board by Tuesday, February 28. For further information, contact the Beach Club at 360-437-9201 or by email at beachclub@olympus.net.

This award may be presented each year, the recipient of which may or may not be an LMC member, for outstanding and dedicated volunteer service to the North Bay community. The intent of this award is to recognize exceptional volunteerism.

The LMC Board will consider the nominations at its March meeting. The annual recipient will be determined by a majority vote of the Board. Current Board members are ineligible.

The recognition is in the form of a certificate, placement of the honoree’s name on a brass plate attached to the John Van Zonneveld Big John Award plaque in the Beach Club, presentation at the Annual Meeting of members, and publication in the Voice and Navigator.

Update from the Manager

by Brian Belmont, General Manager

On Friday, December 30, we held our second annual Beach Club Polar Plunge in the outdoor pool. The North Bay “Plunge” was Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) member Patsy Newell’s bright idea just so you know whom to thank or blame depending on your perspective. The part that surprised me most was how many people said they wouldn’t jump into the cold pool but would come and watch the crazy people that did.

So on December 30, 22 brave souls took the Plunge on a day that had a daytime high of 44 degrees. The unheated outdoor pool was all the way up to 40 degrees. Just before 1:00 p.m. all the Plungers gathered for group pictures knowing that after we jumped there would be a scramble to get warm, so taking pictures would be unlikely. Our youngest Plunger was 8 years old and our most “mature” participant was 90. After everyone dried off and got warm, we were treated to hot apple cider, hot chocolate, and cookies.

About 30 people had gathered to see who would be bold or crazy enough to jump into the outdoor pool as part of our second annual Polar Plunge. Not surprising, the onlookers outnumbered the Plungers.

A special Thank You to Port Ludlow Fire and Rescue who had personnel standing by just in case an emergency presented itself...fortunately it didn’t.

SBCA Meeting Highlights

Compiled by Beverly Browne, Managing Editor

President Gil Skinner called the Friday, January 13, meeting of the South Bay Community Association (SBCA) to order at 9:37 a.m. at the Bay Club. Other directors were present were Steve Frenzl, Dick Meryhew, and Dave Jurca, as well as General Manager, Mark Torres. A quorum was declared.

The protocol for the meeting was Robert's Rules of Order for Small Boards. The agenda was approved with one small change, to move the discussion of reinstalling the radio antennae for the Emergency Preparedness group to the front of the agenda. The December meeting minutes were approved later.

Board and Committee Reports

Emergency Preparedness: Tink Green spoke on behalf of the Emergency Preparedness group. He said that the antennas for the emergency radios which had been removed during the re-siding project need to be reinstalled. Installation is estimated to be $150. The radios allow communication between the Bay Club, the fire station, Port Hadlock, and Port Townsend. The antennae don't require maintenance and will work with batteries for two days during power outages.

There was an extensive debate about whether the Bay Club was the best site for the radios and its capability of serving as a shelter during a disaster. Some advocated moving emergency preparedness to another location. Others maintained the Bay Club, while not the best site, was the best site available. In the end, it was decided that the antennae should be installed in their original position and to discuss other alternatives later. Tink was commended for his dedication.

Manager's Report: Mark Torres, General Manager, gave an update of staffing.

Heather Ullman is on leave due to the injuries her husband Dick received during a fall. Melinie has taken two weeks of sick leave but returned today. Bonnie Anderson and Alan Ahtow have stepped in as substitutes.

A new part-time staff member for the desk for weekend coverage has been hired. Bonnie was covering weekends temporarily until another person could be found. She will transition into covering Heather's shifts until she can return to work. The new staff member's name is Helen Holmes.

Our pool temperature continues to be a challenge to maintain because the outdoor heat pumps do not function when temperatures are below freezing and the backup electric heaters are both failing. The pool heater is worse than the spa heater. The electric heaters are near the end of useful life (3-5 years) and require replacement. Plan is to replace only the pool backup heater this year, and the spa heater next fiscal year. Cost for each heater is approximately $1,800 - $2,000.

The pump room floor drain has failed. The cause (not yet been determined) is likely to be freezing temperatures' impact on cast iron lines or long term erosion from chemicals in pool water. Plumbers are working on a resolution. The process may require a plumber to map out our system since we have no "as-built" plans.

We will need to change out the filter media in the sand filter for pool soon. The changeout may necessitate closing the pool for one day. An email will be sent to members to alert them when the day is selected.

One Spirit Treadmill is down until the new parts (under warranty, but not labor) are installed. Treadmills are nearing end of warranty. Based on user feedback, replacement treadmills should be comparable to the new Cybex machine.

The steps of the Gazebo were reported as slick with moss and ice. New treads were installed.

Cold temperatures have brought in an unwanted pest, ants. Our pest control contractor has provided extra treatment to exterior and treated interior. Based on the treatment and warmer temperatures our unwanted guests should leave soon.

Lost and Found items left at the Club throughout this last year that have gone unclaimed, will be on display for Members at tonight's Member Social.

December new members' information will be reported and combined with January report at the February 10 Board meeting.

Treasurer's Report: Dan Quail was absent; the report was given by Mark Torres. He said that the SBCA had total current assets of $863,846 and total fixed assets of $13,398.49. Total Operating funds were $20,655.77. Construction-related accounts totaled $248,820.64. The debit card account contained $949.98. Total Operating funds were $20,655.77. The transfer to reserves in December was $6,105. Total reserves including the capital improvement account were $168,604.85.

In December expenses were: operating expenses - $48,890.08, reserve expenses - $3,997.03, and construction-related expenses - $211,673.96. The complete data is available at the Bay Club on demand.

Board Communications: Thank you cards have been sent in by the staff for bonuses they have received. There were several letters on the topic of the proposed sale of the hill adjacent the Bay Club. In total there were 19 pieces of correspondence.

Amenities and Activities Committee: Steve Frenzl announced some of the events that are planned by the committee in the upcoming months including a morning social every other month, free movies, themed lunches, casino night, and seasonal events. The first will be a Valentine's Day party on February 14. The committee also has a number of new members who were formally accepted by the board. Meetings occur on the fourth Friday of the month.

Facilities: Dick Meryhew reported for John Sweet. He said the update of the Bay Club interior is expected to cost $150,000 and will include painting, carpet, and furnishings. Refinishing the floor in the auditorium has been added to the original list of tasks. Financial limitations mean that the process will not begin until the next fiscal year. The committee is looking for ways to raise the funds and confirming cost estimates. Meetings occur on the second Tuesday of the month and are open to the public.

Finance: It has been proposed that the Associate Member fees be reduced to $2,000 to attract new members to help fund exercise area expansion. Finance is looking at the impact of paying the construction loan off early to save on interest fees. Dave Armitage, Dan Quail, and John Sweet are working with Mark Torres on reconciling the reserve schedule subsequent to the end of the siding project.

Mark Torres said that there has been a net savings in consumption of energy. The club's assets are $9,000 - $10,000 above what was expected.

Ed Knodle added that the benevolence fund has added money through donations. The donated funds are only for people in extreme emergency for paying assessments. It provides a grant and is not expected to be paid back.

Human Relations: There was no regular report but the committee is trying to get the employee handbook revised.

Port Ludlow Village Council (PLVC): Gil Skinner reported on the recent PLVC meeting. See the PLVC report in this issue for specifics.

Traffic Committee: Steve Frenzl said that the committee is working on compiling 125 inputs. They will be used to put a program together to reduce speeding in the village. The program will be submitted to Public Works.

Tree Harvesting: Bill Dean reported that a conversion harvest will take place in Olympic Terrace II. In addition, Pope is planning to harvest around Teal Lake in March. A buffer will be left around the lake. The company is sensitive to the lake as an amenity. The area is not in the MPR.

A motion to accept all the reports was made and passed.

Old Business

Fee Schedule: Details about the changes were sent to the members in an e-blast. Skinner said that most organization should not be affected. The greatest concern is with treatment of the reciprocal groups and payment of fees by groups using the club outside regular hours.

Mark Torres explained that it is proposed that a $50 fee be charged for setup and breakdown for groups using the auditorium. This would primarily affect large group meetings such as PLPA events, benefit events, the Ludlow Players, and the Village Council (now free as a reciprocal group). Groups using the small rooms would not be affected. Mark would work with groups to clarify the impacts.

Opinions on the plan varied. Some opined that the members should not subsidize non-members; others said that a number of institutions would be negatively impacted. They argued that many organizations that contain both members and non-members make a contribution to the community, provide information, and meet at the Bay Club. Applying the policy would be cumbersome. In the end, the vote on the policy was postponed to further understand and evaluate the policy.

New Business

Club Space Allocation: Emergency preparedness equipment was installed in a room adjacent to the class room years ago. It also contains Computer Club files. The management is looking at restricting the space to just the radios or finding a new location. There were numerous comments on this effort. Mike Porter advocated making the emergency system a priority and integrating it better with systems outside of Port Ludlow. Pat Lohrey commented that emergency preparedness is active and had a Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) training program. It is inactive at present due to staffing changes at the fire department. She also described her role in the program. She also noted that Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has a CERT course on line, (Google IS317).

Associate Members: Sue Oemichen brought up a concern with the Covenants, Conditions & Restrictions (CC&R) treatment of associate members. She said the documents, written before relevant state law, conflict with state regulations (64.38015) and need amendment. Current plans to increase associate memberships could impact insurance. Second, she believed the board had made decisions outside of open meetings. The example cited was reallocation of the woodshop to exercise area. The board denied that such a decision had been made but expected to have a recommendation in March.

Comments and Announcements

The next meeting of the SBCA was announced. The dates of the meetings are boxed at the beginning of this article. The meeting adjourned at 12:27 p.m.

Derrenberger Wins Major Bridge Tournaments

By Louis Bohannon, Guest Reporter

Port Ludlow's Mike Derrenberger took first place in the category of 0-5 Masterpoints in both the Mini-McKenney and the Helen Shanbrom Ace of Clubs races for Unit 443 for 2016. The 0-5 category in the race is for those people who are often just starting to play duplicate bridge and have less than five masterpoints registered as of January 1, 2016, with the American Contract Bridge League (ACBL) when the yearly contest begins.

There are many other categories, even for those with a masterpoint total in excess of 10,000 points. However, it is always important to note those who are just beginning in competition and have done an excellent job for their first year. Unit 443 covers most of the Olympic peninsula including Port Ludlow, Port Townsend, and Sequim.

The Mini-McKenney race includes all masterpoints won for the year in both tournaments and local clubs.

The Helen Shanbrom Ace of Clubs race includes only those points won on the club level. Later this year, Mike will receive an award certificate from Unit 443 for this achievement. In the past, this has been presented at the Chimacum game on Tuesdays.

Although he has only been playing a short time, Mike placed eighth overall within his category for District 19, which includes all of Washington, Alaska, and British Columbia.

These toys, with other donations, helped to make a better Christmas for over 500 children in Jefferson County.

Toys were distributed by the Toys for Tots program for Christmas. The United States Marine Corp oversees this program on a national scale. Kiwanis operate this project on a local level. We work in unison with Kids for X-mas, Foster Kids, Wounded Warriors, and Jumping Mouse in order to reach as many children as possible in our community. Generous participation is what makes the program work.

Dove House Receives Grant from Women and Girls Fund

Jefferson County emergency shelter residents and their children at the Dove House will incorporate unprocessed vegetables, fruits, and whole grains into their diets, thanks to a 2016-17 Grant from the Fund for Women and Girls.

The $6,000 grant, awarded this January, will allow shelter residents to prepare, eat, and learn how to obtain affordable ingredients for meals made from whole, unprocessed foods. They will receive a Recipe of the Month Planner and be able to share a 'safe meal' experience with their family.

In 2014, the Jefferson County Department of Public Health and Jefferson Healthcare rated healthy diet as one of the top issues identified in a countywide assessment. The assessment revealed that only 29 percent of adults and one in three youth in Jefferson County eat the recommended daily quantities of fruits and vegetables. For women and their children living in a dangerous home environment, it is often very difficult to make healthy choices around food. The security of the Dove House Emergency Shelter allows a safe place where these women and their children can begin to rebuild a positive relationship with food, and their bodies.

"The Fund for Women and Girls could not be happier to award the 2016-17 grant to the Dove House for their Healthy Meals Program," said Julie Gertler, Chairperson of the Fund for Women and Girls. "It fits perfectly with our vision to provide an environment where women and girls in Jefferson County are safe, secure, and free from discrimination so they can reach their full potential."

The Fund for Women and Girls is a field of interest fund of the Jefferson County Community Foundation (JCCF). JCCF was started in 2005 to strengthen our community through engaged philanthropy. To learn more about JCCF and/or the Fund for Women and Girls, go to jccfgives.org. Or contact Debbie Reid, Jefferson County Community Foundation, 360-385-1729.

Healthcare Foundation Hosts Annual WellHearts Luncheon

Jefferson Healthcare Foundation invites women to the second annual WellHearts Luncheon on February 3, National Wear Red Day, at the Northwest Maritime Center from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The event's keynote speaker is Dr. Judy Gayne who is an internal medicine physician at Jefferson Healthcare's Family Medicine Clinic. Dr. Gayne is board certified in internal medicine and will be speaking on women and heart disease.

Dr. Karen Forbes, a Jefferson Healthcare Hospitalist, and newly appointed Cardiac Diagnostic Services Medical Director, will be the event's emcee. Dr. Forbes has been practicing medicine for over 20 years. February is Heart Health Month and this event is part of the campaign to educate and raise awareness about the critical issue of heart health for women.

"We want women of our community to know they are in charge of their health. Through education, awareness, and understanding the meaning behind their health screening numbers, they can make lifestyle changes that will help them live longer and stronger," said Judy Tordini, RN, Jefferson Healthcare Cardiology Program Director and President of the Jefferson Healthcare Foundation.

Early sponsors are Kristin Manwaring Insurance, Holley Carlson Coldwell Banker Real Estate, and First Federal Bank. Tickets are $50 and include a healthy lunch prepared by Jefferson Healthcare's Executive Chef Arran Stark. There will be information tables about heart health, and each attendee will receive a goody bag to take home. To purchase tickets, sponsor a table, or make a donation, please contact Kate Burke at kburke@jeffersonhealthcare.org or call 360-385-2200 ext. 2014 to reserve your spot. Last year's event sold out. Space is limited, so early registration is encouraged. Attendees are encouraged to wear red.

Heart disease is the number one killer of women. One in three women die of heart disease or stroke each year in Jefferson County. While heart disease risk begins to rise in middle age, heart disease develops over time and can start at a young age, even in the teen years. It's never too early, or too late, to take action to prevent and control the risk factors for heart disease. Although significant progress has been made in increasing awareness, most women fail to make the connection between heart disease risk factors and their personal risk of developing the disease. Studies show that only one in five women believes heart disease is her greatest health threat. Heart disease is largely preventable, but kills more women than all forms of cancer combined. That can be changed through effective prevention programs and education on healthy eating, exercise, and other lifestyle changes.

Jefferson Healthcare Foundation is a 501(c)(3) organization whose mission is to support Jefferson Healthcare by fostering philanthropic efforts to improve the health, wellness, and vitality of Jefferson County residents. For more information, go to JeffersonHealthcareFoundation.org.

Future of the Oceans

"Dams and Dirt: The Coastal Response to the Elwha Dam Removal" is the topic for the next lecture in the "Future of the Oceans" series sponsored by the Port Townsend Marine Science Center. It will take place Sunday, February 12, at 3 p.m. in the Fort Worden Chapel. Admission is $10 ($5 for PTMSC members).

Dr. Ian Miller, Washington Sea Grant's coastal hazards specialist, will discuss the current possible future effects of the Elwha Dam removal. Dr. Miller works with coastal communities on the Olympic Peninsula to increase their ability to plan for and manage coastal hazards. To accomplish this, he uses a suite of tools including outreach, applied research, synthesis of existing science, and coordination to help coastal communities access funding and expertise to achieve their goals and implement their plans.

Dr. Miller has expertise in a range of topics including: sea level rise, ocean acidification, marine debris, tsunamis, beach erosion and change, Washington coastal ecology, coastal sediment transport, and geomorphology.

What is that strange thing you found on the beach last week? Do sand fleas (beach hoppers) bite? Why is your favorite clamming beach closed in the summer?

Learn all about local coastal landscapes in the 2017 Beach Naturalist Course offered this spring by Jefferson County WSU Extension. Registration is open now and closes March 10. Classes are held on Thursdays, March 23 to April 27, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. This lively class is designed for anyone interested in shorelines, marine life, and natural history. Class and field trip locations include Port Townsend, Discovery Bay, Quilcene, and Port Hadlock.

Students learn about intertidal habitats, coastal geology, kelp, plankton, oceanography, and much more in this 6-week class. Each session includes classroom lectures by regional experts and field trips to explore new and familiar beaches with fresh perspectives.

Participants are expected to volunteer 40 hours for local marine-related programs over the next year. “Students discover how much fun volunteering can be,” says Cheryl Lowe, Program Coordinator. “They love getting out on the beach or near the water helping local conservation organizations with citizen science monitoring projects like counting salmon or Olympia oysters, planting trees to restore habitat, and helping with public education events.”

Registration closes on March 10. Space is limited. Cost is $150. Some scholarships are available. See wsu.edu/jefferson/nrs/beachwatchers/ for registration information. Or, contact Cheryl Lowe (360-379-5610 x 230 or Cheryl.lowe@wsu.edu).

Habitat for Humanity Builds Homes and Hope

by Jamie Maciejewski, Habitat Executive Director

Habitat for Humanity has built 38 houses in East Jefferson County. With two currently under construction, that makes 40. These two are being built in Habitat’s Birkenfeld Community, across from Seaport Landing in Port Townsend. Two years ago, Habitat completed the infrastructure for 12 houses there. By completing four a year, the last house will be finished in 2019.

Habitat has “recycled” six houses, putting a new buyer into a house when the first family outgrew it or moved out of the area. Habitat also repairs homes in Quilcene and Brinnon when their owners can’t handle the repairs alone. This helps older homeowners live independently longer, by offering assistance with the difficult tasks of home maintenance and critical repairs.

Whether new construction, recycled houses, or home repairs, the Habitat model is the same: sweat equity, volunteer involvement, and repayment of the cost of the project through an affordable loan. Habitat is currently accepting applications for homeownership and the South County home repair program.

The Habitat stores in Port Townsend and Quilcene help to fund Habitat’s mission; the organization needs donations of furniture and household items in good condition. To arrange a free pickup, or to apply for housing assistance, call the office at 360-379-2827. For more information about Habitat, visit habitatejc.org.

Jefferson Land Trust Conservation Breakfast

Do you love the natural beauty and bounty of the Olympic Peninsula? Jefferson Land Trust invites you to attend its annual Conservation Breakfast on Thursday, February 23, 8:00 - 9:30 a.m., at the Northwest Maritime Center (431 Water St., Port Townsend). By protecting the land that sustains us, we can create a place of hope. Come out for an inspiring morning with coffee, breakfast, and the company of people committed to ensuring a future rich in the natural wonders we enjoy today.

The Land Trust is a grass roots organization that relies on community support to save the local farms, forests, and wild spaces that are integral to the landscape and way of life in Jefferson County. This event is a chance to share a good meal and hear about the Land Trust's conservation successes and upcoming opportunities. There is no cost to attend, but you might be inspired to join the Land Trust's community of supporters and help save local places that matter.

Reply to Caitlin at info@saveland.org or 360-379-9501 by February 16, or earlier, to save your seat and help ensure a local landscape of farms, forests, and wildlife forever.

Matlock Receives Lifetime Achievement Award

At the annual Washington State Prevention Summit on November 7, 2016 in Yakima, Kelly Matlock was honored with the prestigious Department of Social and Health Services Exemplary Lifetime Achievement Award for her substance abuse prevention work in east Jefferson County. She was nominated by the Washington State Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery. A strong advocate for prevention science, Kelly has been dedicated to building on community readiness, strategic planning, and implementation of evidence-based programs in the community coalition work she did in both Port Townsend and Chimacum.

This is the second Exemplary Achievement Award she has received. In 2012, Anne Dean and Kelly Matlock were honored for the work they did using the Adverse Childhood Experiences Study as the foundation for their community efforts in substance abuse prevention, for spearheading the "Our Kids: Our Business" child abuse and neglect information campaign, and for bringing the University of Washington's Communities That Care training to Jefferson County.

Now in retirement, Kelly says, "I am so grateful I had the opportunity to work with the best at Jefferson County Public Health and with a community as committed as Jefferson County to the health and well-being of youth and families."

Grace Christian Center

Solid, Spririt-Filled Bible Teaching

Grace Christian Center is celebrating its 15th year of serving our Lord Jesus here in the Olympic Peninsula. Planted in Port Ludlow, Grace Christian Center is a regional church, with people traveling from all over the County to worship with us. The Bible is our text book—we work hard to bring relevant teaching with an understanding of history, context, and current application in our very real and daily lives.

Grace Christian Center: Where we love Jesus first and foremost; where we love His Word and His presence; where we love His people, where your family can be a family in the presence of the Lord.

We invite you to worship with us Sunday mornings at 10.
