On the Move with the Editor

by Caleb Summerfelt, JONAH, MArch, METM, Ph.D.

It won't be possible to replace Bev Browne, but I'm honored to introduce myself and to help the Port Ludlow Voice. The dedication of each member of the staff has made this publication a staple in our community, and I'm honored to be a part of a great team that is dedicated to the community that we all love.

While my background may be a slight mystery, to keep it simple, let's say I'm the Chief Information Officer (CIO) for a large manufacturing company, so I'm always traveling. After spending the last 12 years in school, I earned one undergraduate degree and three graduate degrees. As odd as this sounds, now that I'm done with school, I must admit, I have been amazed by the amount of free time I have, so the Port Ludlow Voice will be an exciting and new adventure.

While I'm excited to help, I have received both positive and negative feedback about my decision; some even feel this is a power-grab over the community. I volunteer because I want to help the community I love. Besides, who can argue with the American Psychological Association who says that volunteering will lead to a longer lifespan?

During His Holiness Pope Francis' recent TED talk, "Why the Only Future Worth Building Includes Everyone," he stated, "Please, allow me to say it loud and clear – the more powerful you are, the more your actions will have an impact on people, the more responsible you are to act humbly. If you don't, your power will ruin you, and you will ruin the other. There is a saying in Argentina: 'Power is like drinking gin on an empty stomach.' You feel dizzy, you get drunk, you lose your balance, and you will end up hurting yourself and those around you, if you don't connect your power with humility and tenderness. Through humility and concrete love, on the other hand, power – the highest, the strongest one – becomes a service, a force for good."

No matter how we volunteer in Port Ludlow, it is important that the community sticks together through any issue that might try to divide us; the one common principle is that we must always remember that we are all neighbors in a beautiful community. Any other issues are inconsequential.

The Future is in our Hands

by Adam Bloodgood, Guest Writer

Freedom, oppression; prosperity, poverty; liberty, inequality. These are all words you could use to describe the American flag. That being said, the flag has become an image of controversy, and patriotism has become less accepted in the United States.

When did this happen? The flag gets publicity as though it represents 50 stars of exclusivity and 13 stripes of division. Did the terms and conditions change without notice? The first 27 versions of the flag seemed to have a much better reputation. Was there a glitch we overlooked when we updated to version 28? With all this chic hearsay going around, "Old Glory" seems all too literal of a nickname.

Our current culture acts as though the flag exclusively represents the darkest moments in our history, and we spend our time searching for convenient excuses not to participate in the change we want to see. Many individuals have decided that social divides put in place by anonymous powers that be, hinder us from any forward progress. By both using and ignoring history, we try to validate our complacency. There is no such thing as a perfect society, nation, generation, family, or individual. Every moment spent pointing fingers and wallowing in self-proclaimed shame is a wasted opportunity to take accountability for our part in making an ideal America for the future. We have embraced our perceptions on the same level as scientific law, and that's where we've hit a wall.

History has shown us that we, as citizens, hold the power to change and better our path for the road that lies ahead. It is our responsibility to hold the flag in the light of progress, and it's important to remember that our government is governed by us, the people who have power to choose whom we hire to govern our nation. We are under no obligation to live by opinions or actions shown by our political incumbents. It is a privilege to yield this power, and it must not be forgotten. Every day is a chance to start new and move towards an ideal future for the States.

The United States flag does not represent where we've been, but is a symbol of hope and progress. The future is in our hands, now let's get to work.

Uncovering the Truth about Alzheimer's Disease

by Alex Sokoll, Alzheimer's Association Communications and Outreach Specialist

It is common knowledge that Alzheimer's disease robs people of their ability to remember. Less known is that Alzheimer's is a fatal disease, that its symptoms extend further than memory loss, and that early diagnosis matters.

Greater understanding is urgently needed given the dramatic impact of the disease. Alzheimer's disease is the sixth-leading cause of death in the United States and the only cause of death among the top ten that cannot be prevented, cured, or even slowed. To improve the public's understanding of the disease and underscore the need for swift action, the Alzheimer's Association is highlighting essential truths aimed at curbing common misconceptions about Alzheimer's. These truths include:

- Alzheimer's disease is fatal – there are no survivors. From 2000 - 2013, the number of Alzheimer's deaths increased 71 percent, while deaths from other major diseases decreased. More than five million Americans are living with Alzheimer's disease, including more than 100,000 in Washington and northern Idaho.
- Alzheimer's disease is not normal aging. Alzheimer's is a fatal and progressive disease that attacks the brain, killing nerve cells and tissue, affecting an individual's ability to remember, think and plan.
- Alzheimer's is more than memory loss. Many believe the disease only manifests itself through memory loss, but it has a variety of signs and symptoms. Experts from the Alzheimer's Association have developed ten key warning signs of Alzheimer's disease that everyone should learn to recognize in themselves and others.
- Alzheimer's risks are higher among women, African-Americans, and Hispanics. African-Americans are about twice as likely as whites to have Alzheimer's or another dementia. Hispanics are about one and one-half times as likely. Additionally, more than two-thirds of Americans with Alzheimer's disease are women.
- Early detection matters. More than five million people are living with Alzheimer's disease, but only about half have been diagnosed. Additionally, less than half (45 percent) of seniors diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease or their caregivers are aware of the diagnosis.

- Alzheimer's cannot be prevented, but adopting healthy habits can reduce your risk of cognitive decline and contribute to brain health. Staying mentally active, engaging in regular physical activity, and eating a healthy diet benefits your body and your brain. Staying socially engaged with friends, family, and the community may help too. Learn the Ten Ways to Love Your Brain.
- Alzheimer's is the most expensive disease in the country. The total national cost of caring for those with Alzheimer's and other dementias are estimated at $236 billion a year. As the number of Americans with Alzheimer's grows, the total annual payments for health care, long-term care, and hospice care for people with Alzheimer's and other dementias are projected to increase to more than $1 trillion in 2050.
- Caregiving can become anyone's reality. The enormity of the Alzheimer's crisis is felt by the more than five million people in the United States living with the disease today and by their more than 15 million caregivers, friends, and family. According to the 2016 Alzheimer's Association Alzheimer's Disease Facts and Figures report, it is estimated that 250,000 children and young adults between ages 8 and 18 provide help to someone with Alzheimer's disease or another dementia. In addition, 23 percent of Alzheimer's disease and dementia caregivers are "sandwich generation" caregivers - meaning they care not only for an aging parent, but also for underage children.

The Alzheimer's Association works with caregivers to enhance care and support for all those affected by Alzheimer's and other dementias. Resources and information are available through the Alzheimer's Association's website at alzwa.org and the 24/7 Helpline at 800-272-3900. The Association provides assistance to more than 310,000 callers each year, offering translation services in more than 200 languages.

It's Never Too Late

by Jamie Deering, Contributing Writer

"It's never too late to do something you really want to do." This is a phrase I've heard many times in my life. Basically, it says that to live a life you love is always possible. I took this phrase seriously, and after my recent divorce, signed up for the Peace Corps. In September, I will fly to Macedonia to co-teach English to elementary-aged students, grades 1 - 9. I'll live with a host family until December, 2019. From September to December this year, I'll be immersed in learning Macedonian and exploring the culture of my new home.

Why the Peace Corps? Why Macedonia? These are usually the first questions I'm asked about my service. I chose the Peace Corps because it offers multi-layered support for serving, to build communities and work for peace at a world level. Their mission is international development. Created in 1961 by John F. Kennedy, the Peace Corps vets you, trains you, and places you in the best possible situation for your success, and more importantly, the success of the community you serve.

Peace Corps volunteers (PCV) are not ambassadors, though we do represent the United States. We are volunteers with specific experiences and skills to assist others take on their goals to grow and sustain their communities. Getting into the Peace Corps is competitive. I was surprised to learn this. A 2015 Peace Corps article stated there were 17,000 applicants for fewer than 4,000 postings that year. This year, we were told there were an "unprecedented" number of applicants.

After you have been interviewed and accepted into service, which is itself an intense process, there are three hurdles to leap over before the swearing in ceremony: medical, legal, and language. It will have been a year-long process by the time I am sworn in on December 1 in Macedonia. There is an extensive medical examination process, and here, we're told, about ten percent of accepted applicants are cut for medical reasons. One of my favorite questions was whether I could carry 50 pounds. Even if you have no interest in joining the Peace Corps, it is well worth getting on the website to read the details of the thousands of postings around the world. The need is great. It is inspiring to consider that so many people want to be of service.

While you are working on the medical requirements, there is a background check going on. You are responsible for sending in your fingerprints. My thanks to the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office for doing a fine job. Once those two things are cleared, you are cleared to get on the plane.

On September 18, I'll land in Macedonia, with all the other elementary and secondary teachers, to train in country. We will spend 4 - 5 hours per day five days a week learning Macedonian, a Cyrillic alphabet language. I've never learned a second language fluently and appreciate again how well organized the Peace Corps is. There are already MP3 lessons waiting for me to get a head start. I'm working on flashcards to learn the new alphabet first.

Once there, we'll also travel into the rural towns, in final preparation our assignment. I'll live with a host family the two years I serve. I will create lessons and teach with a Macedonian teacher. We are also asked to create additional programs (after-school and summer) to meet community needs. I could teach choir, yoga-like classes, meditation, business development, or more. I'm excited to learn what is needed in my new town.

It doesn't matter greatly whether you serve locally, helping people attain their goals, or globally in an entirely new culture. If you want to serve others in creating a life they love, it's never too late. And the Peace Corps can help make it happen. Get your resume and references ready.

Port Ludlow Woman Golfer Places Sixth in the World Masters Games

by Kathleen Traci, Guest Writer

The 2016 Port Ludlow Women's Golf League Champion golfer Bonnie Vahcic, placed sixth in her age group at the World Masters Games in New Zealand this past April. The Games are held every four years in a different country around the globe. It was Bonnie's most memorable trip abroad, and the perfect way to celebrate her 50th wedding anniversary with her husband Frank. Bonnie tied for 6th place in a field of 94 contestants in the women's 65 to 75 age group. She especially enjoyed playing with women from Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and many other parts of the world.

Since she retired from teaching in 2008, she and Frank have played in the Huntsman World Senior Games every October, in the city of St. George, Utah. Bonnie has been fortunate enough to win gold or silver each of these years. The tour of New Zealand, with a focus on participating in the World Games, was arranged by the Huntsman Senior Games to help promote world friendship, peace, and good health through sports.

Bonnie had her lowest score of 73 on the Port Ludlow Golf Course early this June, but her lifetime adventures with this sport started for her at an early age. Bonnie's parents were learning to golf when she was about 13 years old. They encouraged her to take lessons, golfed with her often, and became some of her most enthusiastic cheerleaders. At age 16, she was the Club Champion runner-up at her parents' course in Ohio. Bonnie played on and off during the busy years of college, parenting, and teaching. She played at the Navy's Gallery Golf Course on Whidbey Island in the mid-1970s, then joined Kitsap Golf and Country Club in 1982, and played there through 1998. Kitsap had a very active women's league, and it was there that Bonnie was able to work on her game, going from an 18 to a 6 handicap. Bonnie credits her husband, Frank, and the ladies at Kitsap for encouraging her to step up and play local competitions with other clubs, and to compete at the state amateur level. She was seven times club champion at Kitsap. One of her most fond golf memories is when her mom and dad would fly to Seattle to watch her play in the LPGA Safeco Pro-Am Tournament at Meridian Valley Country Club.

Bonnie has golfed in the 18 hole women's league at Port Ludlow since moving here in 1998. She has won the Club Championship multiple times, trading that honor on and off, with one of her closest competitors, Lucinda Thompson. Bonnie won the Washington State Public Links Championship in 2012, at the Highlander Golf Course in Bonnie on Hole 2 of Tide.

Wenatchee. It was there that Bonnie had her very first hole-in-one, on the final round to win the tournament.

When asked what she loves most about the game of golf, Bonnie responded, "I love walking out on the course, either in the early morning or near dusk, when it feels like I have the whole course to myself. It is quiet, peaceful - just me, my swing, and the course. I have come to enjoy competing in golf because of the great opportunities these events have afforded me. I have had the good fortune to play with some of the best women golfers in the Pacific Northwest on some of the most challenging courses available. When I think about golf and what it has meant to me - from the people I've met, the courses I've played, and the enjoyment I've garnered from playing the game - I am reminded of a phrase made famous by Jackie Gleason, 'How sweet it is.'"

Ken's Gardening Corner

by Ken Taylor, Contributing Writer and Photographer

Well if you are any type of Pacific Northwest gardener, you are probably enjoying the ongoing dahlia, rose, peony, and lavender blooms taking place. In this month's article, I would like to touch on some tips that tend to be overlooked while tending to these colorful perennials.

Dahlias are one of the most profusely flowering plants in the garden, but in order to keep them going for a long season, it's critical to remove spent flowers regularly. By taking off the old blooms, you send a signal to the plant that the season is not yet over. To deadhead, just trim each spent flower back to the main stem. When all of the flowers on a stem have finished, cut the stem back to a set of leaves so the dahlia will continue putting out fresh, new growth.

Roses are commonly attacked by a number of fungal diseases, including black spot, powdery mildew, and rust. The best way to help your roses fight disease is to keep them strong. Make sure they have good growing conditions and ample moisture and nutrients. Remove dead foliage from your rose garden too; it can spread disease. Fish emulsion applied as a liquid fertilizer when buds are about pea-size (about three weeks before each bloom cycle) will enhance bloom color. Add chelated iron for rich green foliage.

Peonies are generally very hardy. At the end of the growing season and once all of your blooms are expired, you can go ahead and cut the plant back. Go ahead and cut the stems down to the base where they will remain dormant over the winter months and re-sprout during the spring. Many gardeners wonder why so many ants crawl on the peony buds. They are eating nectar in exchange for attacking bud-eating pests. Never spray the ants. They are helping you nurture peonies to bloom!

My final tip concerns lavender. They don't come back from hard regenerative pruning! The best way to keep your lavender plants looking full and bushy is to shear them immediately after bloom. While you never want to cut into bare wood, by shearing off the spent flowers and about a half-inch of foliage, you encourage the plant to sprout new, more compact shoots. To shear, use handheld hedging shears and gently clip off all the spent blooms back to the fluffy mound of foliage beneath. Again, don't prune more than one half to one inch of foliage off, as the lavender won't come back from shearing to bare wood.

Well that's it for this month. "Eat healthy, and Happy Gardening."

The Sky up There: the Coming Total Solar Eclipse

by Mark Rader, Contributing Writer

Those of us who live or stay in the greater Seattle area on August 21 will see a partial solar eclipse. That's not bad, but it will not be a total solar eclipse. These are not so rare as uncommon. A total solar eclipse occurs about once every eighteen months somewhere in the world, with about a half-dozen partial solar eclipses somewhere in the world in a single year. A major reason for this disproportion is borne of the size of the two celestial bodies in question. Our Moon is only about 2,000 miles in diameter, while our Sun is about 800,000 miles in diameter. If one is so little and one is so big, how do we see a total eclipse at all? The answer again is one of proportion. The Moon, on average, is about 240,000 miles away, while the Sun is 93 million miles away. The result is that in the sky they both seem the same size. That's why we see total eclipses at all.

We're going to have one that will appear as a total eclipse in a band about ten or so miles wide running from fifty or sixty miles west of Salem, Oregon, and continuing from northwest to southeast across about two-thirds of the width of the country. Please use only proper eye protection. The eclipse will start at about 8:00 a.m. on August 21. If you take a look at the Sun about that time you'll see the blackened Moon begin to take a "bite" out of the right edge of the Sun. Then, little by little, the "bite" will grow larger and larger until, roughly an hour and fifteen minutes later, the Moon will take a "last bite" and completely cover the disk of the Sun - what astronomers call "totality." Again, this only happens because the Moon is close, and the Sun is far away. By the way, do not go inside for a cup of coffee during "totality," as it only lasts a little over two minutes. What a two minutes! You may remove your solar viewing glasses for the moment; no protection is needed during "totality." Take in the spectacular beauty unfolding before you. The Sun is completely obscured by the Moon, with the whole thing producing a spectacular corona - a pearly-white crown of light visible all around the Sun in the darkened sky. One can only see the corona during a total eclipse, because the Earth's blue sky is far too bright to see it at any other time.

Once "totality" ends, put your special glasses back on, as the eclipse will sort of "unwind" over the next hour or so as the Sun resumes its normal work day. Don't miss this eclipse if possible.

Because of the particular way the Earth and our Moon orbit the Sun, the next total eclipse visible in this area won't happen for about eighteen and a half years, all a result of something called the Saros Cycle.

Gateway to the Olympics

by Tim Rensema, Guest Writer

The Olympic Peninsula Gateway Visitor Center is located at the junction of Highway 104 & Highway 19, near Port Ludlow, and is a Regional Visitor Center with information and maps on the whole Peninsula, Hood Canal to the Pacific Beaches, in one spot. It is the convenient source for all information for every interest; hiking, bicycling, golf, fishing, or touring the Olympic National Park. The facility also has that special interest information that is hard to find: take a look at the new Getaway Guide, Waterfalls Tour of the Olympic Peninsula, Olympic Culinary Loop, or Olympic Travel Planner brochures. All the information that could be used to plan for a week or weekend Getaway is here now at the Gateway Visitor Center. From Festivals to events, you can get the resources for family or friends' arrival on the Peninsula. The Gateway summer hours are 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Sunday. This schedule runs from May 20 through the end of September. Winter hours at the Gateway are 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily, October through April, 2018.

Gateway Visitor Center.

One half of the Gateway is devoted to our museum of local Jefferson County History. The museum covers the farming of Chimacum Valley, the logging industry, Native American influence, and other interesting displays of old time Jefferson County. An old sled bespeaks of past means of winter transportation across rough roads prior to the introduction of the automobile. Perhaps of special interest to those of Port Ludlow would be the "spring board" which was used by loggers to stand high on trees they were cutting to get above the butt swell at the base of the huge Douglas Fir and red cedar. You can still see the stumps of these trees today along Osprey Trail in Port Ludlow, where a rectangular cut approximately four to eight feet above the ground is cut in the stump. The spring board was fit in and the logger with ax or cross cut saw stood on the board while cutting.

The center not only provides information services, but acts as a waystation for carpooling, meeting friends or relatives, or just taking a much needed break from a hard drive across Hood Canal. Ample parking and portable toilet facilities are there to service both locals and long-distance visitors.

If you have some time on your hands and think you are local enough to know a bit about our Jefferson County, we need Volunteer Ambassadors to help at the Visitor Center. Your efforts could support our historic Jefferson County and our local business communities. We are always looking for volunteers to keep our Center open. We greet people from around the world, year-round, and make them feel at home here on our beautiful Olympic Peninsula. The Gateway Visitor Center is managed by the Jefferson County Historical Society, staffed daily by volunteers. For more information, call 360-437-0120, go to the Internet at enjoyolympicpeninsula.com, or visit our pages on Facebook. Our contact email is gatewayvcr@olympus.net.

Ask the Sheriff

by Sheriff David Stanko

This new series of articles was offered by me to better share, with the residents of Port Ludlow, facts about my office, services offered by my office, patterns of concern on the Peninsula, as well as the realities of protecting an area as large as our Peninsula.

Recently a home in Port Ludlow was broken into while the owners were out of town. This led to discussions with concerned homeowners in the area as to ways to prevent this from happening again.

The Sheriff's office will do a Vacation Check on your home while you are away. Vacation Checks are a service provided by the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office (JCSO) volunteer division to residents of unincorporated Jefferson County free of charge. This service is available only to full time Jefferson County residents for a period up to two weeks. During the two-week period Jefferson County Sheriff's Office volunteers, when available, will conduct random checks of your residence. Keep in mind that JCSO volunteers are unpaid and volunteer their time as available. Because of this, we cannot guarantee the frequency of the checks nor are we liable for the security of your residence/property during this time. This service should not be considered a substitute for proper security measures such as a monitored alarm/surveillance system/watchful neighbor. To request a vacation check please print the PDF file found on the Sheriff's Office web site, jeffersonsheriff.org, and mail the completed document to the address listed on the form. Forms are also available at the front desk of the JCSO office in Port Hadlock during normal business hours.

This article's purpose is to answer any questions you might have for the Sheriff. Please address any questions to Linda Karp at lkarp@plvoice.org.

Block Captains' Fair

Block Captains play a vital role when a significant emergency or disaster strikes Port Ludlow. They are the eyes and ears to relay information to and from our command centers at the Bay and Beach Clubs, which become a conduit to County first responders. To recognize their efforts, to update and provide new abilities, the Port Ludlow Village Council (PLVC) Emergency Management Committee is hosting a Fair and Social for our Block Captains, on Tuesday, July 25, at 4:00 p.m. at the Bay Club.

In addition to existing Block Captains, the fair is designed to acquaint other members of the community who are interested in becoming a Block Captain or are just interested in how emergency management functions here in Port Ludlow. We welcome any interested resident to join us.

Lynn Sterbenz, Director of Jefferson County Department of Emergency Management (DEM), and Fire Chief Brad Martin, will highlight the event. Breakout sessions by staff of the DEM, Fire Department, Red Cross, and Emergency Management will focus on topics such as: "Map your Neighborhood," "Grab & Go Kits," courses in First Aid/CPR/AED, "House Actions in an Emergency," as well as enabling the sharing of ideas among Block Captains, networking, and recognition of the work Block Captains perform.

After the formal part of the fair, a pizza social will be held, and paid for, by PLVC.

VOICE CORRECTION: Newcomers Welcome Event Schedule

The Voice erroneously printed the date of the Community Newcomers Welcome Program to meet new neighbors in the last issue as taking place on Thursday. It will take place on Wednesday, July 12 at the Bay Club from 4:00 – 6:00 pm. Wine and appetizers will be served and you will have the opportunity to meet your neighbors, get acquainted with over 40 different community organizations and see what Port Ludlow has to offer. Many newcomers have been greeted in North Bay by Jamie Bima, Sandy Rothwell, or Kris Stapleton and South Bay newcomers by Mary Ellen Meryhew, Lynn Lemieux, or Phyllis Waldenburg. If not, please look them up at the event as well as connect with your neighbors. For more information, contact co-chairs Janice Chamberlain at 206-498-0260 or by email at cecilcatl@gmail.com or Stephanie Hew at 360-437-9516 or by email at stevie585@gmail.com.

Clinic Scheduled To Open This Month

If you have driven through the Village lately, you will have seen furious activity at the Jefferson Healthcare (JHC) clinic site. JHC will open the new health clinic with expanded services this July. The date of the opening ceremony is yet to be announced.

The clinic will continue to offer primary care, including blood draws, x-rays, annual exams, and cold and cough care. It will also host specialty care providers. Dr. Shannon Kirchner will continue to lead Family Medicine services, along with C. Wesley Schott, ARNP. Another physician is being actively recruited to expand the team.

The new clinic features a modern waiting room, a resource room, six exam rooms, a procedure room for visiting specialists, and a consult room for providers and nurses. The clinic is continuing its cardiology services with regularly scheduled visits from a Jefferson Healthcare cardiologist. Other specialists will also hold clinic days as necessary to meet community demand.

The former clinic space will continue to serve the healthcare needs of the community, but in the capacity of a specialty services center. By the end of summer, Clair Haycox, JHC's new Dermatologist, will practice at that location. It is expected that the availability of the new services will greatly reduce community need to seek care "across the water."

New patients are welcome. To schedule an appointment, call 360-437-5067.

by Mary Coupland, Guest Writer

A Legal and Estate Life Care Planning Seminar is being offered on Thursday, August 3, 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. at the Port Ludlow Bay Club.

Richard Tizzano is an expert in Elder Law, Estate Planning, Adult Guardianships, Personal Healthcare Crisis Management, Strategic Health Cost Risk Mitigation, and Sustainability of Care.

With 8,000 Baby Boomers turning 65 every day, and more and more couples coming to his office in crisis mode, Richard felt he had to develop a means to reach seniors and their families to help educate them on what their options are as they approach the next chapter of their lives.

His Life Care Planning seminars are designed to explore solutions to help you age in place, protect assets, and remain independent, providing peace of mind for you and

DigitalLife Group Reaches Out to Chimacum Schools

Sarah McNulty and Kim Pratt.

Special Education teachers Sarah McNulty and Kim Pratt write that, for the past eight years, the special education programs of Chimacum School District have benefited from DigitalLife monetary support. “With the shared vision towards ‘enrichment of life through technology,’ DigitalLife has supported grants enabling the purchase of iPads and other assistive technology devices for the schools. These generous gifts have offered teachers and therapists across all grade levels an exciting outlet for creating innovative programming.”

The iPads have given a voice to students in need of augmentative communication (alternative methods of speaking) and allowed access to digital textbooks and text-to-speech tools for struggling readers in general education classes. Additionally, the iPads have introduced innovative instruction techniques to promote academic achievement, self-regulation, and life skills.

It is always a challenge for schools to fund technology, especially emerging, untested tools. When Occupational Therapist Sarah McNulty and Speech and Language Pathologist Kim Pratt wrote the first iPad grant request, iPads were brand new in the academic world. Port Ludlow DigitalLife helped open the door for these therapists to explore a collection of amazing tools and realize their value and ultimate potential. In addition to Chimacum School

District’s educational staff members, the ongoing generosity of DigitalLife has provided the opportunity for Mrs. Pratt and Mrs. McNulty to demonstrate the power of technology to students and their families. They say the District’s goal has been “to promote academic achievement in the educational setting while encouraging students to be self-advocates and independent learners. We want to help create the mindset that each student can understand their academic strengths and challenges and know what assistive technology tool best meets their needs.”

The power and gifts of monetary donations that DigitalLife provides allows the Chimacum Special and General Education Programs to be innovative and forward thinking. The Speech and Occupational Therapy Departments are always looking for the next powerful technology tool to support students, and they thank DigitalLife and the greater Port Ludlow community for the opportunity to be academic leaders in the assistive technology arena.

If you want to make a difference in young lives while learning and enjoying a like-minded group, consider Port Ludlow DigitalLife Computer and Photography Club, pldigitallife.org (PLDL). The Club is seeking new members who want to help bring fresh ideas and expand the group’s knowledge base. All are welcome.

New Maps for Hikers and Bikers

by Soozie Darrow, Trails Scribe

Separate maps of the Port Ludlow trails are now available online for hikers and bikers. Thanks to John Fillers for spending many hours creating them. They can be downloaded to your cell phone as an app or to your computer by going to the Port Ludlow Hiking Club website, portludlowhikingclub.com. Click on MAPS, then select the one you want to see. Paper copies will also be available soon, thanks to Port Ludlow Associates’ marketing department.

The Port Ludlow trails were originally built for hikers, but the Trails/Natural Resources Committee has selected some that are wide enough to accommodate both hikers and bikers safely. If you are a biker or a parent of a biker, please be sure that only those trails specifically designated for biking are used for that purpose. Trail courtesy is of the essence!

Also, Dog Walkers: Please do not forget to pick up after your pet, and take the doggie bag home with you for proper disposal.

Summer is Coming, Be Prepared for the Burn Ban!

by Brad Martin, PLFR Chief

As we approach the summer months, we enter dynamic weather and fire conditions. As you are aware, our weather is unpredictable and can change from warm and sunny to raining in short order. This can cause confusion in the status of the fire danger and burning conditions. To alleviate some confusion, here is some information that may help.

The Jefferson County Fire Chiefs have all agreed to follow the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) burn ban status. There is a great deal of science and expertise that goes into the determination of fire danger that we, Jefferson County Fire Chiefs, do not have the expertise or resources to make.

The burn ban begins July 1 and goes through September 30, unless weather conditions dictate otherwise. The burn ban means there is no outdoor burning. That does not include barbeques, or small cooking fires. If the weather becomes hotter and dryer, we may elevate the burn ban. In recent years, this has included charcoal barbeques (dropping embers/disposal of hot coals), and all outdoor cooking fires. This determination, again, comes from the DNR. We try to make this as well-known as we can, but getting the word out is not always easy in our area. So, if you see signage go up along the roadways, know that you may need to make some inquiries as to what the restrictions include. This can be done by calling us here at the Fire Station, 360-437-2236 (note: adding the prefix “1” is going to be a new requirement by the phone companies in July), or you can go to our website, plfr.org, or DNR’s website dnr.wa.gov/burn-bans where you can track the status and conditions of the burn ban.

I hope our summer brings us plenty of enjoyable weather, so we can enjoy the beauty that surrounds us. I am always available to anyone who would like to contact me at 360-437-2236 or via email at bmartin@plfr.org (formerly brad.martin@plfr.org).

Everyone is invited to hear him speak at the Beach Club, 121 Marina View Drive Port Ludlow on Saturday, August 12, from 10:00 a.m. to noon. Please reserve your seats early by signing up at the Beach Club’s front desk or by calling Peggy at 360-437-9935.

YMCA Summer Meals and Literacy Program

by Barbara Berthiaume, Contributing Writer

The YMCA of Jefferson County Free Summer Meals and Literacy Program for children and youth begins on Monday, June 26, continuing at Chimacum Elementary for eight weeks until Friday, August 18, and after that at Jefferson County Recreation Center until September 1. Snacks and lunches will be prepared and served at the Chimacum site, as well as delivered to schools in Brinnon, Quilcene, Mountain View Commons, the Recreation Center in Port Townsend, and the Jefferson County Library in Port Hadlock.

This program offers free nutritious meals to help address food insecurity in Jefferson County, and provides academic enrichment to lessen the summer learning gap for families who may not otherwise afford summer camp activities. Volunteers are needed in Chimacum for the food preparation from 8:00 – 11:00 a.m. and the literacy program from 9:00 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. If you are able to help out, contact the YMCA coordinator at volunteer@olympicpeninsulaymca.org or call the YMCA office at 360-385-5811. This is a great activity and a very worthy cause.

Quilts for Haiti

by Susie Marshall

Quilts for Haiti.

Hope in Haiti is a local organization that supports schools and churches in central Haiti. Each February, a small group of people from Western Washington hike into the mountains of Haiti to visit and encourage the church and school in the community of Kawo. The student's teeth are treated with fluoride, their educational progress is checked, they are photographed for their sponsors, and given some supplies. Kawo is a group of subsistence farming families without electricity whose only water comes from the stream, and all supplies come by foot and mules.

This past March Dixie Montgomery and Susie Marshall from Port Ludlow also brought materials to make a quilt for a woman who had recently lost her husband. About 23 women from the community worked to create the quilt, totally by hand. They created the one in the picture and were very proud of their accomplishment. As they were finishing it, they asked if we would bring enough materials next year to make three quilts. They said there were two treadle sewing machines in the area (within a two-hour walk), and they would try to get them fixed by next February. These mountains are often cold and windy, so a quilt is a highly valued possession.

We told the women we would try to bring enough material for three quilts. So now, we are wondering if anyone has fabric remnants or scraps they would like to contribute to this project. The Haitian people love bright colors, and most of the fabrics we used this year were cotton. Please let me know if you would like to contribute, or if you would like to help me prepare the materials next January. Thank you so much. Susie Marshall 425-770-3897. Community Meetings

Save Your Books and Media for CEA's Annual Sale!

The Community Enrichment Alliance (CEA) Book and Media Sale will be held on Saturday, September 2, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Beach Club in Port Ludlow.

We always welcome volunteers and donations for this fundraiser. You may bring your books, puzzles, games, and media items to the Beach Club on Friday, September 1, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The proceeds from this sale go into CEA's Educational Fund. This year, CEA gave three $1,000 scholarships to graduating Chimacum High School Seniors. Requests for funding other educational programs are considered on an "as needed" basis.

For further information or to volunteer, call Terra Girard at 360-437-8062.

Ho'olaulea (Hawaiian for a "Party")

The Port Ludlow Hawaiian Club is planning a ho'olaulea for Sunday, July 23 at the Bay Club from 12:30 – 4:00 p.m. Why? Because we like to party, and we want to honor Bernie and Robbie Robinson for their many, many years of tireless work on behalf of the community.

Please bring a potluck dish to share, your own beverage, and place setting. Coffee and tea will be available. Wear Hawaiian attire if you wish.

There will be music and dancing and good friends. Everyone is invited.

So that we know how many to plan for, please sign up at the Bay Club, and indicate the food item that you will be bringing. Call or email Bev Rothenborg at 360-437-0505 or bevrothenborg@broadstripe.net. for further information.

Port Ludlow Garden Club

At 11:00 a.m., Wednesday, July 12, Garden Club member Margo Elton will be hosting members and guests at her lovely home for a luncheon social. This is a great way to network, relax, share garden tips, and meet other garden club members.

Join us in socializing with your neighbor gardeners. The Social will begin with a meet and greet; sign-in will start at 11:00 a.m. Beverages will be available during the social time, with a buffet lunch to follow. The lunch will be catered by Chef Santschi of Port Ludlow; this will be an outdoor event. The buffet lunch is $25 and includes your choice of entrée, dessert, and beverage. A reservation form will be emailed to members with the address and directions. Please complete the reservation form and mail your entrée choice and check to Port Ludlow Garden Club, Post Office Box 65235, Port Ludlow, WA 98365.

If you have questions, contact Frances at 360-437-0701, or email her at portludlowgardenclub@gmail.com.

If you are not a member, please consider renewing your membership, or become a member by joining the Garden Club. Membership annual dues are $20.

Stamping and Paper Arts

Our focus this month is watercolor painting. This "back by demand" demonstration, given by member Pamela Raine, was originally scheduled in May, but had to be rescheduled for July. Meet at the Beach Club on Wednesday, July 19, from 10:00 a.m. to noon. Pamela will show us, in another "hands on" class, how to use wet-on-wet to create dreamy sunsets, use Q-tips to create flawless lilacs and butterfly bushes, and use a dry brush to create gorgeous poppies.

Bring an inexpensive box of watercolor paints; for example, a set of 24 colors, about $5 at Walmart. If you want, bring good quality brushes and watercolor paper (cold press is best). If you don't want to purchase brushes, Pamela will bring some you can use. When the painting is completed, the watercolor paper can be cut to size to fit your cardstock and glued on top of it. This is yet another wonderful medium to further enhance your creativity in handmade greeting cards.

Bring your show-and-tell items to share, and gently used stamps and supplies you wish to donate or sell at a reduced price.

The Big Shot meeting will be held on Wednesday, July 26, at the Fire Station in Port Ludlow from 10:00 a.m. to noon. Bring embossing folders, die cuts, and new ideas you'd like to demonstrate and share with others.

PL Digital Life Smart Phone Presentation

There are many of us that have smart phones and primarily use them to talk and text. We don't realize that they are also quality cameras. You have your phone with you just about everywhere you go. This gives you multiple opportunities to save a lot of memories and even do some serious photography work. On July 10, Rick York, a long-time photographer from Port Townsend will discuss how he has adapted to the new smart phone technology. Rick will be discussing and showing "Apple iPhone camera + Hipstamatic photography application = fun and amazing photography." Bring your smart phones, both Apple and Android, and see what you can learn. The presentation will be part of the regularly scheduled Digital Life photo editing special interest session on July 10 at 10:00 a.m. at the Bay Club. Everyone is welcome. See you there.

Out to Lunch with CEA

The Community Enrichment Alliance (CEA) invites the community to join them for a unique experience. On Thursday, July 20, at 11:30 a.m., we will be dining at Moctezuma Restaurant in the Kitsap Mall. There are two things you should know about this restaurant: this is not your usual "mall" restaurant, nor is it your typical Mexican restaurant. The ambiance is impressive, and the food is fresh and plentiful. The staff strives to bring a new and modern approach to the cuisine while utilizing family recipes. To top it off, it's coupled with excellent service.

Reservations must be made with Pat Lohrey at 360-437-7760, or at pntlohrey@cablespeed.com by Monday, July 17. Separate checks will be available.

Free Movie Night!

The July free movie at the Bay Club is on Tuesday, July 18. Doors open at 5:00 p.m., and the film, Walk the Line (the Johnny Cash story), starts at 5:30 p.m.

Again, popcorn will be provided. Attendees may bring their own non-alcoholic beverages and, if they wish, snacks to share. All Port Ludlow folk are welcome at no charge. Attendees also may enter our 50/50 raffle. The winner is drawn at intermission and takes home half the pot!

Senior Singles Luncheon

Singles, you will surely relish this outing. We will meet on Monday, July 10, noon, at Mrs. Muir's House, a new restaurant at 32199 Rainier Avenue NE, in Port Gamble.

You will definitely enjoy the food. The cake is prepared by a professional baker. Not only is it a work of art, but just try to eat one whole piece!

The restaurant seats a maximum of 22 people, so sign up with Peggy at 360-437-9935 by Monday, July 3, for your reservation. Please remember to wear your name tag!

Men's Book Club

We will meet at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 19. Our meeting place is the conference room at the Bay Club.

Members will share thoughts about their current reading and possibly decide on a book for everyone to read.

We are eager for new members. Please call Brian Cullen at 206-910-1075 or Ken Thomas at 360-437-7906 for more information.

Concerts in the Barn Quilcene Expands to Five Free Weekends

by Suzanne Michaels, Guest Writer

Concert in the Barn.

Alan Iglitzin, the man who founded the Olympic Music Festival in 1984, has chamber music in his blood. He eats, dreams, and breathes chamber music. Always has. From the time before he was the founding violist of the Philadelphia String Quartet to now, it's always been chamber music. Iglitzin has expanded this summer's season of Concerts in the Barn to five weekends of chamber music, from Saturday, August 12 through Saturday, September 9 – the most magical time of year on the Olympic Peninsula.

World-renowned musicians will travel from all corners of the globe to their “home away from home” at the Iglitzin Farm. “It’s such a joy to perform here,” says Korine Fujiwara, violist of the Carpe Diem Quartet. “The barn seems to attract the warmest, most appreciative audiences in the world.”

“It is a delight to welcome our guests to the farm, see old friends, and make new ones,” says Iglitzin, who’s performed in the barn for more than 30 years. “There is nothing more fulfilling than listening to spectacular chamber music in this unique setting.”

Concert goers are encouraged to come early to reserve their seats in the barn and to picnic on the grounds before the performances. The grounds will open at 11:00 a.m., doors to the Barn open at 1:00 p.m., and the music begins at 2:00 p.m.

This summer, Concerts in the Barn will partner again with Finnriver Cidery, which will sell its award-winning, hand-crafted hard ciders on concert days. Finnriver beverages will be available by the glass in the milking shed. All proceeds from Finnriver cider sales are donated to help support Jefferson County Youth and Family Music programs.

Details about the season, with information about the performers and the music, will be available in the August issue of the Voice, or visit concertsinthebarn.org.

A Performance of Neil Simon's Comedy Chapter Two

by Beth Ely, Guest Writer

Our little production team, which has previously presented Mornings at Seven, The Price, and The Cemetery Club, is growing up. We have decided that we need a real name other than just "Play Readers of Port Ludlow." So, to avoid any confusion in the future, we have decided to call ourselves Bare Bones Productions, to honor our stripped-down homages to playwrights' words as we present staged readings for the enjoyment of our audiences. As a new theater group, we are always looking for suggestions for theatrical pieces the community might like to see produced. We also invite people with directing experiences, who might want to direct a show of their own, to contact us.

Next up on our calendar, we would like to offer Chapter Two, a comedy by Neil Simon. Widower George is having trouble moving on after his wife's death and then he meets Jennie, a newly divorced actress. A whirlwind romance and wedding ensue, but then remembrances of their past relationships and loves get in the way.

Performances will be at 6:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, July 14 and 15 at The Beach Club. Tickets are $9 at the door with complementary wine Contact: Bare Bones Productions: Beth Ely belymom@gmail.com or Peter Ely Peter.ely@gmail.com. Telephone 828-367-7794.

Shakespeare in the Park

by Bev Rothenborg, Arts and Entertainment Editor

In the summertime, the Bard of Avon reigns supreme when local theaters perform his works in our gorgeous park settings. I've watched the Jewel Box Theatre (JBT) actors perform at Waterfront Park in Poulsbo in heavy woolen Elizabethan costumes in 85+ degree weather. The audience sat comfortably on lawn chairs enjoying our picnics, the waterfront, and the sunset. At Chetzemoka Park in Port Townsend, the actors from Key City Public Theatre (KCPT) had a great time while we enjoyed their antics and the beauty of the surroundings—the waterfront and boats below, colored by the setting sun, surrounded by trees, and the happy crowd around us. It was magical!

Bainbridge Performing Arts will transform the Bloedel Reserve's meadow into the Windsor forest when they perform The Merry Wives of Windsor. These performances take place on Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays from July 7 – 23, all at 7:00 p.m. Gates open at 6:00 p.m. There will be a pay-what-you-can preview performance on Thursday, July 6. For further information, call 206-842-8569 or go to bainbridgeperformingarts.org.

The JBT will be performing The Comedy of Errors on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays from July 14 - 29, all at 7:30 p.m. On Sundays, the performances will be at a beautiful Poulsbo park. This comedy is one of Shakespeare's most farcical plays with slapstick antics, mistaken identities, and much mayhem. Go to jewelboxpoulsbo.org or call 360-697-3183.

After several seasons of comedies, KCPT will be presenting a history play, Henry IV – Part 1. Action-packed and comedic, with massive battles and intimate family drama, warriors, barflies, royals and buffoons, this promises to be an exhilarating evening in Chetzemoka Park. Performances are on Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays from August 4 - 27, all at 6:00 p.m. Call 360-385-KCPT or go to keycitypublictheatre.org.

Sometimes someone will say to me, "I don't understand the language." It doesn't matter! You know what's happening by the onstage drama or comedy (or you could read the play beforehand). I don't understand every line, but I love the actors' enthusiasm, the settings, and all the ambiance of the moment.

Guess who said, "Heaven give you many, many merry days!"

Kitsap Forest Theater

by Bev Rothenborg, Arts and Entertainment Editor

Take a walk back in time at the Kitsap Rhododendron Preserve where the Mountaineers Foundation presents two plays each summer on their 460-acre nature conservancy, with over 70 acres of old-growth forest. One of the biggest trees on the Kitsap Peninsula is located on the preserve.

Washed up on the shores of West Africa, an infant boy is raised by gorillas, who name him Tarzan. His life has been spent learning the ways of the jungle, until he befriends a young naturalist named Jane. Then, Tarzan struggles to navigate between two worlds. Performances of Tarzan, the musical based on the Disney film, will be performed on Saturdays and Sundays, July 29 and 30, August 5 and 6, August 12 and 13, and August 19 and 20, all at 2:00 p.m.

The quarter-mile trail to the performance location transports you to a magical place, where stories have come to life for the past 87 years. Instead of curtains or lights, there are singing birds and a sun-dappled stage. Giant old-growth firs surround the stage, while cedar bark and living moss cover the "wing walls." Seating is carved out of the side of a natural amphitheater. The trail opens at 1:00 p.m. It is recommended that you arrive there early. If you are not able to hike the trail to the venue, a mini-bus escorts people.

Before or after the performance, you can hike the trail to "Big Tree." It is about half a mile long, and starts near the historic Kitsap Cabin, ending at one of the 10 largest Douglas fir trees in the world. The hike takes you on a bridge over Wildcat Creek, with views of Hidden Valley, blooming trillium, wild rhododendrons, and many other native trees and plants. Wear walking shoes! There is a wonderful playground, with a treehouse and other enticements, for kids to let off steam after quietly behaving during the performance.

Go to ForestTheater.com for more information and to purchase tickets. The address to this venue is 200 Seabeck Highway, Bremerton. The phone number is 206-521-6001, and the office is open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Two Local Artists Share the Limelight in July

Scenes of Puget Sound are captured in brush-strokes by artist Steve Hammond, Port Ludlow Artists' League (PLAL) Artist of the Month. A native of San Francisco, he graduated from the University of Oregon before joining the USAF and becoming a fighter pilot. He retired from the financial services sector before he and his wife settled in Port Ludlow in 2015.

Hammond has been involved with art in one form or another all his life, from drawing to designing bas-relief sculpture to painting, and, basically, is self-taught. His preferred medium is acrylic, and the Puget Sound provides a plethora of topics, mostly involving water and fog. He paints realistic pictures with an impressionistic touch “allowing the viewer to feel emotion, curiosity or contemplation. There are no deep messages, no anger; just expressive paintings of landscapes, boats, and structures.” His paintings have the quality of softness around the edges, inviting the viewer to get lost in a gentler view of our world.

Hammond’s paintings have been exhibited and sold at shows in Arizona, Panama, and Washington. His current artworks are shown locally at the League Gallery and The Inn At Port Ludlow.

July brings the bold colors of summer – clear skies, flowers in full bloom, fireworks on the Fourth. Sharon Zabloney, PLAL’s Jeweler of the Month, captures the essence of those happy colors in her glass lamp-worked beads. She had worked in silver and copper, but found her love of all things bright and colorful wasn’t being satisfied. At a bead show, she discovered lamp-worked beads and an artist who taught the process. She “fell in love with the beads and the magical process for turning a few sticks of glass into an exciting bead.”

Zabloney has taken courses from a number of well-known artists who introduced her to a group of lampwork artists that meet yearly for four days, sharing their skills and techniques with each other. The energy of being in a group of accomplished artists is invigorating and inspiring.

As she says, “Some days I just go out and play with my torch to see what happens!” Her end results go into breathtaking jewelry - truly wearable art. Watch for her new beautiful beads and jewelry at the Artists’ League Gallery and at The Inn At Port Ludlow.

All are invited to the League’s Second Wednesday Reception on July 12, to meet these artists and enjoy their artwork: the Lobby of Sound Community Bank from 4:00 - 4:45 p.m., and next door, the Gallery celebration is from 4:00 - 6:00 p.m. The Bank and the Gallery are located at the corner of Oak Bay Road and Osprey Ridge Drive. More information can be obtained by contacting League President, Claudia Wicks, email claudiawicks@msn.com or phone 206-351-2414. Enjoy the summer weather and the long days with the Artists’ League!

Craft Shows, Art Walks, and Gallery Exhibits

June 29 through July 30: Showcase Artist of the Month at the Northwind Arts Center, 701 Water Street, in Port Townsend, will feature paintings by artist Linda Tilley, a Northwest native and longtime resident of Port Townsend. Inspiration for her jazz series was a recent trip to New Orleans, a city that lives and breathes music. In contrast, her calmer series of boats and reflections represents the lazy, laid back rhythm of boating after the work and fun has subsided. June 29, the exhibit opens. July 1, 5:30 - 8:00 p.m., the opening reception and Art Walk. Exhibit hours are Thursday through Monday, 11:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m., Tuesday and Wednesday, Noon - 5:00 p.m. For more information, visit northwindarts.org or email showcase@northwindarts.org.

June 29 through July 30: Crazy Happy: Painted Scrolls by Rikki Ducornet and Sculpture by Margie McDonald, Northwind Exhibit Gallery, 701 Water Street, Port Townsend. Dreamed up by McDonald and Ducornet, Crazy Happy is all about chasing after this golden age of the mind, and giving free reign to the spontaneous production of a multitude of things. Animated conversation between Margie's marvelous sculptures, so beautiful, whimsical and erotic, and Ducornet's forests of painted paper scrolls, Crazy Happy is sparked as much by their friendship as by a complicitous and visually seductive reading of the world. June 29, 11:30 a.m., the exhibit opens. July 1, 5:30 to 8:00 p.m., opening reception during Art Walk. July 2, 1:00 p.m., Art Talk by Juror Jonathan Wood. July 30, 5:00 p.m., exhibit closes. The Port Ludlow Artists' League (PLAL) welcomes nationally-recognized painter, pastel artist, and teacher Susan Ogilvie to their Wednesday, July 19, 1:00 p.m. program and meeting at the Port Ludlow Beach Club.

Ms. Ogilvie's artwork is a dynamic blend of exquisite color and compelling composition. She works both plein air and in the studio. Most of her art begins outdoors with her sketchbook where she explores shapes and values – all ideas of how to express the sense of place. In the studio, she continues her artistic adventure by further developing her composition and exploring color relationships. She describes her process as "all about exploration and discovery. The process is about listening, letting go, learning something new, and enjoying the ride." Her work may be viewed at susanogilvie.com.

Guests are welcome to attend for a $5 fee, which goes to the Chimacum Schools Art Scholarship Fund. For more information, contact Patricia Webber, PLAL program chair, at 2pw@gmx.com.

Port Ludlow Village Council

Village Council (PLVC) Report

by Linda Karp, Contributing Writer

Bill Dean called the June 1 meeting to order at 3:00 p.m. in the Bay Club. Secretary Huber declared a quorum. Other directors present were Nilssen, Mac Dearmid, Nobles, and Umbreit. South Bay Community Association (SBCA) President Skinner was present.

Community Reports

Jefferson County: Jefferson County Commissioner Kathleen Kler announced that they had interviewed candidates for Civil Services Director. The choice will be announced later.

There have been many “glitches” on the web site and much frustration with IT and the update of the web site.

They are working on the Budget in a collaborative way with the Department Heads in discussions of priorities. The County is in a death spiral because of the one percent cap on taxes. It is impossible to keep up with inflation. They are looking at a one percent lift for the schools.

Affordable housing is an always-present problem in Jefferson County. As an aside, she reported that Quilcene is looking for housing for a new Principal.

Defense for the indigent is always a problem, with the State providing only four percent of the funding for it. There were two audience comments supporting more money for public safety.

Bill Dean asked how the Federal Government situation will impact us. Health Care was her first thought. “The sole effect will fall on the counties. Washington State has a lot of federal lands, which we can’t tax, so we are to receive federal money to compensate. It is shrinking or even late in being paid.”

Gil Skinner thanked the County for the work on Teal Lake Road and for Lakeway Industries’ good work. Commissioner Kler reminded the group that all bids are sealed; it’s a very competitive process.

Sheriff David Stanko reported that a Professional Staffing Study showed that his office needs more officers to cover the Peninsula. There are great needs in Health, the Sheriff’s Office, and the Jail which on an average holds 43 - 47 offenders.

The Sheriff responded to the report of a home invasion in Port Ludlow while the family was out of town. This report was read by residents on Nextdoor Port Ludlow. Port Ludlow resident Janice Chamberlain reported a lack of response from the Sheriff’s Department after the original visit following her home invasion. The Sheriff said there was no excuse. Sheriff’s Department Assistant Art Frank said the department will increase training to cover this issue. The case, now top priority, will be given to a detective to pursue. Ms Chamberlain suggested that Port Ludlow residents should be made aware that such activities were happening in their Village. Sheriff Stanko reported that it does happen, but that there had been only 6 such robberies in the County in 2016/17. He also volunteered to come to Port Ludlow Village Council (PLVC) meetings on a monthly basis and to make further information available to the Voice and the Leader. He alerted the group to the department’s Neighborhood Watch program for homeowners who are out of town.

David Greetham, Jefferson County Department of Community Development Planning Manager, began his career in King County, but spent 27 years in Kitsap County. He reported that there are seven planners on his team here, with half working on the Comprehensive Plan. Current plans focus on: aquaculture, water dependent use, mining, and remodeling.

The Comprehensive Plan will start in July with a Blueprint for Growth that will be updated every eight years to determine how much growth has been made. Look to the web site SpeakupJeffersonCounty.com for the plan as it is developed.

The sewer plan in the Tri-Area is a hindrance to the area. A plan is being worked on to make the sewer a reality. The one-step permit process will make development easier, but we are not there yet. Development regulations are being studied for Black Point Master Planned Resort (MPR).

Port Ludlow Associates (PLA)

Diana Smeland reported that the Jefferson Healthcare building is being painted inside. The open part at the bottom of the building is employee parking; handicap parking is up above. PLA will be increasing employees by 160 for the Summer Season.

Council Business and Committee Reports

Bill Dean introduced Randy Deering, the new President of Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC). He reported that they were planning for the coming year and looking at improvements to the Beach Club. The outdoor pool is open.

County Planning

Bill Dean moved, and it was seconded, approval of their recommendations to County Planning group on the MPR, tree cutting, etc. Current recommendations will not take effect until 2025. The motion passed.

Treasurer’s Report

Nilssen gave the Treasurer’s Report. The savings and short-term investment is $11,018.61; cash in bank is $18,593.76, for an ending balance of $29,612.37.

Nilssen made a motion to accept a CD renewal rate of 1.05 percent. It was moved, seconded, and passed, and the Treasurer’s Report was accepted.

Secretary’s Report

Secretary Huber made a motion to approve the May Minutes as amended. The motion was seconded and passed.

Community Welcome

Bill Dean spoke in support of the Community Welcome Event. Nilssen requested the entities, SBCA, LMC, and PLVC, be billed equally. It was approved.

Communications

Caleb Summerfelt will present the web site and archives at the PLVC Workshop Meeting.

Community Development

For Dave Jurca, Bill Dean reported that the committee will be discussing what we will do when PLA leaves: the plans for the Open Space Reserve (OSR), and better coverage in the Peninsula Daily News.

Movie Night

The local businesses are supporting this activity, and PLVC will have a booth. The hours will be from 4:00 - 10:00 p.m. There will be activities before, as the movie will not begin until dark. A motion was made that PLVC authorize $500 for this event. It was seconded and passed with one abstention.

Emergency Management

The County’s Emergency Management Brochures were shown and discussed. It was decided that we should just use the same brochures. A motion was made, seconded, and passed to do so. An additional motion was made to put the brochure on the web site for the residents to read. It passed.

Block Captain Support

Bill Dean said that Block Captains need to be revitalized with an event. He made a motion for PLVC to authorize $500 to support this event. It was seconded and passed.

Red Cross Training

Gail Chanpong, professionally trained in Red Cross courses, is available for CPR classes. The group discussed publicity, cost, and dates. The idea was tabled to collect more information.

Elections

Larry Nobles asked that the Board consider actions for the upcoming County elections for Hospital Board and Chimacum School Board.

Secretary Huber then moved the Board to Executive Session.

The next meetings of the PLVC are displayed in the accompanying box. All Port Ludlow residents are invited to attend PLVC Meetings and participate in village governance.

LMC in Action

by Sally Orsborn, LMC Secretary

Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) committees are now in full swing. New and returning members were approved at the May meeting of the Board of Trustees. These active committees fuel our association through personal time and energy, helping to keep our yearly fees low. Talk about a generous human-powered sustainability effort!

We anticipate that the proposed Rules and Regulations will arrive soon from the Barker-Martin attorneys after their vetting. Following committee perusal and member introduction, the document is to be approved by the Board. A new system of unifying LMC Policies and Procedures is underway, too, with the Covenants and Regulations Committee taking the lead.

No report on the Board would be complete without an update on the Strategic Plan. The Board is now refining the top six goals from the member survey and setting objectives for implementation. There will be need for many volunteers to come forward as we move toward a potential Beach Club remodel and make plans for a really big birthday celebration. LMC will be 50 years old in 2018!

In May, Communications Committee Chair Sue Milner put out a request for volunteers to assist with LMC's Facebook page. Posting items on the page would require about 30 minutes per month. Should you have an interest in helping with this project, please leave your name and contact information at the Beach Club office. The committee also plans to publish Navigator items of interest to members, such as information about remodel and construction. Another communications project is the development of an expanded package of information for new homeowners.

If you have a yen to see any of the LMC committees in action, all meetings are open to our membership, as are the meetings of the Board of Trustees. A number of social events are planned for summer, too. There is no requirement to take part in any of these efforts, but they are here for you.

Update from the Manager

by Brian Belmont, General Manager

Over the past couple of years, the two master homeowner associations, Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) and South Bay Community Association (SBCA), have made a concerted effort to plan events that both North Bay and South Bay members can participate in together. This year, SBCA has hosted cocktail parties and movie nights that were open to North Bay residents as well as their South Bay members.

On Sunday, July 30, LMC will again host the community picnic that will be held on the Beach Club lawn from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. LMC will provide the hamburgers, hotdogs, beer, wine, and other refreshments. We ask that attendees bring a side dish to share. Disposable plates and eating utensils will be provided.

We will have picnic tables and benches setup on the lawn, but you may want to bring your favorite lawn chair just in case we run out of seating.

Last year's event was a big success with nearly 200 attendees on a beautiful sunny day. This year we hope to exceed that mark. So, mark your calendar now, and please RSVP your respective club by Monday, July 17, so we can determine how much food is needed. If it rains we will move the event inside to the Bay View room of the Beach Club.

In other Beach Club news, LMC recently "top coated" a portion of the Beach Club lawn with new top soil and had it hydro-seeded to level the walking surface in areas where we hold many of our outdoor events.

Last but certainly not least, I would like to thank the Port Ludlow Community for their incredible support during my wife Patty's long battle with Multiple Sclerosis. Patty, my wife of 33 years, passed on April 30 which, as you can imagine, turned my life upside down. However, the love and support this wonderful community showed me and my family during our darkest hours has been amazing. I don't have the words to say how much that support meant to me. All I can say is thank you!!

As always, if you have questions or comments about this article or the on-going work at the Beach Club, I can be reached at 360-437-9201 or by email at beachclub@olympus.net.

Port Ludlow Drainage District - Outfall Inspection

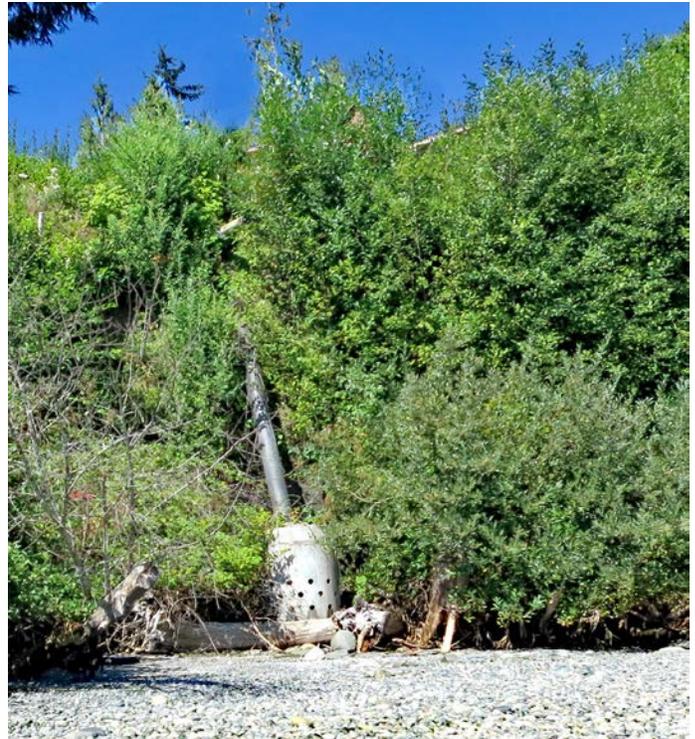

Two significant projects the Port Ludlow Drainage District (PLDD) has completed are the Libby Court Outfall and the Pope Way Outfall. These projects were undertaken to minimize the potential for erosion and failure of the high bluff on the east side of the District from failing metal culverts that previously discharged at the top of the bank.

The District completed the Libby Court Outfall in 2004. The district installed a 30-inch diameter storm pipe from Montgomery Lane to a concrete diffuser structure located on the beach. The pipe transitions from underground to above ground at the face of the bluff.

Libby Court Outfall.

The Pope Way Outfall was installed in 2007. This project involved slip lining of an existing culvert located on private property from Condon Lane to the top of the bluff, and installation of a new 14-inch outfall which extends above ground down the face of the bluff to a diffuser structure located on the beach.

Pope Way Outfall.

Submitted photos

The District Commissioner(s) and engineering consultant take a walk up the beach annually to review the condition of the outfalls. This year's inspection was conducted on May 23 during a low tide. The outfalls are in good condition and functioning properly.

A complete review of this report will be presented at PLDD's regular meeting on Thursday, July 13, at 10:00 a.m. in the Meeting Room of the Port Ludlow Fire Hall. Everyone is invited to attend.

Architectural Control Committee

Meetings of the Architectural Control Committee (ACC) are held on the second and fourth Monday of each month. ACC forms are available at the front desk of the Beach Club for new house construction, tree removal, additions, paint color, greenhouses, etc. To facilitate a timely review of any request, please submit your respective ACC form and back-up documents to the Beach Club front desk by the first or third Thursday of the month for review and placement on the agenda for the next meeting. This will allow adequate time for ACC members to review the request and make site visits where necessary. An exception is made for hazardous trees.

North Bay Beach Concerts

The North Bay Lot Owner's Association (NBLOA) will present the last two of the planned summer concerts at the Beach Club lawn on Thursday evenings, August 17 and August 24, from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. Port Ludlow's own Timbre Tones Trio will be performing August 17; the band for August 24 has not yet been announced. Due to scheduling difficulties, there will be no concert in July. Jumbo hot dogs with chips and drinks will be available for a $5 contribution per person to offset the band's fees.

Bring your own beach blankets and lawn chairs, plus any food and beverages you might like. Everyone is welcome to participate in the fun, connect with friends and neighbors, and enjoy the gorgeous views. For more information, contact Bryan Diehl at 360-437-0602.

SBCA Meeting Highlights

by Judy Thomas, Bay Club Editor

President Gil Skinner called the meeting of the South Bay Community Association (SBCA) to order at 9:30 a.m. on Friday, June 9. All directors were present.

Skinner welcomed attendees and described the meeting protocol. The agenda and the minutes of the previous meeting were approved.

Brian Belmont, General Manager of the Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC), invited members of the South Bay community to join with their North Bay neighbors for a community barbecue on Sunday, July 30, at 2:00 p.m. A poster advertising this event will be in the Bay Club lobby.

Reports from Jefferson County Executives

Kathleen Kler provided an update about county staffing issues. She warned of potential dire circumstances if the state legislature could not come to an agreement about budget issues. Funding for Jefferson County could be in jeopardy, which would affect badly needed services like public health and safety. She suggested that citizens call their legislators to make sure their concerns are considered.

She also noted that the county is functioning with about 10 percent fewer employees than prior to the recession and that their budget is very tight. In addition, the county must negotiate with seven different unions.

Kler was asked about the possibility of an extraction tax but admitted she knew little about this issue and would look into it.

For those who would like more information about county budget issues there is a Washington State County website to provide additional information.

The question was raised about how the county is trying to develop additional commercial activity to increase tax revenue. The Hadlock area is considered to have development potential, but restrictions on the current sewer system prevent such development and increasing that sewer system would create a huge burden for tax payers in the area.

A question was raised about taxation on the marijuana outlets in the area, but those funds go to the state.

David Wayne Johnson spoke about the requirement to update the comprehensive growth plan by June of 2018. His final draft should be ready by the end of this month. A new website with plan details will be available in a month or so and meetings will be held to solicit community opinion. The general goal of the plan is to prevent sprawl and concentrate density.

Sheriff Stanko stated that his budget is controlled by the state, and his is the largest budget in the county – 6.8 million dollars, and that amount provides for too few deputies to provide adequate coverage to the county. In addition to salaries, he must provide food and health care for all the jail occupants each day.

Stanko would like to provide community policing utilizing the guardianship model. He answered questions from the audience and said Port Ludlow has had 6 burglaries in 17 months. He suggested that residents call his office to let them know when they will be out of town so that a sheriff's vehicle could drive by the area periodically.

It is anticipated that we will have $236,000 in reserves by next July.

First Friday - Marrowstone Island History

Marrowstone Island historian Karen Russell will be the speaker at the Jefferson County Historical Society's First Friday on July 7 at 7:00 p.m. Russell is the author of Marrowstone, which she co-wrote with fellow islander Jeanne Bean.

The book began as a small project to discover the history of the Nordland Garden Club, which Russell had joined after settling on the island in 1973 when her husband left the Navy.

"I was the program chairman, and I thought it would be interesting to find out the history of the club, because I was a new member to the community. I couldn't find very much information on the island," said Russell.

The lack of information available to Russell was overcome by interviewing charter members of the garden club. Because the club was founded in 1937, many of the charter members were still very much alive and had interesting stories to tell. The history Russell compiled of the club was so well received that she decided to continue researching and assembling a short history of the island. Jeanne Bean, another island newcomer, volunteered to help with the project.

The short history kept growing as Russell and Bean searched courthouse records, conducted interviews, and looked through early editions of the Port Townsend newspaper, The Leader. Two and a half years later, they published Marrowstone.

The book was published in 1978, but Russell is still gathering Marrowstone Island history. "You can't help but research sometimes," said Russell, who continues to collect oral histories of the island with the Jefferson County Historical Society.

Russell will reveal some of the stories of Marrowstone Island in her lecture on July 7, stories of isolated women, fun festivals, the fight for the bridge, and even a murder. The lecture is at the Jefferson Museum of Art & History, 540 Water St., Port Townsend. There is a $5 suggested donation.

Chamber Organizes July 4 Celebration

On Independence Day, the Jefferson County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor “Old School” July Fourth community celebration at Fort Worden State Park. The event, in its third year, promises to have something for everyone. Admittance is free. An event of particular interest is the International Tug of War Championship, sponsored by Aquor Water Systems, and the American Legion Hall. The contest begins at 6:00 p.m. and carries a $1,000 grand prize. Other features include free root beer floats, organized by the Kiwanis Club, miniature golf, offered by Jonathan Bakin, a 50/50 raffle, and much more.

The Old School Fourth is held in partnership with Thunderbull Productions, with the help of the City of Port Townsend, Fort Worden Public Development Authority, East Jefferson Fire and Rescue, Washington State Parks, and the Jefferson County Sheriff’s Department. First Security Bank will sponsor the fireworks. Additional support is provided by other sponsors and individual contributors. For more information, visit oldschool4th.com.

Jefferson Healthcare Upgrades Equipment

On June 3, 2017, Jefferson Healthcare Medical Center installed a state-of-the-art air handling unit to service the operating room suites. The new unit offers advanced filtration, temperature and humidity management, and uses ultraviolet light to kill bacteria. The modernized technology has been proven to reduce the risk of surgical infections, resulting in improved patient care, as well as energy conservation.

“This creates an environment that will allow us to provide the best possible surgical care for decades to come,” said Andrew Skipper, Director of Surgical Services at Jefferson Healthcare.

Chimacum Ridge Timber Tour

Join Jefferson Land Trust for a guided tour of Chimacum Ridge, Wednesday, July 12, from 10 a.m. - 12 p.m. Forests can produce wood, and remain green and healthy! Come and see low-impact forestry in action, and get a unique chance to explore Chimacum Ridge.

Chimacum Ridge is an 850-acre forest located between Center and Beaver Valleys, just south of Chimacum Crossroads. This is a working forest that has been clear-cut in the past. The Land Trust hopes to ensure massive clear-cuts don’t happen here again. They are working with a group of partners, including the land’s current owners, Ecotrust Forest Management, to turn Chimacum Ridge into a protected community forest.

As a community forest, there would be more local control of how the land is managed. There would be public access and trails, and decisions would be made with the goal of bringing economic, social, and environmental benefits to the local community.

“We envision a future where Chimacum Ridge helps make our community a better place to live for hundreds of years to come. Imagine public trails and gathering places looking out over the valleys below. Imagine selective timber harvests producing local wood for local markets – this can empower our community, the way local farms and food have. Imagine the certainty that a healthy and productive forest will remain forever on this iconic land – filtering the air we breathe and the water we drink, providing room for wildlife to roam, and preserving a central natural feature of the Chimacum landscape. It’s an inspiring vision,” said Erik Kingfisher, Stewardship Director at Jefferson Land Trust.

Meet Erik at the Chimacum Corner Farmstand, 9122 Rhody Drive, at the north side of the parking lot. Everyone is welcome. Wear sturdy shoes, appropriate for unpaved paths and uneven ground. There is no cost to attend, and no need to RSVP. Contact Jefferson Land Trust at info@saveland.org or 360-379-9501 if you have questions.

Places to Go: The Glines Canyon Overlook

by Linda Karp, Contributing Writer

I had read much about the removal of the dams on the Elwha River, but had never known how to get a view of the canyon. On Mother's Day, I was taken on a day trip beginning with a Brunch at Lake Crescent Inn. (It was delicious, I must mention). After brunch it was suggested we go to view the spot where the Glines Dam had been removed from the canyon. I was delighted with the thought. We traveled back out to Highway 101 and turned back toward Port Angeles. When we found Olympic Hot Springs Road, we turned right and drove to the end of the long road. There we discovered the Glines Dam Overlook. With the Elwha River restoration completed in the Elwha Valley, visitors have a new site from which to view the restoration and learn about its history. The Glines Canyon Overlook is wheelchair accessible and includes eight interpretive exhibits.

Perched on what was once the spillway of the Glines Canyon Dam, visitors can enjoy expansive views of the wide valley that formerly held the Lake Mills reservoir. Lake Mills formed when the Glines Canyon Dam was built between 1925 and 1927, flooding an area known at the time as Smokey Bottom. It is now a braided river. The overlook also gives people the chance to look down at the spectacular view of the Elwha's blue-green waters flowing through the 200-foot deep Glines Canyon. The overlook and surrounding area were designed and constructed by Olympic National Park employees.

On your drive back to 101, be sure to watch for Madison Falls on your right. It is a half mile walk on an asphalt trail with a very slight incline, to view these lovely 60-foot-high falls.

If you are looking for a road trip on a sunny day, this new viewpoint is a chance to enjoy the views, and to understand the history of the Elwha River.

Grace Christian Center
Solid, Spirit-Filled Bible Teaching

Grace Christian Center is celebrating its 15th year of serving our Lord Jesus here in the Olympic Peninsula. Planted in Port Ludlow, Grace Christian Center is a regional church, with people traveling from all over the County to worship with us. The Bible is our text book—we work hard to bring relevant teaching with an understanding of history, context, and current application in our very real and daily lives.

Grace Christian Center: Where we love Jesus first and foremost; where we love His Word and His presence; where we love His people, where your family can be a family in the presence of the Lord.

We invite you to worship with us Sunday mornings at 10.
