Beverly Browne.

This is a roses and raspberries column. My first bouquet goes to the Port Ludlow Village Council and the Port Ludlow realtors for sponsoring a reception to welcome newcomers to Port Ludlow and introducing them to the community and its organizations. It was enjoyable, informative and the food was super. Not all of the organizations were represented, but there was a good sampling and everyone met someone new.

I'd also like to extend a rose to everyone involved in educating Port Ludlow residents about the Metropolitan Park District (MPD) and the local park district. While acknowledging the importance of parks and the difficulty the county faces in funding them, the park district as proposed had insurmountable fairness issues. Due to public pressure, the MPD will not be on the ballot this November.

Roses go to all the service organizations and clubs in Port Ludlow, but particularly to the following: the Wellness Committee for sponsoring informative forums for residents and supporting healthful options for members of our community; the Trails Committee for extending and maintaining our trails system; and the Boeing Bluebills for programs that support elderly or less fortunate persons in the community.

Reaching out from Ludlow, big bunches of roses go to Barry C. Black, the former Navy rear admiral and Seventh-day Adventist chaplain who delivered a recent opening prayer to the senate. Black asked God to: "save us from the madness" (us meaning the 100 bowed heads before him). "We acknowledge our transgressions, our short-comings, our smugness, our selfishness and our pride. Deliver us from the hypocrisy of attempting to sound reasonable while being unreasonable." And so it has continued, scolding after scolding, in a baritone voice. Thank you, Mr. Black, for doing what we would like to do.

While I am at it, raspberries to all of those politicians who keep referring to "the American people" and what they want or don't want. Last time I looked, we were a pretty diverse population with wide differences of opinion.

I don't know about you, but I haven't received any calls soliciting my opinion on the state of the nation. If I do, I'm with Mr. Black – all except the forgiveness part. Even if they came up with a temporary fix for the current crisis, they put us through a lot.

Bald Eagles

by Bev Browne, Editor and Peggy Lee Flentie, Voice Photographer

There is nothing more thrilling than spotting a bald eagle, and in Port Ludlow we experience seeing these handsome birds. Sometimes they are soaring overhead; at other times they are incredibly close. They are our national bird and live in many parts of the United States, with a natural range that includes the continental US, most of Canada, and Mexico. It is the only sea eagle endemic to North America.

The bald eagle has been a threatened species, and in the 1950s, it was largely restricted to the Aleutian Islands, northern and eastern Canada, and Florida. Thanks to conservation efforts, eagles are more common today, nesting in every continental state and Canada. Partially migratory, eagles find the Pacific Northwest an attractive place to winter.

Bald eagles mature at four or five years of age. At that point the head feathers are white. When they are old enough to breed, they may return to the area where they were born. Bald eagles mate for life. However, if one member of a pair dies or disappears, the other will choose a new mate. A pair which has repeatedly failed in breeding attempts may split and look for new mates. Bald eagle courtship involves elaborate, spectacular calls and flight displays. The flight includes swoops, chases, and cartwheels, in which they fly high, lock talons, and free fall, separating just before hitting the ground. They are early breeders, often nesting in mid-February. The nests are the largest of any bird in North America and the pair may use it more than once, making adjustments and additions with each year.

Breeding takes place in wetland habitats such as seacoasts, rivers, large lakes, rivers and marshes. It typically requires old-growth and mature stands of trees for perching, roosting or nesting. Most nests are relatively close to open water. In Alaska, Sitka Spruce provide a preferred site; in the Pacific Northwest, eagles use the indigenous conifers. A breeding pair may produce up to seven eggs. About 50 percent of the eaglets will survive the first year.

The bald eagle is usually quite sensitive to human activity while nesting, and is found most commonly in areas with minimal human disturbance. Strangely, however, bald eagles occasionally venture into large estuaries or secluded groves within major cities, as they have in Portland, Oregon.

Bald eagles are powerful fliers, sometimes reaching 40 mph. Its dive speed is even faster between (75-99 mph). It seldom dives vertically. During migration, it may ascend in a thermal draft and then glide down. A carnivore, it can hunt a large variety of prey, although fish, especially spawning trout and salmon, comprise a large share of its diet in the Northwest. However, cats and small dogs should beware when an eagle is about, as should smaller birds. On Protection Island, eagles have been known to attack harbor seal pups.

To hunt fish, the eagle swoops down over the water and snatches the fish out of the water with its talons. They eat by holding the fish in one claw and tearing the flesh with the other. Eagles have structures on their toes called spicules that allow them to grasp fish. The talons are powerful and can carry creatures as large as fawns. Bald eagles can fly with fish at least equal to their own weight, but if the fish is too heavy to lift, the eagle may be dragged into the water. It may swim to safety, but some eagles drown or succumb to hypothermia. The average lifespan of bald eagles in the wild is around 20 years.

Are You a Sinkie?

by Mary Kletti, Contributing Writer

Thanksgiving always falls on the fourth Thursday of November, thanks to President Franklin Roosevelt. This year it falls on November 28. As you fight the tryptophan after all that turkey, think about what you might do the day after.

You could fight the crazies and go shopping. After all, it is Black Friday, one of the two busiest shopping days of the year (the other busiest shopping day is the day after Christmas). If the thought of getting up at 2:00 a.m. so you can get that bargain is appealing, then the retailers have reached their audience and you will be helping them climb out of the red for the year.

If, on the other hand, you're already tired of the commercialism of Christmas, then stay in your pajamas all day, because it's also Buy Nothing Day, a 24-hour moratorium on holiday shopping. It was created in 1992 by Ted Dave from Vancouver, Canada as a protest against the commercialism of Christmas.

There are things you can do at home. It's Eat a Cranberry Day—possibly because a cranberry is all that you will have room for after the feast on Thursday. It is also National Cashew Day—again, who can think of food the day after Thanksgiving. But if you have room for leftovers, it's also Sinkie Day. According to their website, a sinkie is someone who occasionally dines over the kitchen sink. It turns out that the day after Thanksgiving is the perfect day for people to discover the benefits of becoming a sinkie. Just think—this could lead to many years of dining with a view overlooking the water.

And finally, the special day that comes after Thanksgiving Day is You're Welcome Day. If you decide to hit the malls, your observance of this day could go a long way towards taking the scowl off the face of that woman who succeeds in getting that last computer game away from you at 4:00 a.m. Just smile and say, "You're welcome"... and hope you don't run into her at the next store.

A Fish Story

by Mac McCulloch, Guest Writer

For centuries, Oncorhynchus keta, or Chum Salmon, one of the oldest salmonids, returned from the ocean and Puget Sound to make spawning runs up Chimacum Creek. After the mature fish spawned and died, their fry progeny traveled back to the sound and returned within three to five years to spawn again.

In the 1980s this ageless cycle began to change. Poor ocean conditions, overfishing and the collapse of a culvert in Irondale seriously degraded spawning conditions for salmon in Chimacum Creek. By the late 1980s the chum spawning runs were non-existent – the fish were gone.

In 1991, local volunteers from The Wild Olympic Salmon (WOS) organization took action. This group, already involved in restoration of salmon habitat throughout the Chimacum Creek watershed, teamed up with another local volunteer group, the North Olympic Salmon Coalition (NOSC), and the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) to restore the spawning runs. There were some serious obstacles to be overcome to make this happen. Initially, the WDFW said they didn't want a bunch of amateurs messing around a fishery. After two years of intense negotiations centered on the fact that, at present, there WASN'T any fishery, these heroic and persistent community volunteers got the okay (and some money) from WDFW.

The second major problem is that chum are wily fish; attempts to net pen them at the mouth of the creek to create a donor pool were thwarted because the fish figured out they could escape by using beaver holes along the bank. The Coho caught in the net pen never discovered this. The donor stock problem was solved by building up the Salmon Creek stock at Discovery Bay. By 1996, after exhausting work, eggs were transferred to a small hatchery on a Chimum Creek tributary. The resulting fry were put in saltwater pen nets, allowed to grow a bit, then released near the mouth of Chimacum Creek. In 1998 the fry were released directly into Chimacum Creek which had been restored to the point where it could support a spawning run.

In 1999, 38 adult fish returned to the creek; in 2000, 52 came back; and the count continued increasing until the numbers hit 2026 in 2006. The great news is that as of October of this year, the returning chum count was at 3165.

A week ago I took my fly pole and drove north from Port Ludlow to Irondale Beach, walked up to the mouth of Chimacum Creek and stood there watching as several large fish jumped and rolled entering the mouth of the creek. I was filled with gratitude to the local volunteers who continue to make this sight possible and for these amazing salmonids that fight their way up the creek to spawn and die. I even forgave them for totally ignoring the fly I was using for the two hours I fished there.

Sheepdog Classic

by M.J. McCulloch, Contributing Writer

The handler calls out "Away to me," and 35 pounds of black and white fur and determination leave his side like an arrow and hurtle up the long pasture. The Border Collie disappears from the audience's view. As they crane their necks, the dog soon reappears, doggedly (this term was certainly coined with these dogs in mind) herding four sheep.

The venue is the Vashon Sheepdog Classic held annually in September at Misty Isle Farm on Vashon Island. It's an amazing spectacle for any dog lover. The dogs are judged on a variety of standards, such as their ability to herd the sheep through gates, separate sheep out of the flock and pen them with a little help from the shepherd, who advises them with a variety of whistles and voice commands. A particularly interesting judging criterion is based on how commandingly the dogs perform "the lift," that moment the sheep first become aware of the dog and lift their heads to meet his gaze. This may take only a few seconds, but it is critical. The sheep will quickly and quite accurately decide if the dog can be trusted and respected. The dog needs to lift the sheep smoothly, not rushing them or allowing them to straggle.

The joy with which these canines single-mindedly perform these maneuvers instantly wins the audience's hearts. When, after painstaking minutes and careful choreography, a sheep breaks from the group, a singular groan arises from the crowd. Sheep are fractious prey animals, only partly mesmerized by the dog's wolf-like aura. But these dogs never give up. When they are successful, the crowd goes wild. And finally, when the command "that'll do" is given, the dog usually needs some convincing.

Look for the dates of the trials next year for an interesting day on Vashon and an opportunity to watch some of the most intelligent, agile, and charismatic dogs perform with incredible heart. You won't find dogs with show names on the program, but the feats of plain, hardworking Nan, Tucker, and Joe will cause you to marvel for days.

Christmas in July?

by Gayle Refbord, Contributing Writer

I love Christmas. I love the Christmas tree, inside and outside decorations, Christmas lights, Christmas carols, wrapping special gifts, and especially the Christmas spirit. I have always loved it. Our family used to drive around checking out all the decorations numerous times throughout the Christmas season. Christmas Eve and Christmas Day were very special days for my family and me. They still are.

Are you ready, now? I will be climbing on my soap box one step at a time. For me, Christmas should not start until after Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving is for turkey and giving thanks – not for marketers looking to gain an edge, stuffing warehouses with inventory and hearing the ka-ching of cash registers. The cheery holiday marketing campaigns characteristic of the most profitable time of the year starts as early as July. Christmas is already here for marketers who are designing decorations and merchandising layout schemes, deciding what gets marked up and choosing their loss leaders. They are also planning whole marketing campaigns to entice customers to spend more than they did last year, 579.8 billion dollars in the U.S. alone.

Pop Quiz: How much money is spent on advertising?

- 10 Billion Dollars
- 15 Billion Dollars
- 20 Billion Dollars
- 50 Billion Dollars

The answer is none of the above. It's a trick question. The number is more like 150 billion dollars. That's more than the Gross National Product of 185 countries. Why do companies spend so much? It's because advertising works to boost the bottom line. Well known statistics show that the earlier you buy, the more you will buy.

And what do we get? We get bombarded with Christmas ads, Christmas specials and Christmas store displays starting in August. It gets worse as we near Thanksgiving. Is there any gift so important that we should start lining up outside a store in sleeping bags on Thanksgiving Day, waiting to purchase those too few big item specials early the next day? Is checking the online specials at 2 a.m. necessary? Advertising for big sales everywhere creates an even greater chance of impulse buys and overspending. Do we really need all the stuff that marketers are pushing?

In a recent survey, less than three-quarters of the children knew that Christmas was to celebrate the birth of Jesus. So stop, just please stop! It's time we started thinking about our families and friends and to make a decision that "spending" time with them is more important than just plain "spending." Family time shouldn't include walking through a store on Christmas Day because you might miss a sale. And close the stores on Christmas. Let the employees spend Christmas with their families, too. So, besides world peace, this is my Christmas wish: Stop the extravagant, hectic commercialization of Christmas and enjoy your family and friends while they are still here.

Healthy Eating During the Holidays

by Autumn Pappas, Contributing Writer

"You can tell you ate too much for Thanksgiving when you have to let your bathrobe out." – Jay Leno

We've all been there; it's January and suddenly we realize we've overindulged a little too much during the holidays. Our bodies feel sluggish, our stomachs unsettled, our clothes a little too snug. Want to avoid the post-holiday slump this season? Here are some great tips on how to make your holidays healthier than ever before.

Start with substituting healthier ingredients in your favorite meals. Switch out a whole egg for two egg whites instead. This will add more protein to your meal and cut down on the saturated fat. Trade one cup of oil or butter for one cup of mashed bananas or unsweetened applesauce. Bananas and applesauce not only create an ideal consistency in baking recipes, they're also loaded with fiber, vitamins and potassium. Protein-packed plain Greek yogurt serves as a healthy replacement for sour cream or mayonnaise as well.

Skip the white and brown sugars while baking sweets this holiday season. Brown rice syrup, dates, blackstrap molasses, maple syrup and raw honey are great alternatives to table sugar. Carrying more nutrients than regular table sugar, these natural sugars digest in your body at slower rates. Therefore your blood glucose levels don't rise and fall as quickly as they do with table sugar. Blackstrap molasses is also a good source of iron, calcium, potassium and magnesium.

Change up your cooking method. Steam vegetables instead of boiling them, and grill meat instead of frying it. Boiling food leaches out precious nutrients into the water, while steaming keeps all those powerful vitamins inside the food. Grilling meat versus frying it cuts the fat but not the flavor.

Lastly, try one of these tips to keep from packing on the pounds. Drink 8-10 ounces of water or chew a piece of gum at least 15 minutes before a meal. Both aid in weight loss by tricking your brain into thinking you're already eating, therefore you eat less. Water will also help you digest your meal and reduce your chance of getting heartburn afterwards.

Here's to a happy and healthy holiday season!

The Growing Role of Senior Move Managers

Linda Kaahanui, New Season Move Management

Feeling overwhelmed by the thought of moving? A move is one of life's most stressful events. The emotional and physical challenges of downsizing and relocating are great for anyone, and even more so for older adults. Out of this need for help, a new industry is growing rapidly throughout the US and Canada. It's called Senior Move Management. Spearheading this new industry is the not-for-profit National Association of Senior Move Managers (www.NASMM.org) which provides professional training, monitoring of safety and ethics standards and on-going education in the field.

NASMM member Michele Parchman is quoted in the April 28 issue of USA Today explaining, “Moving for a senior can be very stressful. We’re not just packing and moving them. We are taking care of our clients and their emotions. We calm their fears. They ask us things like; “How am I going to get this accomplished? What’s going to happen to the things I leave behind?”

Senior Move Managers will handle every detail of the move, sometimes beginning far in advance with creating a downsize floor plan, sorting and de-cluttering, and arranging for the disposal or sale of unwanted items. At the other end, they will unpack and resettle the client. The goal is to provide a smooth and stress-free move!

Costs vary as each situation is unique but a move manager will meet with clients to create a custom plan within the client’s budget. Often, using a Move Manager actually saves the family money in the long run when you consider travel expenses and lost work time for adult children and the cost of an inefficient or poorly planned move. If you are facing a move but feel that anxiety level rising, consider calling a Senior Move Manager!

Linda Kaahani is a graduate of UC Irvine with a degree in Social Science. She spent 35 years in the corporate world before moving to Port Townsend to be near her 90 year-old mother. She recognized a need for assistance for older persons. She is a fully certified member of the National Association of Move Managers.

A Sea of Words

by Autumn Pappas, Contributing Writer

Messages in bottles have contained some very interesting stories throughout history – some of romance, many of despair and too few of secret treasures. Bottled messages date back as far as 310 BC, when a Greek philosopher sent messages in bottles out to sea in an effort to prove that the Mediterranean was formed by the inflowing Atlantic Ocean.

In the late 14th century, Christopher Columbus sent a report of his “New World discovery” into the sea when his boat encountered a terrible storm on their voyage back to Spain. During the 16th century, the English navy is said to have sent information concerning enemy positions ashore through bottled messages. In more recent years, oceanographers have sent bottled messages adrift in order to study global currents.

In September of this year, a Canadian man may have discovered the oldest message in a bottle ever found. Steve Thurber was walking along the beach in Tofino, British Columbia when he spotted a rusty bottle in the sand. Thurber retrieved it and could see through the murky glass that the envelope inside was dated Sept. 29, 1906. Furthermore, he could make out that the envelope was signed by Earl Willard, a gentleman sailing from San Francisco to Bellingham on a boat named the Steamer Rainier.

So what did the bottled message say? No one knows. Despite constant urging from others, Thurber has not opened the bottle for fear of damaging the envelope inside. In fact, there is no guarantee that there is even a letter inside the envelope.

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the oldest message to date found in a bottle is from 1914. Therefore, Thurber may not only have an antique and unique treasure on his hands, he may soon be a world record holder as well. There is only one thing we know for sure; Earl Willard’s past is now linked to Steve Thurber’s future.

What would your message in a bottle say? Send your message (50 words or less) to AutumnPappas@outlook.com. The most clever and interesting messages will be posted in the December issue of the Voice.

Close to 70 Voices in Two Choirs Will Capture Yuletide Spirit

by Barbara Wagner-Jauregg, Guest Writer

The Columbia Vocal Ensemble promotes students from their middle-school program, and auditions singers from communities east of Lake Washington, grades 9 through college age, for this award-winning international touring choir.

Provided photo

Columbia Choirs, an international award-winning family of choirs who train singers pre-school through adult, will send two of their choirs to the Bay Club when Performing Arts in Port Ludlow heralds the Yuletide season in a candlelight performance on Sunday, December 8 at 4:00 p.m.

Doors at the Bay Club open at 3:00 p.m. (2:45 p.m. for subscribers) for seat selection and a complimentary non-alcoholic drink of holiday wassail. The usual wine, water, coffee and sparkling cider will also be available.

Serving all communities along the I-405 and I-90 corridors, approximately 300 singers from 30 communities and 15 school districts gather in eight different choirs to make glorious music together in Redmond rehearsal facilities. Under the guidance of founder-artistic director Steve Stevens, the choirs under his direction (which he started in 1984) have consistently won international acclaim for their high standard of singing artistry and musicianship.

Stevens' choirs have performed in the United States, Australia, British Isles, Canada, Europe, Japan, Mexico, Russia, South Korea and Scandinavia. They have also appeared on national network television in the U.S., Europe, Japan and Russia and have sung for a president of the United States, the Pope and for members of the British Royal Family. Stevens will bring Columbia's Youth Vocal Ensemble and Concord Chamber Choirs to perform at the Port Ludlow annual holiday concert.

The Vocal Ensemble is made up of students promoted from Columbia's Concert Choir (middle school age) or by audition of singers in the community. This international award-winning mixed choir (soprano, alto, tenor and bass) is made up of experienced singers in ninth grade (or voice change for young men) through college age. The Vocal Ensemble performs in Columbia Choirs' concert series; tour destinations have included Austria, Canada, Czech Republic, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Spain and throughout the U.S. This year they appeared in New Orleans at the Crescent City Children and Youth Choir Festival.

Also appearing will be the Concord Chamber Choir, a mixed adult choir of experienced singers, college-age and older. Admission is gained by audition and independent learning is imperative since only seven to nine rehearsals are scheduled per concert. This choir performs in Columbia's concert series and tours regionally, nationally and soon, internationally.

A visual art exhibit features the sterling and gemstone jewelry of Artists' League member Reg Kleweno. He crafts sterling silver jewelry utilizing natural gemstones which are cut, shaped and polished in his studio. His degree in Geology led to a raw gem-collecting hobby and then to classes in lapidary, silver smithy and jewelry fabrication. He has been marketing his creations since 2002.

For samples of the quality of music performed by both the Vocal Ensemble and Concord Chamber Choir, visit the Arts Council website at www.portludlowartscouncil.com.

Autumn Colours by the Rawson Duo

Join violinist Alan and pianist Sandy Rawson at their home overlooking the Chimacum wetlands on Friday and Sunday, November 8 and 10 at 2:00 p.m. for an afternoon of early-twentieth century art music by British composers. Highlighted by Edward Elgar's glorious Sonata in E minor, Op. 82, followed by John Blackwood McEwen's Prince Charlie, A Scottish Rhapsody and concluding with Arnold Bax's Third Violin Sonata, a Celtic inspired abstract of autumn colors and devilish twists. Sandy's Tea and Fancies will complete the afternoon.

Tickets are $25, and seating is limited and arranged through advanced paid reservation. For reservations, email the Rawsons at rawsonduo@gmail.com or call 379-3449 (press 1 when anti-solicitation message begins). Checks should be made payable to Dr. Alan Rawson, 10318 Rhody Drive, Chimacum WA 98325. More information about this and other programs can be found on their website, www.rawsonduo.com.

The Duo will present their seventh annual Nordlys (Northern Lights) concert showcasing works by Scandinavian composers on Friday and Sunday, December 20 and 22 at 2:00 p.m.

Northwind Reading Series

The Northwind Reading Series is a program of monthly (or more frequent) readings by local and guest authors, featuring both poets and prose writers. Everyone is welcome to attend these free readings. Donations are gladly accepted to support Northwind Art Center, a non-profit organization dedicated to connecting the arts to community.

The schedule for November is:

November 7 – Jack Straw Writers

November 14 – Donna Miscolta and Jennifer Munro

For more information, contact Bill Mawhinney at 437-9081.

Community Chorus Thinks British

The British are coming! The Community Chorus of Port Townsend & East Jefferson County kicks off its 38th season with a very British Christmas, offering concerts on Saturday, November 30 at 7:00 p.m., First Presbyterian Church, Port Townsend and Sunday, December 1 at 3:00 p.m. at the Chimacum High School Auditorium.

Under the direction of Rebecca Rottsolk and with pianist Lisa Lanza, the program celebrates the seasonal music of three of Britain's most well-known composers: Benjamin Britten, John Rutter and Sir David Willcocks. In commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Britten's birth, the choir sings his much-loved A Ceremony of Carols, written in 1942 during a voyage the composer made across the German U-boat infested waters of the North Atlantic. It incorporates the use of 14th and 15th century English texts, and the singers are learning these old pronunciations much as they would a foreign language.

The choir also sings a set of secular carols written and/or arranged by John Rutter, whose name is virtually synonymous with Christmas. Rottsolk says, "His rare melodic gift and captivating harmonic flair have combined in a series of unforgettable choral gems that have touched the hearts of millions." Those include favorites such as "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," "O Tannenbaum," and "Deck the Halls." Rounding out the concert are four traditional cathedral carol arrangements by Willcocks with an invitation for the audience to raise their voices with the choir.

Tickets are a suggested $15 donation at the door or at Crossroads Music, 2100 Lawrence Street, Port Townsend, 385-1471. A limited number of tickets may be available at the Port Ludlow Village Store. For general information, call 385-1402 or visit ptchorus.org.

Auditions and More

Ludlow Village Players (LVP) will hold auditions for two plays the week before Thanksgiving. Drinking Habits is a hilarious comedy by Tom Smith with a cast of five women and three men while The Gazebo is a mystery/comedy by Alec Coppel with a cast of eight men and three women and one, either man or woman. Both plays are outstanding; and whichever one of them casts the best, we will perform in the spring. There are several very small parts in The Gazebo for those of you who may have always wanted to do something like this, but are worried about memorizing lines or the time commitment involved. Give it a whirl; you'll be so glad you did.

The audition dates are: Tuesday, November 19, 6:00 to 9:00 p.m., at the Beach Club and Thursday, November 21, 5:00 to 8:00 p.m., at the Bay Club. Please pick up audition packets at either club. Packets include applications, the plays' synopses, character descriptions and excerpts from the plays.

Our new website is a work of art in progress thanks to our webmaster, Wynne Stevens. Check it out at ludlowvillage-players.org. There is a contact section for any feedback to Wynne and LVP. Wynne would love to hear your suggestions and comments.

Reader's Theater will be combining the November and December meetings due to the auditions this month. The next meeting will be December 3, and we hope to have some special guests to surprise, inform and entertain everyone. If you wish to be included on the contact list for future Reader's Theater get-togethers or information on any LVP activities, please contact Val at 437-2861, or at rkd@waypoint.com.

The Art of Basket Weaving

Basket by artist Jodie Morris.

Submitted photo

Port Ludlow Artists' League November 20 meeting will be presented by member Jodie Morris, known for her incredible basket weaving. She will be sharing the processes she uses in weaving those beautiful baskets and necklaces as well as the history of pine needle weaving.

Morris, a native Washingtonian, attended college in Northern California and while attending College of the Redwoods, became focused on textile arts. Continuing at the Mendocino Art Center, she explored her interests in spinning, dying and weaving. While there, she became fascinated by Native American weaving, and through a friend was introduced to a Paiute basket weaver who taught her pine needle weaving. "My love and interest in this type of pine needle basket weaving has now lasted for 40 years," Morris reflected. During the 1980's she taught both pine needle and yarn basket weaving in the Rogue Valley, passing along the knowledge given to her many years before by her Paiute friend. She continues to learn from other weavers and her weaving continually evolves as she learns new techniques.

Morris belongs to the Northwest Basket Weavers Guild of Seattle. The group's focus is on the process of collecting natural materials, the techniques used to weave, the art of weaving and the deep appreciation of the work that goes into each woven piece. Recently she added small pine needle basket necklaces, a sea shell nestled in the small pine needle basket as part of her weaving.

In addition to pine needles for baskets, Morris has used seaweed, moss, sweet grass, cedar bark, bear grass and wooden spoke weaving. She has a strong and deep appreciation for the beautiful work the Pacific Northwest Native Americans put into their baskets, the many hours it takes to weave a basket, each being a work of art.

The November 20 meeting will be held at the Beach Club from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Guests are welcome to attend this monthly meeting and social time by paying a guest fee of $5. More information can be obtained by contacting President Carol Durbin at 437-0204 or by email at gramcr@aol.com.

Keeping Art in the Family

November highlights an unusual Artist of the Month show for the Port Ludlow Artists' League. Making art a "family affair," Sharon Zabloney along with brother and sister-in-law, Lee and Nancy Dunn, share the spotlight at Columbia Bank this month.

Sharon's search for an artistic medium took her through graphite, watercolor, acrylics, pastels and colored pencils, but it was in making jewelry where she found her muse. Zabloney had the opportunity to learn from several "master" silversmiths in Tucson, and her jewelry soon caught the admiration of friends and family who urged her to expand her market. It was at the Tucson annual Gem and Mineral Show, several years back, where she took a one-day lesson in lampworking and fell in love with the process and creativity that making glass beads offers. Sharon will be sharing her artistic journey in this November show.

Lee came to the art world late but has made up for lost time. At the persuasion of his sister and his wife, he took a lamp-work bead making class in Olympia and was, as they say, "hooked!" Says Dunn, "I think what interests me the most about making lamp-work beads is how different color glasses react to one another, as well as (the) blending of the different colors." Dunn, although officially retired, still consults for his former company, but glass bead-making has become his passion.

As a small girl, Nancy learned how to embroider from her grandmother. As her skill increased, she went from ironed-on designs to making her own. When her children were small, a friend encouraged her to try "counted cross stitch," and as this form of embroidery became popular, more and more intricate designs were available at stores devoted to this art form. Many, many hours go into these thread masterpieces. "If I could work only on my cross stitch and not have interruptions: eat, sleep, bathroom privileges, etc., I could probably finish a piece in four months by working 12-hour days,” says Dunn.

The community is invited to meet these three artists and view their exhibit at the “Second Wednesday Reception” on November 13, from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. in the lobby of Columbia Bank, Oak Bay Road, and from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the gallery adjacent to the bank. Regular gallery hours are 12:00 to 4:00 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday.

Annual Holiday Arts and Crafts Fair

Port Townsend Community Center at Lawrence and Tyler in the Uptown District will be the site of a juried arts and crafts fair on Friday and Saturday, November 29 and 30. The 23rd Annual Holiday Arts and Crafts Fair is a fine quality fair offering unique craft work from Northwest artists. The hours of the fair are 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on both days. In addition to the art work, local student musicians will be performing downstairs.

The show is staged by the Port Townsend Arts Guild, a self-supporting non-profit guild offering arts scholarships to Jefferson County students majoring in the arts. The artists also donate a portion of each sale to the Jefferson County Food Bank.

Featured will be such items as gold and silver jewelry, some set with semi-precious gems; leather bags and belts; photography; knives; pottery; enameled artwork; woodwork; sweaters; watercolors; lamp work beads; hand blown vases and paperweights.

Port Townsend Arts Guild has a website at www.port-townsendartsguild.org. Applications and information about the fair and the artists can be found there as well as at www.ptguide.com. The telephone number for the Arts Guild is 379-3813.

Be Art Smart: Avoid Risk

Jefferson County Public Health is offering two free workshops for artists on the health risks of art materials and processes. Learn how to protect yourself from harmful chemicals, dusts and fumes. Chemical management expert Dave Waddell will lead the workshops to be held on Saturday, November 2, and Saturday, February 8, 2014, at 1:00 p.m. To register, please call Pinky Fera Mingo at 379-4489 or go online to www.jeffersoncountypublichealth.org/index.php?solid-waste.

Go Shopping at the Bay Club!

Bring your checkbook and go shopping at the Bay Club on Wednesday, November 6, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Visit with your friends and neighbors while you browse among the quilters' and crafters' displays at the annual "Quilters and Crafters Show and Sale."

This will be the eighth year that very talented quilters and crafters have their finest creations on display and for sale to help you with your holiday gift giving. You might even find something that you just must have for yourself.

As in the past, the Quilters by the Bay will have their beautiful handmade quilts, wall hangings, table runners and other clever fabric items on display and for sale. Joining them will be 30 crafters who will show and sell a wide variety of hand-crafted items to get your Christmas shopping off to a good start. Everyone is invited, including all your friends and family from outside of Port Ludlow.

Not only will you find wonderful unique gift items for you and your loved ones, you will help others in Jefferson County to have a happy Christmas because all exhibitors will be donating 10 percent of their sales to the Jefferson County Food Bank. Last year the show was able to make a donation of over $800 to help less fortunate persons in Jefferson County.

Healthcare Coverage: The Affordable Care Act and Medicare

Are you concerned about or interested in the changes in healthcare coverage and Medicare as a result of the Affordable Care Act? Is the Part D open enrollment period relevant for you? Find out what healthcare reform means for you, whether you are on Medicare or uninsured. Are you aware of the Medicare mandated efforts of hospitals to improve quality and reduce costs of patient care? Learn about the 12 clinical-processes-of-care measures and the 8 patient-experience-of-care dimensions.

Please join us for a Health and Wellness Forum update on healthcare coverage sponsored by the Port Ludlow Village Council Saturday, November 16, 10:00 a.m. to noon in the Bay Club Auditorium. Individual counseling sessions will then be available from 12:30 to 3:00 p.m. in the classroom for residents to review their Medicare Part D (Prescription Drugs) or their Supplement/Medigap Plan, or get other healthcare coverage questions answered.

The presenters will be Statewide Health Insurance Benefits Advisors (SHIBA) with the Office of the Insurance Commissioner for Washington State: Carolyn Smith, Field Supervisor; Terri Osborne, Regional Trainer; Marjorie Stewart, SHIBA Coordinator with the Olympic Area Agency on Aging; and Lauren Newcomer, RN, BSN, Director of Quality and Operational Improvement for Harrison Medical Center.

The forum is free and open to the public. Bring your friends and your questions. Resources for this forum are available at plhealth.org. For additional information, call 437-9935 or 206-605-1957, or email plhealth.org@gmail.com.

Estate Planning Seminar Offered

Amanda Wilson, attorney with Olympic Law Offices, LLC, will hold a free one-hour estate planning seminar entitled "Fitting Your Estate Plan to Your Family Trusts, Wills or Pay on Death." The seminar is on Thursday, November 7 at 3:00 p.m. in the Beach Club Gallery Room. It is open to all residents. Walk-ins are welcome, but RSVP is appreciated. To respond and reserve a seat, call 437-4172 or e-mail amanda_wilson@olympenlawoffices.com.

Boeing Bluebills Celebrate Fifteen Years of Service

by Myron Vogt, Guest Writer

The Olympic Peninsula Chapter of the Boeing Bluebills was formed in 1997. It started with eleven members. It received its charter in 1998.

In October the chapter celebrated their fifteenth year of service, and membership has grown to over 150 volunteers from Kitsap, Jefferson and Clallam Counties. Bluebill programs have contributed an enormous amount of aid to Jefferson and Clallam County residents over the past 15 years. These accomplishments include the work of the Boeing Builders who have constructed 700 ramps, installed 1,800 grab bars and railings and done 750 miscellaneous modifications and repairs. Bluebill contributions to the World Vision Programs include delivery of 830 pallets of food. The miles driven by Bluebill members total 160,000. Bluebills unloaded 780,000 pounds of bulk food from the Tri-Area Food Bank truck. Thirty-two truckloads of personal/household items have been delivered.

In the past two years golf tournaments sponsored by the Bluebills have raised $17,500 for Jefferson County and $10,000 for Clallam County. Total hours contributed by volunteers are 104,750. It is not necessary to be a Boeing Retiree to join Bluebills. Anyone interested in volunteering with Bluebills or anyone who feels they might need a service provided by Bluebills can contact Myron Vogt, 437-4055, vogt@cablespeed.com.

Holiday Shopping Local

One of the best ways to support your community is by shopping local. On the Olympic Peninsula there is a wonderful selection of summer markets as well as year-round merchants from Port Ludlow to Port Townsend, Sequim and on up to Port Angeles. Holiday and gift shopping can be done right here in Port Ludlow without having to cross the bridge or take long drives just to battle full parking lots and harried salespeople.

You guessed it. The Port Ludlow Artists' League Gallery adjacent to Columbia Bank opens their Holiday Shoppe on Friday, November 1. Original one-of-a-kind paintings and drawings, prints, photographs, jewelry, wooden items, fiber arts, pottery, greeting cards and more are only a hop, skip and a jump away (for those of you who need the exercise). Not only is it easy to reach, the added benefit is that by buying at the Gallery, you keep the local artists from starving.

The Gallery hours are from noon to 4:00 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday, are after most tee times and before happy hour. What could be nicer than spending an afternoon going through the unique gift items found there? Let the happy holidays ring!

Christmas Giving Luncheon

Each Christmas, the Olympic Peninsula Bluebills and the Community Enrichment Alliance (CEA) team up to ensure families of domestic violence and sexual abuse have joyous holidays. The proceeds of the Christmas Giving Luncheon will provide a very merry holiday for people.

The Bluebills will host the annual Christmas Giving Luncheon on Friday, December 6 at the Bay Club in Port Ludlow from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The Silverwater Cafe is catering a turkey luncheon with all the trimmings, including coffee, tea, beverages and dessert.

Our own Port Ludlow Choral Belles will regale us with a delightful medley of holiday songs. The Belles enjoy and encourage audience participation, so come ready to join in the festivities.

All Bluebills, their spouses and retired Boeing folk are cordially invited. A warm and friendly invitation is also extended to anyone else who might be interested in volunteering their time in the Clallam, Jefferson and Kitsap county areas.

The Olympic Peninsula Bluebills and the CEA view this luncheon as an opportunity to provide less fortunate people with a Christmas they will treasure.

Silverwater Cafe requires a firm count of those attending by Friday, November 22. Those attending without sending an RSVP will very likely find the cupboard bare, so be sure to RSVP to Michael Graham, pljmikey@gmail.com by Friday, November 22.

Message from Chief Brad Martin

You have likely received your ballots and are giving thoughtful consideration to the choices you will make. Port Ludlow Fire & Rescue's (PLFR) request for a temporary, four-year Maintenance and Operations (M&O) levy is one of those choices.

The services provided to those who live in the 55 square miles within PLFR's boundaries are as important to us as I'm certain they are to you.

Lower assessed property values and difficult economic times these past few years have resulted in the fire district receiving insufficient funds to continue to provide our current level of service should the levy fail.

If approved, the levy will not be used to increase the district's staffing levels, nor will it be used to purchase new fire engines. Approval of the M&O levy will allow the district to maintain its current number of staff and keep our two main stations open and staffed 24/7.

Please give me a call at 437-2236 or email me at brad.martin@plfr.org if you have specific questions. Additional information can also be found on our website at www.plfr.org.

Local Man Rescues Driver from Submerged Car

On Saturday, October 12 Jim Kocker, maintenance employee at The Inn At Port Ludlow, rescued 30-year-old Anthony Scott Johnson from his submerged vehicle. Kocker was traveling east on Route 90 by Ellensburg when he and his wife observed a splash of water. He pulled off the road to investigate and saw a vehicle partially submerged in a pond. Kocker swam out to the vehicle and observed that the seat-belted driver, while unconscious, was apparently alive but in danger of drowning.

State Troopers also arrived at the scene. Kocker and trooper J. Farmer worked in the icy water to break one of the windows to open a door and save the injured victim. After several attempts, they were able to break a rear window, open the driver's side door and undo the seat belt. Together they swam, carrying the victim who was still unconscious, between them to the shore.

Kittitas Fire and Rescue treated the victim and the rescuers at the site. The rescuers, who were near hypothermia, were released when their vital signs became normal again. The injured driver received additional treatment. Kocker continued on his way to Father's Day Weekend at Washington State University.

The story has received national attention. KOMO news and Good Morning America have reported on the rescue.

American Association of University Women (AAUW)

Are you interested in a stimulating women's group? Twenty-five Port Ludlow area members hosted a recent Saturday morning meeting of AAUW at Quimper Unitarian Universalist Fellowship Church, 2333 San Juan Ave., Port Townsend. A monthly general meeting, which is open to guests, meets every third Saturday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. except during the summer. Coffee and goodies are provided during the social period, which is followed by speakers, panels and other programs of interest to women holding a college degree.

Many interest groups, such as school tutoring, book club, cooking and hiking, meet throughout the year. Great Decisions (Council on Foreign Policy) is a discussion group on world issues and is led by Patricia Ryan. Are you interested in visiting a Saturday meeting or becoming a member? Contact Pat Ryan at 437-0214, Barbara Nobles at 437-9613 or Judy Thomas at 437-7906 for more information.

Charity Begins at Home in Jefferson County

The Olympic Peninsula Bluebills presented a check for $11,000 to Dove House in October. The funds were raised during the second annual Bluebills Charity Golf Tournament to benefit Dove House, which was held September 7 at the Port Ludlow Golf Course.

The check was presented at the Beach Club when the Bluebills hosted their Oktoberfest, according to Mea Graham, who served as co-chair of the event with Michael Graham. Tina Burlingame, Dove House development director, said the funds will greatly assist the team to provide much needed service to victims of domestic violence and sexual abuse right here in Jefferson County where it is so desperately needed.

According to the Grahams, with a full field of golfers, great corporate sponsors like Paul S. Ried, CenturyLink, Clearwater Casino, Homer Smith Insurance, and many willing volunteers, this was a roaring success. Other committee members were Barbara Berthiaume, Myron and Valeria Vogt and Mike Blair. The Port Ludlow Golf Course staff and maintenance crew all pitched in to help.

Local businesses sponsored tee signs, and raffle prizes were donated. All participants were encouraged to avail themselves of the services of those generous local businesses this year. Among the prizes were a delightful champagne lunch for four, decorative wreaths, golf bags and free rounds of golf.

Next year's event is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 6, 2014, at Port Ludlow Golf Course. Golfers are encouraged to participate in this worthwhile and enjoyable event.

Port Ludlow Welcomes Tim Mansour, Doctor of Physical Therapy

by Autumn Pappas, Contributing Writer

This past August, Active Life Physical Therapy welcomed a new Doctor of Physical Therapy, Tim Mansour, PT, DPT. Tim grew up in Portland and developed an interest in physical therapy while recuperating from injuries as a competitive gymnast.

Tim Mansour,

Tim began at Oregon State University (OSU) as an engineering major but then decided that engineering was not for him. He says it was a very easy decision for him to switch to physical therapy. While at OSU, Tim continued to follow his passion for gymnastics as the president of the OSU Gymnastics Club. After graduating from OSU, Tim went on to earn his Doctorate of Physical Therapy from Pacific University. During his time there, Tim volunteered within and outside the physical therapy profession earning a Pacific Physical Therapy Community Service Award.

Tim developed a love for the outdoors while hiking and camping with his family in the Pacific Northwest and national parks throughout the country. The beauty of Port Ludlow was a big draw for Tim since he is interested in nature photography. Other interests include hiking and backpacking, and participating in gymnastics at a local gym. Tim enjoys the variety of patients that come to Active Life as Port Ludlow has so many interesting people with their own life stories.

Howlin' Good Fun!

by Bev Rothenborg, Arts and Entertainment Editor

Have you heard about Great Wolf Lodge in Grand Mound, WA? A wonderful night and two days were spent there when our great-grandkids and their parents were visiting. It's a resort for families geared around a gigantic waterpark where you can venture across suspension bridges, get drenched under a 1,000-gallon bucket, swing from cargo nets, and plunge your way down jaw-dropping slides. Or (as I often did), splash in a zero-depth area with the little ones too young for the above adventures while the rest of the pack enjoys huge slides and the four-story tree house. Perhaps my favorite was the ocean wave area where continuous swells, from gentle to larger, allow you to surf or jump the waves. Even though room check-out time is 11:00 a.m., you can play in the waterpark until 9:00 p.m.

Evening activities, too numerous to list, range from Story Time with Violet or Wiley the Wolf, to a hike around the lobby to learn more about wildlife and to master the Great Wolf Lodge howl! During the day, there are character appearances throughout the Lodge — a great hit with the children.

There are 600 employees at this magical place, from our room maid wearing wolf ears to the staff at the Waterpark who are constantly vigilant, always patrolling, and they are helpful and knowledgeable. They change locations every 30 minutes and never sit down while on duty.

Our family had a KidCabin® Suite which was complete with a mini log cabin with bunk beds, which the kids loved. Of course, there are other choices.

Would I do it again? Did I have fun? Yes to both, and next time I promise I will try one of those white-knuckle extreme tube rides! Go to www.greatwolf.com to find out more. Remember, you're only young twice!

Sheriff's Report for September

For the month of September, 2013, there were a total of 103 recorded Port Ludlow events known to the Sheriff's Office. To help keep events in Port Ludlow in perspective, there were 984 events county-wide during September, 2013. For this purpose, the parameters defining Port Ludlow are SR 19, Tala Shore Drive, Oak Bay Road and Olympus Boulevard.

Tax-Aide Accepting Volunteers

If you enjoy helping others and have basic computer skills, you may want to become an IRS-certified Tax-Aide volunteer. Volunteers of all ages and backgrounds are welcome. The Tax-Aide program is sponsored by the AARP Foundation and the IRS. You don't need to be an AARP member or retiree to volunteer, or to receive free tax preparation services from Tax-Aide.

Training begins in December. All volunteers do an extensive amount of self-study, using training materials and software provided by the IRS. They must attend training classes in Sequim and pass the IRS test before providing tax assistance for low- and middle-income members of our community. New volunteers in Jefferson County work with experienced volunteers at several sites in our community, including the Tri-Area Community Center. Join our crew of dedicated Tax-Aide volunteers; work your mind and warm your heart.

Please contact www.aarp.org/taxaide for an online application, or call 1-888-687-2277. Locally, you can also contact David Self at 385-2617 or dcself@olympen.com. You'll need to sign up by December to become IRS-certified in time for the coming tax season.

Community Meetings

Dine and Discover

On Monday, November 4, Dine and Discover will be at the Beach Club. Carl Normura, award-winning physicist, mathematician, writer, business executive and poker player will share some of his life-impacting decisions and their consequences from childhood to retirement. His remarkable life and many achievements are chronicled in his autobiography, Sleeping on Potatoes.

There may still be time to sign up at the Beach Club for this event. If you have questions, wish to cancel or be put on the wait list, call Michael or Hilda Cahn at 437-8223.

For all Dine and Discover events, the doors open at 5:30 p.m. Remember your potluck dish to serve at least 10 people; your place setting including placemat, dishes, glass, utensils, napkin and beverage of choice; and $2 per person.

On Monday, December 2, Dine and Discover meets at the Bay Club to hear Doug Moeller speak about the years he spent working to bring the Golden Arches to the People's Republic of China. As an expatriate living in Hong Kong, he traveled extensively throughout China during a period of rapid change, economic growth and political upheaval. Mr. Moeller will describe some of the business challenges that he experienced, as well as the humorous side of dealing with the cultural and social differences found in China. Taking a driving test was a memorable occurrence, as was organizing a horseback riding trip in Mongolia. He will also share some of his unique experiences traveling in many parts of Southeast Asia that were just beginning to open up to the west. He lives in Seattle with his wife, Xun, a native of Shanghai. His presentation is part travelogue and part business adventure combined with a slice of history.

Sign up at the Bay Club for this event.

Silent Auction Has Arrived

New procedures are in place this year for the Community Enrichment Alliance (CEA) silent auction, and can be reviewed in the October Voice.

Most of the auction items can be seen online at <http://www.plmga.org/silentauction.htm> after October 28. Auction booklets will be available when you register from noon to 7:00 p.m. See you on Saturday, November 2 at the auction.

First Wednesday Luncheon

The November First Wednesday Luncheon will be at the Bay Club on Wednesday, November 6 at 11:00 a.m. The speaker, Meredith Wagner, is the newly appointed Director of the Jefferson County Library. She served as the Associate Director for the last twelve years, managing personnel, public relations, adult educational and cultural programming, and community outreach efforts. Meredith co-led the effort with Director Ray Serebrin to remodel the Jefferson County Library in Port Hadlock. She will give an overview of the newly remodeled library which re-opened in June. She will also provide information about the new services and directions the library has to offer.

There will be a silent auction of beautiful fall centerpieces and wreaths; proceeds will go to the Tri-Area Food Bank. We will also be selling raffle tickets for a drawing at our December luncheon for a holiday liquor basket, a holiday wine basket, and a yummy chocolate basket.

Sign up at either the Bay Club or Beach Club by Monday, November 4. Please contact Fran Bodman at 437-5110 for last minute reservations.

These luncheons also benefit the Food Bank. The lunch is provided to you by the volunteer food committee, so in lieu of paying for lunch, we ask that you make a donation of cash and/or foods to the Food Bank.

Again this year we are green, which means we ask you to bring your own table service. The less money we spend in expenses, the more we can donate to the food bank.

Port Ludlow Garden Club's Holiday Shopping Trip

Kick off the upcoming season with fun and friends in comfort and style aboard a luxurious chartered bus for two of our favorite destinations. Mark your calendar and reserve your seat for Wednesday, November 13. Arrive early for check-in and then board the Holiday Express for departure from the Bay Club at 8:15 a.m.

First stop is Molbak's Garden & Home for a special presentation on decorating for the holidays, accompanied by a box lunch catered by the Garden Café and followed by an hour of browsing and shopping (with a special discount!). Menu options for the box lunch are posted at the Beach and Bay Clubs.

The next stop will be the always popular Wight's Home & Garden, which is transformed into a "Winter Wonderland" every year. Lights and decorated trees are packed into every corner! Here we will enjoy more shopping and be treated to coffee and cookies.

We will board the bus at Wight's and start for home with arrival time expected to be around 5:00 p.m.

Tour fee includes transportation, lunch, tax and gratuity: $35 for Garden Club members and $40 for non-members.

Traveling together on a bus has been an enjoyable part of the Garden Club's field trips in past years. We would like to continue this tradition. Thirty-five reservations are needed to confirm the comfort and convenience of a chartered bus. Carpooling will be an option should we not meet the number of reservations required.

Contact Susan Shelton at 437-1125, sandf@olypen.com, or Mari Stuart at 437-8140, marimstuart@gmail.com.

Port Ludlow Book Club

The book selection for our meeting on Tuesday, November 12 at 6:30 p.m. at the Bay Club may be one of the most beautifully written novels you will ever read. Russian Winter, an engrossing novel by Daphne Kalotay, combines the personal history of its main character Nina Revskaya, a prima ballerina with the Bolshoi Ballet, and events in human history. The author juxtaposes present day Boston with the post-World War II Soviet Union, where the characters struggle with their private turmoil and fears, plus the unpredictability of the politics behind Stalin's Iron Curtain.

Nina, retired and confined to a wheelchair after a stellar career and a complicated life with stressful situations, finds herself face-to-face with a man whose presence threatens to rock her world. In the midst of this turmoil she offers her jewel collection up for auction, among which are her two most prized pieces of amber. A matching third piece then materializes from an anonymous donor, prompting a Pandora's Box of memories and mysteries to surface. This is a complex, multi-layered story and the reader, just like the characters, does not know whom to believe or distrust. Join us for a discussion of this hauntingly beautiful story.

The book selection for December is The Eighty-Dollar Champion: Snowman, the Horse That Inspired a Nation by Elizabeth Letts. Everyone is welcome. For questions, please call Martha Dawson at 437-4167.

Port Ludlow Hiking

The Fall Planning Meeting was held in early October. Plans include a variety of adventures on the Olympic Peninsula, Kitsap county and in Seattle. A complete list of the excursions for November 2013 thru April 2014 has been e-mailed to those on the hiking roster. Copies are also available at the Bay and Beach Clubs.

Here are the events in November.

Unless otherwise noted, hikers meet at the Bridge Deck at 8:30 a.m. to arrange carpools and get directions to the trailheads.

Friday, Nov. 1 - Duckabush River

Join a moderate 6-to-8-mile hike with 1,300 feet of elevation gain. Hike along the Duckabush River and up Little and Big Humps through impressive second-growth forest. Information: Jack Manning and Kathy Muir 437-9522

Friday, Nov. 15 Larry Scott Trail

The group will walk an easy 5 to 6 miles of the Larry Scott Trail, starting at the Boat Haven. Upon return, it is anticipated that people will have developed a thirst for beverages to be enjoyed at the Port Townsend Brewery (bring your own lunch) or enjoy one of the other eateries in town. Information: John and Doreen Fillers 360-215-4049

Friday, Nov. 29 - Port Townsend Trails

Explore some of the trails at the north end of the Quimper Peninsula. The entire route is still to be determined, but expect a casual walk. Those on the hiking e-mail list will receive further details. Information: Terilyn Krueger 437-7888

Every Wednesday: Timberton Loop

Walk the 4.5 mile Timberton Loop. Enjoy views of the Olympic Mountains and Mt. Rainier. Meet at the trailhead on Timberton Road at 9:00 a.m.

Attention: Readers' Theater

Readers' Theater for November is being combined with the December meeting, and will be held at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, December 3. Expect a special surprise! Call Val at 437-2861 or email rkd@waypoint.com for location.

Eighth Annual CEA Holiday Home Tour

The holidays are just around the corner and once again Community Enrichment Alliance (CEA) is sponsoring our Holiday Home Tour to brighten up the season. It will be held on Saturday, December 7 from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Four beautiful homes have been chosen this year to delight your senses and play on your imagination. You will view scenes from contemporary settings to exotic foreign decor, all resplendent in holiday finery.

Just to make sure you don't tire yourself out, CEA invites you to stop in at the Bay Club either between homes or after the tour for coffee, tea and cookies. We will be serving from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. And who knows? You might just see Santa lounging around the Christmas tree in the lobby awaiting his big day.

The tour costs $20 and tickets can be purchased at both The Resort At Port Ludlow and Dana Point Interiors in the Village. You can pay by check or cash beginning on Friday, November 1. On the day of the tour only, CEA will be selling tickets in the lobby of the Bay Club and will accept payment by credit card as well.

As always, all proceeds from the Holiday Home Tour benefit the CEA High School Scholarship Fund.

We hope to see you all there as we celebrate the beginning of a happy and joyful season.

Out to Lunch with CEA

Community Enrichment Alliance (CEA) invites you to travel down the road to Gig Harbor for lunch at The Green House Restaurant located at 4793 Point Fosdick Dr. N.W., Suite #400 on Wednesday, November 20. We will start the fun at noon with great choices of pasta, salad, seafood, chowder, soups and sandwiches. We will order off the menu. The atmosphere is welcoming and the food is good.

Driving directions: Take Route 16 to the Olympic Drive off-ramp in Gig Harbor, turn right at the end of the ramp and then left at the first traffic light. Go to Fosdick Dr. and turn left. The restaurant is within a block from there. Chico's, J. Jill and Coldwater Creek are nearby shopping options.

Please RSVP to Rose Jackson at 437-7880 or email at Lady_Rosalee@hotmail.com, or sign up at either the Beach Club or the Bay Club from Monday, November 11 through Saturday, November 16.

Senior Singles Lunch at Doc's Marina

The Senior Singles are invited to join us for lunch at 1:00 p.m., Wednesday, November 20 at Doc's Marina Grill, 141 Hudson Street, in Port Townsend.

The menu is quite varied, offering appetizers, soups, salads, Waterfront Baskets, pasta, sandwiches, vegetarian, and "From Land and Sea." You are sure to find a meal to enjoy. Eighteen percent gratuity will be added to your bill.

Please contact our hostess, Barbara, by email: abykat77@gmail.com or call 437-4073 no later than Wednesday, November 13 to place your reservation. Also state if you wish to drive or be a passenger. Remember to offer your driver a few bucks to cover costs.

This outing should be fun and it is a first for our group. Invite your friends and please remember your nametag.

Stamping and Paper Arts

This month we will be making cards for the troops at the Beach Club on Wednesday, November 20 at 10:00 a.m. (instead of the usual fourth Wednesday). Packets of Valentine's Day and birthday cards, with an emphasis on cards for children of our service members, will be prepared in advance by many of our members and finished that morning by all who attend. If you have an interest in helping to complete these cards, please join us. We have received many notes and letters of thanks and appreciation from our service members for this special ongoing project we enjoy doing as a group. A big thank you is sent to our community for your continued support of cards, card fronts and envelopes.

Don't forget your "show and tell" handmade cards or paper crafts to share, as well as your bargain priced used rubber stamps and supplies for others to see and purchase. The money will be used for ongoing postage costs for our project.

The Big Shot/Die Cut machine meetings will not be held in November and December. A schedule for next year's meetings will be sent out to members before the end of the year. For more information on our group, please call Paula Davis at 437-2007 or Barbara Emerson at 437-7800.

Port Ludlow Village Council

Port Ludlow Village Council Report

by Beverly Browne, Editor/Reporter

President David Armitage called the Thursday, October 3 General Meeting of the Port Ludlow Village Council (PLVC) to order in the Bay Club. Other Council members were Tony Durham, Linda Haskin, Laury Hunt, Ed Knodle, Tamra McDearmid, Larry Nobles, Terry Umbreit and Elizabeth Van Zonneveld. The meeting was recorded. The agenda was adopted as presented.

The main business of the meeting was to inform members about the park district measures, which were to be on the November ballot. Several announcements were made in advance of the forum. They were: the Department of Natural Resources will begin the piling removal process on October 21, and officers of the next board have been appointed. The officers are Terry Umbreit, President; Elizabeth Van Zonneveld, Vice President; Vicki Tallerico, Secretary; and Linda Haskins, Treasurer. The addition of a recording secretary was discussed. The Council needs to budget for that.

Parks and Recreation Forum

Before the formal presentations began, Tony Simpson requested to be recognized and provided the following information regarding a local park district. Simpson said that a local park district is permitted under RCW 36.69. Elected commissioners of the district do not receive compensation, cannot take action without homeowner consent, and cannot tax without a vote.

Local Park District: Jim Boyer spoke in support of forming a local park district and how he was introduced to the concept of a park district and to the Metropolitan Park District (MPD) steering committee. Boyer said that the steering committee was interested in promoting parks and in forming a taxing district. He suggested that the tax rate presently proposed would not be enough to take care of the parks and that the commissioners would soon want to raise the rates to the maximum amount. He also said that Memorial Field might eventually become the property of Port Townsend. The formation of a local park district would be a barrier to the creation of an MPD and to involvement in Port Townsend politics. Polls show, he said, that 38 percent of voters approve of establishing a local district.

Metropolitan Park District and the State of County Parks: County Administrator Phillip Morley spoke on the state of the county parks and the county's finances. He prefaced his remarks by saying that the steering committee recommended that the MPD is not feasible at this time. The committee believes that the city and the county need to work out other options and that they should revisit the issue next year.

Morley said that the county park system had developed over many years. It includes 22 parks. Seventeen parks are maintained by volunteers, three are athletic fields, and four are campgrounds. The parks encompass 1,100 acres. There are 44 programs with over 5000 participants including the Kid Fit Program. Closest to Port Ludlow are H.J. Carroll Park and the Irondale Community Park.

The park system is in crisis. Its funding is not legally mandated and is unsustainable, according to Morley. County funds for parks and other county services began contracting in 2010 but the passage of Proposition 1 gave them a lifeline. The city of Port Townsend also agreed to donate park funds for four years. Those funds decline in 2015 and disappear by 2023. The city is facing severe economic shortages as well. The one percent cap on property tax increases funding problems.

Morley listed the revenue streams available to the county: sales tax, property tax, new construction and real estate excise tax. All of these revenue streams have declined during the recession.

In a statement from the audience, Dan Mead commended the county commissioners for cutting spending. The MPD, Mead said, is a highly charged issue and strongly opposed in Port Ludlow. Mead also cited the other impending levies as creating a more negative environment for a park district. He suggested that the county should look at growth options. Morley agreed saying that "economic development would raise all the boats."

Kathleen Kler, Chair of the MPD Steering Committee, discussed the committee's recommendation to drop the proposal and announced she has resigned as chair.

Other Options: The third scheduled speaker was Dave Armitage. Armitage held the view that neither park district proposal would be appropriate in Port Ludlow and an alternative solution needs to be found. He proposed rescinding the Eyman tax initiatives.

Council Business

The Secretary's report and the approval of the minutes of the previous meeting were deferred to the next meeting.

Treasurer's Report: Linda Haskin said that donations to the SBCA, with the ballots, totaled $195. The organization has received $4,420 to date. The treasurer's report was accepted without discussion.

Election Results: Re-elected Council members were Larry Nobles and Vicki Tallerico. Tony Durham and Lois Ruggles are leaving the Council. New members include Robert Grant as a write-in candidate. Final results will be published on the website.

Announcements: Upcoming meetings are listed in the box at the beginning of the report.

PLVC President's Message

by Dave Armitage, President

My year as the Port Ludlow Village Council (PLVC) President has come to an end and Terry Umbreit will assume the presidency. The year has been interesting and at the same time frustrating. Some problems will carry over into next year and will merit your attention.

This year the Friday Market was moved to a new location above the Marina. The market has not been all we had wished for; Vicki Tallerico and Terry Umbreit have spent many hours working on developing it and instituted new hours. Work will continue and there will be changes based on our experience this year, including encouraging merchants to come to the market with products residents want and encouraging residents to purchase those goods.

Port Ludlow Associates requested a Development Agreement extension with Jefferson County, prompting the Council to raise several questions with the county: Do we have sufficient water rights to complete the buildout and who will be responsible for the cost of the contamination encountered as a result of the drilling of well #17? The Department of Ecology says there will be sufficient water rights, whether they exist now or not. The question of who will pay for the cleanup cost at the well is not yet resolved. The Council's Utility Committee will be following this matter and making recommendations to the Council.

The Metropolitan Park District (MPD) presented an opportunity to learn about the county's financial issues and the need for a more permanent solution to funding parks. We also saw the people in action through the initiative process. A Council article in the Voice was followed by a local park initiative by Ron Gregory, a Kala Point local parks initiative and finally the MPD Steering Committee recommendation to the County that they no longer pursue the Metro Park Option. Power to the people!

However, while the initiative process for local park districts is high drama, it does nothing to address the county's financial issues. At the Council's October 3 meeting, Philip Morley, the County Administrator, gave a presentation of the current fiscal issues being faced by the county and the impact upon various departments, including parks. The problems stem from Initiative 747, passed in 2001. Initiative 747 limited the growth of property tax revenue to 1 percent per year, plus the tax on any new construction. Property tax revenue makes up a large portion of the county's general fund revenue and cannot keep up with the cost of living increases during periods of low growth, (that has been the last five years and counting). Thus the county has been forced into curtailing levels of services. This law cannot work over the long haul and will eventually create failures in all counties of the state. However, those counties (for example King, Pierce and Snohomish) which experience large amounts of new construction will be the last to feel the impact. They are also the areas that have the most votes and will be the least inclined to change the law.

While the county has done a good job of managing costs, it also must promote new growth. This represents an area where our community can help. Our residents have knowledge and professional experience that can be tapped for ideas. Consider the effect a consortium of hotels, golf courses, marinas and casinos, like Myrtle Beach on the east coast, would have on our economy. Another example is the old Fred Hill quarry, now inactive, that would make a great site for a large greenhouse for a produce-growing business.

I don't agree with the MPD approach, nor do I think the local park district would do anything for our community or help with the county's financial issues. I think we, as a community, can offer help to the county. Can the county find a way to engage our community? Will you step up and help the county? The PLVC can help, but it requires you to show interest and push the Council in that direction.

LMC September Board Meeting Highlights

The monthly business meeting of the Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) Board of Trustees was held Thursday, September 19 at the Bay View Room of the Beach Club. The following are highlights of that meeting:

Ron Racki was approved as chair of the Operations Committee (OC) to succeed former acting chair Jim Goode. B.J. Luce was approved as a new member of the OC.

Carol Shamhart was approved as chair of the Covenants and Regulations Committee (CRC) following the resignation of Bill Wilson. Alternate member Mike Larkin was approved as a regular member of the CRC.

Noble Nilsen has retired from the Architectural Control Committee (ACC). Eve McDougall was approved as a new member of the ACC. Alternate member Gary Martin was approved as a regular member of the ACC. The ACC has changed the time of their meetings to 1:00 p.m. The dates will remain the same, the second and fourth Monday of each month.

The Beach Club spa filter canister split and was not repairable. It was replaced at an approximate cost of $700.

Repairs have been completed by LMC staff to the Beach Club rain gutter downspout collectors. The 8x10 deck support posts were replaced due to dry rot damage.

The Beach Club electrical repairs have been completed at $7,404.26 under the $180,000 budget. The Port Ludlow Drainage District (PLDD) has paid $11,500 to the LMC toward the cost of the Beach Club drainage repairs. That money has been deposited into the reserve account.

Part-time maintenance/hostess employee Diane Monti is moving away. She has been a great asset to the LMC staff and will be missed. The need to fill that vacancy is currently being assessed.

The double ovens in the Beach Club kitchen are no longer functioning and are not repairable. Only the one remaining oven will be available pending the fund-raising drive to upgrade the kitchen.

President's Perspectives

by Rose Hablutzel/Jackson, LMC President

The bright colors of summer fade as reds, yellows and browns remind us to prepare for the festivities to come.

The kitchen fund raiser is well on its way as members visit with their neighbors to ask for financial support for their cause. The Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) is encouraged by members' enthusiasm and their concept of a "warming" kitchen, meant mainly to warm prepared foods. Those leading the membership-driven project asked the Beach Club members what options would facilitate the best use of the space. The resulting plan is devised to accommodate the needs of members and organizations that use the meeting rooms and kitchen for their purposes. This plan is economically suited to this community's activities without duplicating services already present. Improvements in the Beach Club facilities will produce added benefits to this community as others look at the amenities available when deciding to live here. All donations are appreciated and will be used wisely.

Another LMC future consideration is the handicapped accessibility to the pools and workout rooms. There is much to be considered and researched before this idea can be started. There is keen interest in this community to have handicapped accessibility in place. In our retirement community, I know it will draw much interest and comment. The trustees continue to meet new challenges with great determination. I will repeat again how wonderful it is to see the sense of community present itself when the trustees, Manager Brian Belmont and the LMC committees work together to resolve another challenge.

Update from the Manager

by Brian Belmont, General Manager

There is so much happening at the Beach Club that unless looked at closely, the average member would be unaware.

We have an active and committed group of volunteers raising funds to upgrade the Beach Club kitchen. The group has set a goal of $69,000 that would provide a warming kitchen with new appliances, counters and cabinets. Improved lighting and better utilization of the floor space is also part of the plan. What is not part of the plan is remodeling or renovating the entire Bay View room as the project only impacts the actual kitchen, food preparation and serving areas within the Bay View room.

If you have specific questions about this project, contact me at the Beach Club. If I can't answer your question, I will put you in touch with someone who can. Donations can be sent to the North Bay Beach Club Kitchen Project at PO Box 65477, Port Ludlow.

Work is underway developing the 2014 Operating and Reserve Budgets. The Ludlow Maintenance Commission (LMC) Board of Trustees will review the draft budgets in November for ratification by the LMC membership in December. An email will be sent to the membership advising them of the November date when the Board will review the budget draft and a notice will be posted on the Beach Club bulletin board and website.

New door hardware is being installed on the three double doors and one single door in the Bay View room. The hardware includes hinges, door closers, door handles and crash bars. For those unfamiliar with door hardware lingo, crash bars are horizontal push bars used on the inside of doors to open them when leaving the building.

In addition door handles have also been replaced on the two exterior doors of the Bridge Deck building. The new hardware is a lever-type door handle which meets current Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requirements, whereas the old hardware did not. If you have questions or comments about this article, or the work that is ongoing at the Beach Club, I can be reached at 437-9201 or beachclub@olympus.net.

Fifth Annual Christmas Luncheon and Musical Program

North Bay residents will again surely enjoy the festive Holiday Luncheon and Musical Program to be held at the Beach Club starting at 11:30 a.m. on Monday, December 9.

The food has always been so delicious and the Christmas music really gets everyone in the holiday spirit! So, as voted in for the fifth year, the Belmont Restaurant will cater the luncheon, Kathie Sharpe will play Christmas music at the piano during appetizers, and later the Port Ludlow Singers Choir will perform the Christmas Program.

The Belmont Restaurant will offer a menu of three appetizers, choice of wild salmon or Chicken Cordon Blue, salad, vegetable, rice, and white chocolate raspberry cheesecake, all for $21 per person. BYOB if you wish; coffee and tea are available.

A collection bowl will be placed at the entrance table for our local food bank should you care to spread holiday cheer to those less fortunate by making a generous donation. Checks made out to the "Tri-Area Food Bank" are tax deductible.

Choose your entrée, select your table and sign up with friends at the Beach Club (checks only please). Sign-up starts Monday, November 11 and closes at 5:00 p.m., Friday, December 6 or at 72 attendees, whichever comes first. ☼

North Bay Home Owner Potlucks

As we approach the holiday season, there will be no potlucks in November or December. We will start again in the New Year with our popular Chili Cook-Off in January, so start considering your exciting recipes.

Happy Holidays!

Monthly Board Meeting
Friday, November 1, 9:30 a.m.

All SBCA members are welcome.

SBCA Meeting Highlights

by Tom Stone, Secretary SBCA

The September South Bay Community Association (SBCA) Board of Directors meeting was held on Friday, October 4 at 9:30 a.m. at the Bay Club. Directors attending were President Ed Knodle, Tink Green, Tom Stone, Jerry Conover and Steve Shanklin. Minutes of the meeting are posted on the SBCA website, www.plsbca.org. Our meetings are open to all SBCA members. Member attendance and participation are appreciated.

The agenda was approved as amended and the September 6, 2013 minutes were approved.

Operations Report: Ed Knodle made the following report from General Manager Jeremy Bubnick:

The Landscaping Committee's current project should be wrapped up within the next couple of weeks. Bids are still being received for the dry rot repair. The new Bay Club calendar has been launched and can be viewed on the SBCA website. He believes it will be a great improvement over the old system and asks for patience as they work out the bugs. The new landscaping contractor, McClain Landscaping, will begin work next week. The failing stairs to the gazebo have been replaced.

The new SBCA activity/event planning group is being formed and will have a preliminary meeting in early October. The goal of the group will be to continue the events that Free Spirits used to organize, and explore organizing new activities for our members.

A bid for tennis court repairs and resurfacing has been received and will be presented to the board. This work should be scheduled for late spring 2014.

As of October 1, the club's operating hours shifted to the winter schedule, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The club is closed on Sundays. Beginning Monday, October 14, the club will test the demand for extended hours in the evening by having the club remain open until 10 p.m. for four consecutive Mondays ending November 4. During these extended hours, the pool and exercise rooms will be open for use. Members will host Game Night activities from 5:00 to 10:00 p.m. There will be games such as pinochle, mah-jong, cribbage and more set up in the card room and members may bring a game to share. Coffee and cookies will be available and the Great Room will be set up for viewing Monday Night Football.

Financial Report: Jerry Conover presented the financial report prepared by the treasurer, Kay Cathcart, for the month ending September. Total operational accounts totaled $63,996.65. Total reserve accounts including money market accounts were $302,464.08. Total current assets were $359,862.11. Total liabilities and equity were $390,434.13. A balance sheet is attached to the minutes on the website.

Secretary's Report: Tom Stone read the list of correspondence for the month. He listed three Architectural Review Committee (ARC) appeals filed by Timberton residents and a law group. Correspondence is held at the Bay Club in a notebook that is open to the members.

Architectural Review Committee (ARC): Steve Shanklin reported they had one routine meeting where they approved two tree removals on private property permits. The sub-committee to update the design standards will reconvene.

The Board scheduled the Timberton appeal on Thursday, October 17. Each side will be given 45 minutes to state their case, followed by a board decision.

Finance Committee: Jerry Conover reported the committee met on September 17 as a workshop

where committee members developed an Assessment, Receivables and Special Assessments Procedures and Policy guideline. This paper was submitted to the board for review and member input. It will be available on the SBCA website.

Long Range Planning Committee (LRPC): Sherry Robinson reported that, at the monthly meeting, present members indicated willingness to remain on the committee this next year to continue the work they have begun. By examining the membership survey, information gathered from committee discussion, the SWOT analysis, and comments shared by others in the community, the committee has identified four significant gaps between the current state of the club and the desired state suggested by the Vision and Mission statements. The gaps were in the areas of communication, participation, promotion and maintenance. The committee examined these areas and without determining priorities, developed a framework for writing goals for each of the areas. The next meetings will be devoted to developing strategies and action plans for accomplishing each goal.

Port Ludlow Village Council (PLVC) Report: Ed Knodle attended the PLVC meeting and reported to the other directors and attending members. See the PLVC section of this issue for details of the meeting. There were no Facilities Committee or HR reports.

Other Business

Board Goals: Discussions were centered on establishing effective communications as a very important goal for this year's board. We may have to look at some expansions, especially in the exercise area. The LRPC will be coming up with more defined recommended goals after their next meeting.

Audit Contract: A motion was approved to retain Fullaway, Lamphear and Sauve as the CPA firm to perform a financial audit of the SBCA year ending 6-30-2013 at an estimated cost of $4,500.

General Manager's VISA Card Limit: After discussions to increase the credit limit on the GM's VISA card from $2,000 to $3,000, it was decided to leave the limit as it is.

Monthly Social Hours: Based on member inputs and signup sheets, the board decided to move the monthly social hour to 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. starting in November.

Bay Club Security: Discussion was based on a member's recommendation to improve security for the late night staff after a non-member social. Board decided to defer further discussion until the general manager's return. The board would like to get his and county Sheriff's input.

Tennis Ball Court Use Rules: Steve Shanklin will get members' inputs and write draft rules including any changes to Tennis/Pickle Ball Charter and SBCA Rules and Policy documents.

Additional Signer for Kitsap Bank and Columbia Bank: A motion was approved that authorizes Jerry Conover, SBCA Vice President, as a signer on SBCA accounts at Kitsap Bank and Columbia Bank.

Member Assessment Receivable Procedures and Policy Guidelines: Action on the procedures and policy guidelines presented earlier during the Finance Committee report was deferred until member comments and more detailed board review could be conducted.

Member Comments: A member stated she supports a facility expansion of the exercise area and questioned past statements that a full and expensive sprinkler system would be required. She requested that the board investigate. Board comments were to refer this question to the Facility Committee. A member supported increased security at the Bay Club for the late receptionist based on her personal experience working late in an empty church. Several members and board members commented on the ARC appeal hearing and questioned if our lawyer had provided definitive guidance.

The next regular SBCA Board meeting is Friday, November 1 at 9:30 a.m.

South Bay Free Spirits Holidazzle!

The South Bay Community Association (SBCA) and Free Spirits are excitedly preparing for their annual holiday event, "Holidazzle." The date is Saturday, December 7 at 6:00 p.m. for cocktails and appetizers, and 7:00 p.m. for dinner. You can look forward to a delicious dinner of fork-tender, slow-cooked prime rib with all the trimmings of roasted potatoes, steamed vegetables, fresh crisp salad and sweet rolls. As you enjoy your coffee and dessert, you will be entertained with special holiday music by Linda Dowdell and the Port Townsend High School chorus.

SBCA members may begin signing up Thursday, November 7; non-members may begin signing up on Monday, November 25. (If you, as an SBCA member, have a guest staying at your home the weekend of the event, you are welcome to sign them up with you). The last day to sign up will be Monday, December 2. If you wish to reserve a table, please have the names and payment for all at the table when you sign up. The cost is $30; the cost for SBCA members is $25.

Without volunteers, these events would not exist. There are a variety of choices for getting involved, from setup to cleanup. It is a delightful way to celebrate the holidays with your friends and neighbors. Contact Sherry Robinson at 437-7948 or sarrobison@msn.com if you would be willing to help.

Sign up early and guarantee your place at this most festive occasion. 🍷

South Bay Members' Social

Our monthly social will happen on Friday, November 8, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

If you have new neighbors in your village, invite them to join you, so they may meet their fellow South Bay members. Please remember to bring an appetizer to enjoy with provided beverages. See you there. 🍷

What's Going On with the Woodworkers' Club

by Myron Vogt, Guest Writer

The Bay Club Woodworkers seldom submit articles to the Voice. I guess that is in the nature of woodworkers. However, we want to let Bay Club members know what we have available and what we have been doing.

Most members use the shop for personal projects but it also lets us take on projects that help the Bay Club and the community. It is a place where members can get together and build things that would not be possible without having this facility. So what have we done lately?

At the request of the Performing Arts Group, woodworkers built the ramps that allow the fire department to take the piano on and off the stage at the Bay Club.

At the request of the Bay Club Board, woodworkers built new cabinets so beverages and other items can be secured at the Bay Club.

At the request of the Bay Club Board, woodworkers built new shelves in the storeroom.

At the request of the Bay Club Board, woodworkers built new shelves in the electrical room.

At the request of the Bay Club Landscaping Committee, woodworkers built a new trellis for the front of the storage building.

At the request of the Jefferson County Library, woodworkers built shelves to complement the Bookmobile program.

The woodworkers built a reading loft for Jefferson County Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Program.

The Bay Club and community employ the woodworkers' skills and the shop to fill a number of needs. The availability of the shop also gives members an opportunity to work together on useful projects.

The Bay Club shop has about every tool needed to build most do-it-yourself projects. If you want to tackle something or use some tool that you are not comfortable or familiar with, we will help you learn.

Woodworkers ask that members who want to use the power tools join the Woodworkers Club. Yearly dues are $10. We just want to ensure that we can go over the equipment with a new member and make sure he or she is comfortable using the power tools. The money is used to keep the shop supplied with consumables, small tools and to buy any larger items the members want. Contact Myron Vogt for membership information, questions or to join. The number is 437-4055.

Personnel Update

We are excited to welcome two new additions to our management team here at PLA. James Woods has accepted the position as our new Controller, and Carrie Sypowicz joins us as our new Human Resources Manager.

James brings over 16 years of accounting experience in Raleigh, NC and a degree from Hawaii Pacific University. He also served with the US Navy and was stationed in Charleston SC, San Diego CA, Bremerton WA, Groton CN, Pearl Harbor HI, and King's Bay GA during his service. Today, James lives in Sequim with his wife, dog and their 11 chickens. They also have two grown sons that still live in North Carolina. James and his wife recently moved to Sequim to be closer to his parents and to spend more time mountain biking, whitewater kayaking, hiking, and camping.

Carrie also moved to the northwest with her family somewhat recently, and brings with her over 15 years in human resources and business ownership experience along with a recent degree from Indiana State University. Carrie is originally from a small town in Southern Indiana, has lived in Henderson, Nevada for the past 13 years, and now resides in Gig Harbor near where her husband grew up. Carrie and her husband have three sons, ages 10, 19, and 24 who keep her on her toes each day. Carrie serves as a board member on the West Sound Human Resource Management Association and holds a certification as a Professional in Human Resources.

Both Carrie and James have already proven themselves to be invaluable assets to our company, and we look forward to working with them for many years to come.

Resort Announcements

This month, the "Golf Channel Amateur Tour" will conclude its Seattle fall tournament schedule with The Port Ludlow Open here at the Port Ludlow Golf Club. The tour will position the Port Ludlow Golf Club among the finest courses in the United States and will provide us with exposure on the Golf Channel itself. The tour offers amateur players and spectators an authentic PGA Tour experience right here in Port Ludlow. Registration is closed, however we hope you will join us as spectators for this event on November 9 at the Golf Club. For questions, please call the Pro Shop at 360-437-0272.

Also at the Golf Club, we are pleased to announce that last month's Golf-A-Thon with the Port Ludlow Guild, once again raised over $7,000 for Seattle Children's Hospital. On October, 3, Vito DeSantis, Darren Posey, and Adam Barrows played 400 holes, with 44 birdies, 264 pars and a total of 1658 strokes in a day long golf marathon that lasted from before sunrise until after sundown. We are incredibly proud of each of these men as well as each of the many individuals who donated their time and money to this wonderful cause.

Community Information

With the holiday season upon us, we would like to announce that beginning November 1, and ending December 15, The Resort will host a holiday food drive to support our local food banks and the overwhelming number of people in our area struggling to put food on the table. While hunger is a concern all year long, we hope you will join us to ensure that everyone's holiday season is merry and bright. To help just bring any non-perishable items to the Golf Club, Marina, Inn, or John L Scott Port Ludlow office, and we will take care of the rest.

I look forward to hearing your thoughts on Port Ludlow. My direct line is 360-437-8342, and my e-mail address is dsmeland@portludlowassociates.com.

The Art of Fishing, Not Catching

by Rick Refbord, Guest Writer

Why do I fish? What is it that drives me to leave my warm bed before dawn, gather my gear, load up the boat and go fishing? After fishing for over five decades I think I have an answer, of sorts.

I usually know in advance whom I will be going with but never do I know whom I will meet throughout the day. Fishermen, as a rule, are a friendly group. We are always ready to share a tip, a story or even the occasional "fish story" about the one that got away. Whether fishing from shore, casting into the surf or out trolling in a boat, there is always a smile and friendly exchange of conditions and what has been caught so far.

Through careful planning, studying the tide charts and weather conditions, checking at the local bait store as to where the hot spots are, and sometimes just flipping a coin, the decision is made. I never know, however, what I will see during my fishing trip. Before moving to Port Ludlow, I found myself standing waist deep in the surf at Point No Point. Freighters cruising in and out of the sound, Mt. Baker to one side and Mt. Rainier on the other, the sky a deep blue. I saw the Cohos jumping just out of reach of our casts, seals surfacing and diving looking for their evening meal, and a pod of Orcas in the distance. Nothing we tried worked as far as the catching, but it was at that point I realized it was here in Washington I wanted to live.

Just last weekend, we saw a Humpback whale dive in the waters between Point No Point and the Eglon boat ramp, Orca pods in the distance following the salmon schools down the Sound, and groups of dolphins "herding" the bait fish.

I have had the opportunity to see a friend catch his first salmon ever and the sheer joy he displayed. I have had the great fortune of living across the street from my fishing "buddy," but he has been much more than that to me. I have learned to appreciate the cathartic, meditative state I achieve the second I grip a pole. Most of all I have learned to appreciate the opportunity to venture forth with the chance of catching "the big one," always a possibility, with my friends as company and the knowledge that just for the day we are sharing the same dream.

Fishing is much like life: it's not the destination that is the most important part, but rather the journey that makes it all worthwhile.

Free Lung Cancer Screening for High Risk Patients

Lung cancer screening offers early detection and saves lives. As a result, InHealth Imaging, 20700 NE Bond Rd., Poulsbo, will offer a free lung cancer screening to high risk individuals detailed below. The free lung cancer screening program will be available October 1, 2013 and run through December 31, 2014.

According to the American Lung Association, lung cancer is the leading cause of cancer death for both men and women in the United States. The current five-year survival rate for lung cancer patients is only 15 percent. Recent research from the National Cancer Institute's National Lung Cancer Screening Trial (NLST) found that the number of lung cancer deaths could be reduced by 20 percent if detected early. Low-dose computed tomography (CT) and magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) are both effective means of detecting lung cancer.

The criteria for people who should be screened for lung cancer include current or former smokers (aged 55 to 79 years), with a smoking history of at least 30 pack-years (which translates to a pack a day for 30 years or the equivalent i.e., two packs a day for 15 years) and with no history of lung cancer. The National Comprehensive Cancer Network Lung Cancer Screening guidelines includes individuals who have smoked a pack a day for 20 years and who have additional risk factors, such as exposure to asbestos, radon and other reactive chemicals, in the high risk group. Shipyard workers are especially at risk.

InHealth Imaging has been conducting lung cancer screenings for more than ten years and has extensive expertise in this area. The InHealth Imaging Team can provide peace of mind or, more importantly, an early diagnosis through a lung cancer screening. Please call InHealth Imaging at 598-3141 to see if you qualify for the free lung cancer screening and to schedule an appointment.

Harrison Appoints New Board Members

In July, the Harrison Medical Center Board of Directors welcomed Ronald Reimer, MD, and Joe Roszak, CEO of Kitsap Mental Health Services. Reimer, a medical oncologist, formerly served as chairman of Harrison's Department of Medicine and on the boards for KPS, Hospice of Kitsap County, and Kitsap County Medical Society. Roszak has been a leader of nonprofit organizations in three states for the past two and a half decades.

"With the vision of expanding cancer care and with the myriad of changes following the implementation of our local mental health tax and the Affordable Care Act, we are excited about these additions to our board," said James Civilla, Harrison's Board chair.

Other new board members include Anita McIntyre, MD, Roy Brooks and Mike Hoffman. Dr. McIntyre is a private practice physician with Obstetrics and Gynecology Associates in Silverdale. She also serves as vice president of the Kitsap County Medical Society and volunteers on medical team mission trips with Children of the Nations. Roy Brooks, chairman of the Franciscan Board, is an Olympic College graduate and former chairman and CEO of Mountain Bank Holding Company and Westmark Electronics. Mike Hoffman, also from the Franciscan Board, brings with him 27 years of management experience in the pharmaceutical industry. Likewise, two members of Harrison's Board will serve on the Franciscan Board. They are Board chair James Civilla and secretary/treasurer James Smalley.

Enjoy Dinner and a Murder in Port Townsend

Mystery fans, it's murder time again. The curtain goes up on the annual Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) dinner show on Friday and Saturday, December 6 and 7. This year's event, at the Jefferson County Fairgrounds in Port Townsend, will be an evening of fine food and drink with the opportunity to solve a mystery – laced with murder, laughter and intrigue.

This is the 7th and final collaboration for RSVP Program Manager Bob Logue and Ramon Dailey, the show's writer/director and local playwright and filmmaker. The idea of dinner and a murder was conceived and launched by the two in the fall of 2006 with Death in Them Thar Hills. It has been a collaboration and friendship that has grown over seven years. At the end of this year, Bob Logue will retire his position as Program Manager of RSVP and Dailey will move on to other community projects.

The cast, crew, volunteers and audiences of Dinner and a Murder have thoroughly enjoyed the mysteries that had the flavor of the Speakeasy, Star Trek, Agatha Christie and film noir. In homage to one of the most beloved shows, this year's event is called The Speakeasier. The event has grown each year, from 70 dinner guests in one evening to easily filling the house with 150 guests in each of the two performances.

Mark your calendar, dress up in costume or day clothes and join us at the Oscar Erickson Building, Jefferson County Fairgrounds, Port Townsend. Ticket price is $50. We encourage larger parties to reserve tables together. Each table seats eight and tickets are available beginning in October online at www.brownpapertickets.com or call the RSVP office at 385-2571, ext. 6324. Tickets can also be ordered by mail.

RSVP has been an integral part of Jefferson County since the early 1970's. The impact of its service is felt in many nonprofit organizations in the county. Over the years, RSVP has placed thousands of volunteers in many non-profit volunteer stations – libraries, museums, food banks, schools, veterans groups and other local non-profit agencies.

Community Engagement in Oil Spill Preparedness and Response

What would happen if there was a major oil spill off the shores of Jefferson County? How would it impact our shores? What would happen to wildlife and our local economy? Would you be involved in the cleanup? Who would be in charge and what would happen behind the scenes?

These questions and others will be addressed at a free upcoming workshop on Community Engagement in Oil Spill Response and Readiness on Saturday, November 9 in Port Townsend. The event is sponsored by the Jefferson Resources Committee of the Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife, the Washington Department of Natural Resources, the City of Port Townsend and the Northwest Maritime Center.

Local, state and federal agency staff that are a part of "Incident Command" during oil spills will describe how they make decisions and what actions are needed to protect valuable natural and community assets. Learn from the U.S. Coast Guard about decisions they have to make about cleanup approaches when there is an oil spill. Meet representatives from the Department of Ecology, Department of Fish and Wildlife, Tribes and Local Emergency Management who are actively involved in clean up and response efforts and learn about their roles in the event of a major oil spill. Learn about the challenges oil spill responders would face in dealing with a spill in Jefferson County and how you can help before, during and after a spill.

In order to volunteer for a spill response effort, volunteers need to be trained ahead of time. At the workshop, you will also learn about upcoming volunteer training opportunities, including workshops on recovering and caring for oiled wildlife, and on hazardous materials training necessary to be ready to help out on the beach. Please join us on Saturday, November 9, 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Northwest Maritime Center, 431 Water St., Port Townsend.

This event is free, but registration is required. R.S.V.P. to Michelle Lim, Northwest Straits Foundation, at lim@nwstraits.org. Lunch is not provided; please bring your own lunch.

Center Rehabilitates Raptors

It started in a Port Townsend garage. It has now become the non-profit Discovery Bay Raptor Rehabilitation and Education Center. The center was responsible for the rehabilitation of two injured juvenile bald eagles that were recently released into the wild near Dungeness. It also aids in the recovery of other smaller injured birds.

The center originated in the vision of Cindy Daily who spent more than 30 years rescuing birds before starting the sanctuary at her private residence. Her previous experience includes work with the Northwest Raptor and Wildlife Center in Sequim and the West Sound Wildlife Center on Bainbridge Island. With the help of a $3,500 grant and donations, she planned hospital and feeding facilities and 35-foot long, moveable flying cages for the birds. The daily operations are run by volunteers and funded by contributions. It is not open to the public.

When the birds are moved, whether during rescue or transport for release, their heads are covered to reduce stress. Daily says that eagles do not fear what they cannot see.

Typically, birds arrive at the center after being spotted in distress by concerned residents. They also may be picked up through a call to the center. Anyone spotting a bird that needs aid may call 379-0802. A volunteer will respond to the call and provide further instructions. To report distressed birds in the Sequim area, call 681-2283.

Did you Know?

There was a controversy about which bird should be the national bird. Some people wanted the eagle to be the symbol of the United States because of its majestic wings and its ability to soar into the sky. Benjamin Franklin objected. He believed the eagle was a bird with nasty habits, and his preference for the national bird was the turkey. The turkey, while lacking in beauty, was a useful bird that provided sustenance and comfort. Which bird would you choose had you been there after the Revolutionary War?
